Reports today indicate that more than 800 lives were lost in the tornado that yesterday afternoon swept from Southeastern Illinois and dipped into Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee. It was one of the most destructive windstorms in the history of this country. It is greatly feared the death list may be increased as the ruins are examined. The injured are estimated at between 2500 and 3000.

The greatest loss of life occurred in Southern Illinois, where more than 600 were reported killed as the tornado tore north-eastward through Murphysboro, West Frankfort, De Soto and other towns. At De Soto and at Murphysboro school houses filled with children were razed.

The main path of the tornado was less than 200 miles in length, but divisions of the storm hopped off in several directions. Loss of life was reported in and near 27 towns, most of them in Southern Illinois, but it was believed that death and destruction visited many others in the storm area from which reports were still to be received.

The tornado apparently came out of the Ozark hills, due to low barometric pressure in Arkansas, and first struck at Annapolis, Mo.

152 BODIES TAKEN FROM RUINS OF MURPHYSBORO

By S. R. STANARD.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
MURPHYSBORO, Ill., March 19.—One hundred and fifty-two bodies had been recovered this morning from the wreckage caused by the tornado which struck Murphysboro at 2:30 p. m., yesterday.

From 100 to 150 more are believed to have been killed, and 250 persons lie seriously injured in provisional hospitals.

The storm and the night of fires which followed have rendered 8000, about two-thirds of the city's population, homeless. The force of the tornado wrecked the city's power plant, leaving the city without water or light. Approximately 100 blocks of the city were destroyed by the storm and 70 more, including the best residential section, were swept by flames.

110 PERSONS KILLED, 300 HURT AT WEST FRANKFORT

Tornado Blots Out District of Small Homes, Mostly Occupied by Miners and Their Families.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., March 19.—The tornado which swept down upon this town almost without warning yesterday afternoon from a sky that a few minutes before was bright and sunny, left in its wake 110 persons dead, more than 300 injured and a property damage estimated at $1,300,000.

The terrific blow lasted only a few minutes and was followed by hail and a deluge of rain, following which there came a dead calm of the elements. Indeed, the storm came, wrought its destruction and passed almost before the people in the business section of the town four blocks away realized that a catastrophe had befallen the city.

Most of Men at Work.
The storm centered its intensity across the northern part of the city and destroyed almost everything in its path, which was about a half mile wide and four and one-half miles long through the city. This section was newly built and had about 500 small homes, mostly occupied by coal miners. Nearly all the men residents of the district were at work below ground in the new Orient mines. In the path of the storm and escaped injury.

Not more than 10 buildings were left standing in the devastated area, and hundreds of occupants of homes and other buildings that were demolished had what appeared to be miraculous escapes from death. One such instance was the collapse of a school building, in which scores of pupils were at their desks, and yet but one child

Relief for Tornado Sufferers

The tornado which swept and devastated a large area in Southern Illinois, including the cities of Murphysboro, West Frankfort, De Soto, and other smaller towns, was one of the most destructive of record, in loss of life, if not of property. It is estimated that the deaths may reach 1000, and the homeless 5000. The news columns will give all the facts that have been gathered so far.

There is need of immediate relief. The dead must be buried and the survivors cared for, the homeless provided with shelter, and all the stricken supplied with the necessities of life. Relief must be organized and sent to the devastated sections at once.

The field of destruction lies at the door of St. Louis. This city is the nearest metropolitan city where the forces of relief can be most quickly organized and utilized, and relief funds raised and applied in the shortest time.

The Post-Dispatch urges the immediate organization of a Citizens' Relief Committee by the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations to co-operate with the Red Cross and other available relief organizations. Not an hour should be lost in organizing and financing relief.

The Post-Dispatch will contribute $5000 to the relief fund. We will receive and acknowledge all contributions sent to this office, and will turn them over to the designated relief organization. We may be drawn on for the full amount of our contribution by the authorized relief organization.

St. Louis should respond promptly and generously to the needs of these, our stricken neighbors. We appeal to citizens and organizations to do their utmost and do it quickly.

18-STORY OFFICE BUILDING FOR FOURTH AND LOCUST

The southeast corner of Fourth and Locust streets, a lot 60 by 60 feet, has been sold by the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. to W. H. Landreth of Texas, the site to be used for an 18-story office building; it was announced today.

The negotiations for the transfer were handled by W. R. Cady, real estate officer of this Mississippi Valley Co. It is understood that plans have been made for an 18-story building, financed by investment bankers, and that construction will begin within a few weeks.

COOLIDGE TELLS RED CROSS TO AID STORM VICTIMS

WASHINGTON, March 19.—President Coolidge today personally gave instructions to the Red Cross to use every facility at its command to give succor to the peoples of the storm-stricken area of the Middle West. In a letter to John Barton Payne, chairman, the President said:

"Information has reached me of the disaster that has overtaken the portion of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. It is said that many people are homeless and many are injured. I suggest that you put in operation all the facilities of the Red Cross to assist in the required relief."

ST. LOUIS ASKED FOR $100,000 TO AID SUFFERERS

Red Cross Chapter Makes Request for Funds for Relief of Area Hit by Tornado.

An appeal for $100,000 to be raised in St. Louis for relief work in the tornado area, was issued today by the Disaster Relief Committee of the St. Louis Red Cross chapter, following a meeting of officials at the Mercantile Trust Co.

Five thousand circular letters are being mailed this afternoon to the members of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, asking for donations to this Red Cross fund. Another meeting will be held tomorrow morning at which a Citizens' Relief Committee is to be organized to solicit funds.

Full Responsibility.
"The St. Louis Chapter of the Red Cross has assumed full responsibility for relief work in the areas devastated by the tornado," says the appeal in part. "It has been decided that our immediate needs will amount to $100,000. If this sum is not sufficient another appeal will be made."

Red Cross field workers, now busy at the various centers of distress, have been authorized to requisition supplies from the local chapter. Word to this effect was sent to the National Red Cross headquarters at Washington today. By this token, all Red Cross work

ROBBER SHOTS DEAF STOREKEEPER SLOW IN OBEYING

Fires Four Bullets Into Body of Fred Heurman, South Jefferson Avenue Merchant.

VICTIM ALONE IN STORE AT TIME

Youth Had Ordered Heurman to Hold Up His Hands—Latter's Condition Critical.

Fred W. Heurman, 62 years old, was shot four times and critically wounded by a robber who entered his dry goods store, 3591 South Jefferson avenue, at 8:30 a. m. today and made demands which the old man, who was deaf, apparently could not understand or heed.

He was found lying behind a counter with three bullet wounds in the abdomen and one through his right hand, by his daughter-in-law Mrs. Fred W. Heurman Jr. She had heard the shots and hurried down from the family's living quarters above the store.

Heurman remained conscious long enough to tell what had happened and described his assailant. He said that the robber, a young fellow about 22 years old, came into the shop and asked to look at socks. Heurman turned and pulled out a box from the shelves. When he faced his customer he was looking into the muzzle of a revolver.

Youth Opens Fire.

The robber ordered him to hold up his hands. Either he did not hear or did not comply quickly enough. Without a hostile move on Heurman's part the hold-up man opened fire. His first bullet passed through the box of socks and struck Heurman in the hand. The next three took effect in the abdomen. Then the robber fled from the store without taking anything.

Critically wounded, Heurman managed to walk back to his office and telephone the Lutheran Hospital, saying, "Send a doctor to 3591 South Jefferson, quick." He tottered a few steps behind the counter and collapsed.

Steam Roller Drowns Noise.
The fact that a steam roller was at work on the street outside accounts for the fact that the shots attracted no one from the street. The noise even confused Mrs. Heurman and she hesitated a few minutes before going down to investigate the shots.

At the Lutheran Hospital an immediate operation was found to be necessary. Heurman is so weak that a blood transfusion is planned for this afternoon. Surgeons hold little hope for his recovery. He had been in business at the same place 22 years.

CURZON'S CONDITION GRAVE

Eminent Physicians Attending Marquis Think He Is Dying.

LONDON, March 19.—A bulletin issued by the physicians attending Lord Curzon at 9 o'clock this morning said his condition was unchanged.

Marquis Curzon lost ground today, says the bulletin issued this morning. The gravity of his condition is increasing steadily. It was announced.

(Copyright, 1925.)
The Marquis of Curzon is dying. This is the opinion of eminent physicians who are attending him. Lord Chancellor Cave admitted in the House of Lords that the physicians in a grave view of his condition, an operation performed recently, the correspondent understands, was for the removal of growths in the bladder. It was not successful, and it is doubted whether anything more can be done.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Marquis of Curzon, who has been in the city since Jan. 13, on the beach at Cape Cod was refitted today and is being towed into New Bedford, Mass., for inspection.

marked the storm and fire. Throughout the night relief workers and ambulances endeavored to make their way through the streets, strewn with wreckage, fallen telegraph poles and wires and burning embers. The only light afforded was that of the burning area.

A company of militia from Carbondale arrived early and began the work of relief. Shortly afterward a train of doctors, nurses and supplies from St. Louis arrived. By midnight the restaurants and hotels which had escaped damage were out of supplies.

By morning other relief trains had arrived and the distribution of food and supplies was begun. This morning a special train from Chicago, carrying 150 doctors and 100 nurses and a quantity of supplies, arrived. Two carloads of food also were received by the Red Cross, which opened canteens for dispensing food.

In the early evening, firemen and fire-fighting apparatus arrived from Duquoin and Carbondale, but the work of the fire-fighters was confined to dynamiting structures to prevent the further spread of the flames. In this work a cargo of dynamite, rushed here from Williamson County, was employed. Col. Sam N. Hunter, Illinois National Guard, together with Harry M. Baker of Washington, D. C., national director of disaster relief of the American Red Cross, and Dr. T. H. Leonard of Springfield, representing the State Health Department, are in charge of the relief forces.

Today, Col. Hunter enrolled 200 citizens of Murphysboro and 200 volunteers from Carbondale into organized squads of searchers.

Of the dead, 80 bodies lie in the Roberts' undertaking establishment. The establishment of the city's other undertaker was destroyed. Other bodies were placed in the courthouse and in the Presbyterian Church.

Estimates of the fire loss vary, but it is believed to have been in excess of $1,000,000.

Col. Hunter has made Murphysboro the militia headquarters for the storm area. A company from Cairo is stationed at West Frankfort, Belleville, at De Soto. A committee from the State Legislature arrived today to obtain first-hand appraisal of the damage, with a view of recommending State relief.

Among the seriously injured was Cooper Stout, former United States Marshal of the Eastern District of Illinois.

Rail Dispatcher Estimates Murphysboro Dead at 500 to 1200.

CAIRO, Ill., March 19.—A message relayed through here today from Chief Dispatcher Wallace of the Mobile & Ohio at Murphysboro to Vice President Irving at 11:15 a. m., estimated the dead at from 500 to 1200 and placed the loss to the railroad there at $1,500,000, including the shops, roundhouse, five coaches and 11 engines, including six of the mountain type.

Two School Houses in Murphysboro Wrecked; Fire Follows Tornado

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., March 19.—Murphysboro today counted 100 dead in morgues, accounted for 50 others dead but not yet brought to the improvised receiving rooms and searched for an estimated 150 to 250 buried in the debris of 1000 homes and 100 downtown buildings. Injured persons were beyond count, but various hospitals, hastily improvised first aid stations, and homes reported hundreds suffering. Of that number it was feared some would die.

This afternoon a dozen or more fires still burned in the wreckage of what had been one of Southern Illinois' most prosperous smaller cities.

Sleeping up from the southwest yesterday afternoon the tornado struck first the business district and then cut through the homes of the more prosperous before leveling the district peopled by the more humble.

No Water for Fighting Fire.
The city proper covered five and one-half square miles. Today more than two square miles was littered only with charred debris. Fire started with the passing of the tornado and for hours the fire department had no water. In only two instances, however, was dynamite used, although at times the downtown section appeared doomed.

Finally an improvised pumping plant was rigged to replace the structure which the furious wind had razed and a stream of water was sent flowing through the mains down Walnut street, the city's main thoroughfare. With that meager resource the small fire department saved the standing buildings from being destroyed.

To the tiny stream which replaced the wrecked pumping plant, Murphysboro also looked for safety from an epidemic.

Major R. W. Davis of the Illinois National Guard at Carbondale, whose troops have taken charge of the situation, has closed all roads to the city. Hospitals are filled here and also in Carbondale, and the injured are estimated as 200 to 500. Two hundred and fifty injured are in hospitals.

The city at 5:30 a. m. today was burning in many places. The main business section was virtually wrecked.

An Associated Press correspondent made a tour of the city at 3 o'clock this morning and counted 85 wrecked automobiles. The streets were filled with homeless people.

Food is scarce here. While restaurants were not wrecked are trying to obtain food from Carbondale.

Schools Destroyed.
The Mobile & Ohio Railroad shops were destroyed. Approximately 35 persons were killed and upward of 200 injured when the building collapsed.

The Logan School was blown to pieces and also the Longfellow School. The township school also was damaged. Many pupils of the Logan School are reported to have lost their lives in the collapse of the Longfellow School and the same number in the destruction of the township school.

Buildings in the business district destroyed by wind or fire include the Reliance Milling Co.'s building, the Maryland Hotel, Abel Cleaning and Dyeing store, M. Neil bakery, Silvey drug store, M. Neil bakery, Roberts-Dodge garage and the Barge Miller wholesale house.

St. Louis Medical Society Ready to Respond to Calls.
The St. Louis Medical Society, through its secretary, Dr. E. C. Funch, announced today that it would respond immediately to any request for the services of its members in relieving the suffering of tornado victims. Many of its members are now at work at various scenes of disaster, it was stated.

ABOUT 30 KILLED BY STORM IN TENNESSEE

Casualties Confined to District Near Gallatin in Sumner County.

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 19.—Reports from Gallatin in Sumner County, the northern section of which was struck by a tornado yesterday afternoon, estimated that the death list might exceed 30, with about 25 injured. The tornado reached its greatest fury in Sumner County in the vicinity of Liberty Church, which was blown to pieces.

Another fatality in the family of Charles Durham was reported this morning. The baby, which was missing last night, was found this morning dead under a log.

Of those killed two families contributed 12.

FOUR DEAD, FORTY HURT BY STORM AT BUSH, ILL.

Twenty-five Houses in Row Demolished—Bridge Moved From Pillars.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
CARTERSVILLE, Ill., March 19.—With four known dead and 40 injured, Bush, a mining camp about five miles northwest of here, paid her second toll to a tornado within five years, yesterday.

The dead: Joe Muscardi, miner. Two daughters of James Barringer, age 11 and 8.

Chas. Beavers, a farmer, living west of Bush.

The storm struck Bush about 2 o'clock. One small camp with 25 houses was demolished. It was in this camp that the deaths occurred, except in the case of Beavers, who was killed at his home in the country.

There was no warning of the storm. Persons in their homes were buried under falling walls. Some were blown out into a field nearby. Several houses caught fire.

Among those most seriously injured are: C. C. Calvert, merchant of Hurst, back broken.

Mrs. Raymond Marsh, wife of miner. Ella Young, broken hip. Jim Barringer, father of dead girls.

John Carter. Marshall family, three members. Pinkston family, three members.

Mrs. Childress, both legs severed. Ladd, cuts and bruises, and child. A row of houses not far from where the 25 were demolished were partly wrecked.

Altogether 40 houses were demolished while 100 are minus roofs and porches.

An iron bridge over the Big Muddy River was moved from its pillars. Wires were torn down.

Five years ago a tornado struck Bush, wrecked about 40 houses and killed five or six persons.

45 KILLED, 200 HURT AT DE SOTO, ILL.; TOWN VIRTUALLY WIPED OUT

Many of Injured in Hospitals Have Only Slight Chance to Recover—Red Cross Workers and Troops on Scene.

By SAMUEL A. O'NEAL.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DE SOTO, Ill., March 19.—A total of 45 dead had been accounted for here at 2 p. m. today as a result of the tornado which virtually wiped out this town of 700 inhabitants yesterday.

Twenty-seven bodies, 21 of which have been identified, have been removed to an undertaking establishment at Carbondale and 15 are at Duquoin.

Most of these are in hospitals in Carbondale and Duquoin and scores of persons less seriously hurt are being cared for in private homes and by the Red Cross, Salvation Army and Elks Club. While it has been impossible as yet to determine the extent of the injuries of those in hospitals, physicians say many who are suffering from crushed bodies have but slight chance for recovery.

Search for Bodies.
Red Cross forces and troops from Scott Field are still working frantically in their search for other bodies in the ruins and are being assisted by hundreds of volunteer workers whose automobiles line the roads for a mile at all entrances to the town. The homeless are being housed by benevolent organizations in nearby towns which escaped the tornado's havoc.

The storm struck De Soto shortly after passing through Murphysboro about 2:35 p. m. and left the little town a mass of kindling wood. Today only about a dozen houses are standing and not one of these escaped damage. Over most of the area where the town stood it is impossible to point out many spots that formerly were the sites of homes. Here and there a foundation or floor remains to mark the spot of habitation and now then appears a standing wall, but for the most part the area is a mass of brick and timbers. Trees are uprooted and shattered as on a World War battlefield.

A large percentage of the casualties were among children. Eighteen met their deaths when a school building housing about 200 pupils was demolished. Their bodies were taken from the ruins this morning.

Many others in the school were injured and not a few dead escapes that seemed miraculous. Two little girls saved themselves by leaping out of a school window just as the walls came crashing down. Only part of one wall of the brick structure was left standing.

Help Arrives Quickly.
It was only a few minutes after the disaster until help arrived from other cities. Guards picked the roads and sent all incoming automobiles hastening back to Carbondale for aid. Soon 100 or more cars and trucks were on hand to convey dead and injured. Several bodies were found in near-by fields.

Harry Reid and his wife were trapped in their general store when it collapsed and are believed to have been killed. Two charred bodies were taken from the ruins this morning, but have not yet been identified.

The bodies of Mrs. John Bracher and her six-week-old twin children were found lying in a field near the town after the storm had passed. Their skulls were crushed. The body of Mrs. Bracher lies in an undertaking establishment at Duquoin and those of her four other children, however, Tina May, 13, and Marie, 4, were killed. Their bodies were taken to Carbondale. The others, Herschel, 14, and Elizabeth, 7, were in the school building, but escaped injury. Elizabeth having been one of the two little girls who jumped out of a window.

Herschel, in describing his experience today, said he escaped by ducking under his desk when the bricks began to fall on him. The children had just been called to from recess, he said, when the tornado struck. Neither teacher nor pupils appeared to realize what had happened until the building swayed and the walls started to buckle. Teachers cried to their pupils to save their lives if they could, but the walls crumbled before they could leave their seats. Herschel later crawled out from under his desk and helped to extricate the injured.

G. R. Huffman, a Carbondale undertaker who was in De Soto during the storm, took shelter in a new bungalow when the rain preceded the tornado. He was in the house. When the wind struck he said, all three of them fell on the floor and escaped injury, although the roof and walls were torn away, leaving only the floor intact.

When he looked across the street where a handsome residence had stood, he said, the body of a horse lay in what had been a room of the house.

A Mrs. Hampton, at Duquoin hospital, related that her daughter, lying in bed with a two-week-old baby, was miraculously saved when her home collapsed, by timber which fell across the bed, protecting it.

At Griffin the walls of only two buildings remained standing.

LARGE DEATH TOLL REPORTED IN THREE INDIANA TOWNS

Forty Bodies Recovered in Streets of Griffin—20 Dead, 60 Injured at Princeton, Is Estimate.

By the Associated Press.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 19.—Three Indiana towns, Princeton, Owensville and Griffin today are digging their dead and injured from the wreckage of homes, stores and office buildings leveled by a tornado that struck those places late yesterday. Upward of several hundred persons are said to have been killed and injured.

Princeton, with a population of more than 7000 was the most seriously affected. Twenty persons were killed and more than 60 injured. It was estimated by officers of two companies of State troops, which took charge of the city late last night. The number of dead may be increased slightly as reports are received from the countryside.

Virtually one-half and the half south of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad tracks and of Princeton, was destroyed by the tornado. The huge $2,000,000 railroad shops and roundhouse of the Southern Railroad and a catchup manufacturing plant of the Heinz company were almost totally destroyed. Of the 75 girls at work in the Heinz plant when the storm struck all but one—Nellie Cooper—escaped with their lives. The Cooper girl was crushed, when one of the walls of the building collapsed.

At Griffin, which was virtually wiped out, 40 bodies were found in the streets, and an unknown number injured, while at Owensville the casualties, it was said, would run high.

A Public Libraries, social halls and stores were made into temporary morgues and hospitals. At Princeton, military control was declared to prevent looting and to place the relief work under a responsible hand.

Failure of the electric light plants in the stricken cities and the fires which broke out, destroying nearly every building in the stricken portions of the towns, worked additional hardships on rescue work.

At Griffin the walls of only two buildings remained standing.

LARGE DEATH TOLL
REPORTED IN THREE
INDIANA TOWNS

Forty Bodies Recovered in Streets of Griffin—20 Dead, 60 Injured at Princeton, Is Estimate.

By the Associated Press.
EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 19.—Three Indiana towns, Princeton, Owensville and Griffin today are digging their dead and injured from the wreckage of homes, stores and office buildings leveled by a tornado that struck those places late yesterday. Upward of several hundred persons are said to have been killed and injured. Princeton, with a population of more than 7000 was the most seriously affected. Twenty persons were killed and more than 60 injured. It was estimated by officers of two companies of State troops, which took charge of the city last night. The number of dead is being increased slightly as reports are received from the countryside.

Griffin, which was virtually wiped out, 40 bodies were found in the streets, and an unknown number of the injured, while at Owensville the carnage, it was said, would run high.

Public libraries, social halls and stores were made into temporary morgues and hospitals. At Princeton, military control was declared to prevent looting and to place the work under a responsible hand.

Failure of the electric light plants in the stricken cities and the one which broke out, destroying nearly every building in the stricken portions of the towns, worked additional hardships on rescue workers.

At Griffin the walls of only two buildings remained standing.

At Princeton, 50 injured in Harrison County, Ind.

Tornado Leaves Huge Mass of Debris Where Residential District Stood—Office Workers Find Safety From Wind in a Vault.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., March 19 (via Benton).—Eighty-five bodies of men, women and children have been taken from wrecked homes in path of the storm and taken to undertaking establishments. It is estimated 350 injured are in emergency hospitals, many of them will die. Scores of others were taken into private homes. It is estimated the dead in the county will total 150.

As far as the eye could see in this neighborhood, the landscape was a huge irregular mass of debris after the tornado passed yesterday. Here a house had been moved completely from its foundation, there a side had been ripped off, leaving rooms exposed.

In some places houses had been tumbled into little mounds of debris. There was nothing to show where a small frame house had once stood, but boards and bricks were scattered about.

Tragic Scenes Enacted.

A man was seen carrying in his arms a tiny baby. "Is he hurt?" was the query. The baby was apparently unhurt. But his mother was badly injured.

From a field north of the Orient mine blackened figures of miners probing in the wreckage of houses could be seen. A ragged little girl was crying for her mamma. No one could comfort her, for no one could answer her questions. Shouts came from a little group that surrounded a distant pile of debris that had a few minutes before been a small, comfortable dwelling. A miner still in his pit clothes went toward the crowd, his tall, lean body in striking contrast to a pitiful little bundle which he held limp in his arms. It was a 3-year-old Leroy Roberts, who had been taken from the wreckage of his father's home more dead than alive. There was no movement that could be discerned, but the man who carried him said that he was not dead.

In the ruins of another house lay a man and wife. It was Joe Roberts and Mrs. Roberts, both of whom had been terribly injured, and their house leveled.

The rescuers were constructing rude stretchers of 2x4 boards with which to carry the injured across a muddy field to the paved streets where automobiles waited. The scene was repeated scores of times. Dead and dying were dragged from beneath ruined homes, some so badly injured they expired as they were being lifted to stretchers. Others died as they reached hospitals.

Searchers were horrified at one point to see a mother lying dead on a bed with a tiny infant crawling about her head.

Near the roundhouse of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad was found the body of a man, his neck broken and a board piercing the lower portion of his body. A woman was found with a stick driven through her head. Others had lost arms and legs.

Seek Safety in Vault.
Of various methods taken by those in the path of the storm to escape destruction from wind one of the most novel was that of office employees at Orient No. 2 mine. These employees sought safety in a vault in the office. This move saved them from injury and possible death. The mine's surface plant was badly damaged by wind. Practically every delivery truck in the city was converted into an emergency ambulance as local business houses joined in the rescue work. Private cars also were pressed into service. Immediately after the damage of the storm was realized, Chief of Police Norman Norman got into communication with the mine and asked for a company of troops immediately. Damage to the C. W. & F. mine and Industrial Coal Co. mines is estimated conservatively at $200,000.

Several Special Relief Trains Sent Out by the Illinois Central.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 19.—Approximately 10 special trains were run by the Illinois Central Railway, carrying doctors and nurses and volunteer relief workers into the wrecked places in Southern Illinois last night and early today. "Go the limit," Charles H. Mackintosh, president of the railroad, ordered last night in response to appeals for aid.

The special train sent out of here last night under the auspices of the Chicago Herald and Examiner besides a number of physicians from the Illinois Central hospital and staff, and nurses and volunteers, carried 100 cots and several hundred blankets. All first aid kits available to the Illinois Central staff doctors went on the train and also on extra coaches attached to train No. 5 at 1 a. m. The Illinois Central ran special trains out of Chicago, St. Louis, Springfield, Clinton, Decatur, Cairo, Duquoin and Carbondale, some of the trains making two trips.

Millitamen From Eight Cities Ordered to Storm Zone.

Adjutant-General Black announced this morning. Tent hospitals and supplies also have been ordered taken to West Frankfort and Murphysboro, as concentration points.

MURPHYSBORO POLICE CHIEF FINDS OWN CHILD DEAD

Directs Rescue Work Far Into Night After Making Discovery in School Building.

CARBONDALE, Ill., March 19.—Joe Boston, Murphysboro's Police Chief, worked hours after hour last night dry-eyed and averted faced directing rescue and relief. Yesterday when the tornado struck the town, the Chief of Police rushed to a school building to help bring out the children. The first child he found was his own. She was dead.

40 STORM DEATHS IN HAMILTON COUNTY, ILL.

At Least 100 Farm Homes Wrecked—No Casualties in the Towns.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MT. VERNON, Ill., March 19.—Reports direct from McLeansboro received here this afternoon give the number killed in Hamilton County in the country districts as 40.

No deaths occurred in any towns of the county. At least 100 farm homes were wrecked.

The public library at McLeansboro is being used as a hospital. Several hundred are injured.

A report from Mt. Vernon said 14 persons had been killed between Enfield in White County and Carbondale.

Sweeping into Hamilton County near Macedonia, the tornado cut a path a mile wide through the rural section, but missed the towns in the district. It continued in a general direction of Enfield, in White County.

TWO TORNADO VICTIMS DIE ON WAY TO HERRIN HOSPITAL

Woman at Bush, Ill., Who Was Seriously Injured During Storm in 1912, Is Among Dead.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HERRIN, Ill., March 19.—The Herrin hospital is filled today with injured from the tornado. Thirty-five injured, two of them dying on the way here, were brought from Bush.

One man driving a team and loaded coal wagon near Bush was found a quarter of a mile from the road in a field, the horses and man dead and the wagon kindling wood. One baby was found in a field unhurt, while the frantic parents who happened not to be in the house at the time searched everywhere for their child. The child was found by a woman and taken care of, but so great was the confusion that it was hours before the parents found it.

On April 21, 1912, Bush suffered a loss of 19 lives from a tornado. At that time Mrs. Mitchell Beason was seriously injured, being crushed when her home collapsed. She recovered. Yesterday she was killed.

Four lives were lost in Allen County, near Scottsville; three negroes were killed near Louisville, and one life was lost each in Fayette and Franklin counties and near Springfield.

ST. LOUIS, LED BY RED CROSS, RALLIES TO RELIEF CALL

Doctors, Nurses, Railroad and Municipal Officials Included in Volunteers Swiftly Mobilized for Emergency Work.

St. Louis and the adjacent communities rallied to the call of distress from the Missouri and Illinois storm area, under the direction of the St. Louis division headquarters of the American Red Cross, with a dispatch and spirit of willingness that matched the emergency.

Doctors and nurses from hospitals, officials of railroads, city officials and individuals were included in the volunteers mobilized, as the extent of the disaster became known and the points of relief sought for established. A fortuitous circumstance was the conference here of a number of Red Cross officials and field nurses who with traditional consideration of the emergency, promptly entered active duty.

National Director in Charge.
Heading the Red Cross organization was Henry Baker, National Director of Disaster Relief, who only a few hours before had arrived from Washington. Cooperating with William Baxter Jr., in active charge of relief work in this area, plans were laid immediately for sending relief trains.

The first of these was a special train on the Missouri Pacific at 7 p. m., with Annapolis as the destination. It carried medical and food supplies and tents from Jefferson Barracks. The personnel, under the direction of C. W. Jackson, included field workers and one nurse.

At 10 a. m., a second special on the Missouri Pacific departed for Murphysboro. It carried a detail of doctors, nurses and other relief workers, in charge of Leonard Coop, with a supply of tentage, food and medical supplies. Included in the personnel were eight nurses and seven physicians, assembled by the local enrollment committee of the Red Cross and by Nelson Cunliff, Director of Public Welfare. At Belleville, five physicians joined the workers.

Both the regular Illinois Central trains, departing at 9:32 and 11:22 p. m., carried relief workers, and a special train on this road departed at 1 a. m. for West Frankfort. It carried supplies, four nurses, one doctor and a detail of field workers under F. E. Burlington.

Director Baker on Train.
Included on this train was Director of Relief Baker, who telegraphed from Carbondale to the St. Louis offices of the Red Cross to have 20 additional nurses ready to West Frankfort, where the headquarters of the St. Louis unit will be. Twenty-five of the organization's officers already are there. Early this afternoon Col. William Andrews and 10 other Salvation Army officers left in automobiles for West Frankfort to aid in the relief work. The Chicago unit of the Army has established its headquarters at Murphysboro. Communication between the two headquarters will be maintained, and Col. Andrews will be in command of all the relief work in the Illinois devastated district.

At 2 a. m., a special train con-

GOV. BAKER CALLS FOR MONEY, FOOD, CLOTHING FOR STRICKEN SECTION

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Mar. 19.

GOV. SAM A. BAKER today issued a proclamation calling upon the people of Missouri to contribute money, food and clothing for relief of people in the storm-stricken area of Southeast Missouri.

He asks that contribution of money, food and clothing be sent in care of the Red Cross Disaster Relief Committee at Annapolis, Mo.

Consisting of a passenger coach and two cabooses, departed the East St. Louis yards of the Illinois Central for Murphysboro, carrying 20 Western Union repairmen and a quantity of equipment. This morning another train of 10 cars, carrying additional workmen and repair outfits and supplies was made up for departure at noon.

East St. Louis Council Called.
This morning, Mayor Stephens called a special session of the City Council of East St. Louis to consider relief measures. A meeting of similar purpose was called also by President N. C. McLean of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

The city hospital contributed 13 physicians and five nurses, under J. J. Mudd, to the relief work. They carried with them a large quantity of medical supplies and surgical instruments. The institution was prepared today to send more nurses and doctors, if called upon.

B. A. Marconier, director of public information of the St. Louis division headquarters of the American Red Cross, prepared this afternoon to depart for the stricken area by automobile, accompanied by Dr. W. R. Redden, medical assistant to the vice chairman at national headquarters, Washington. D. C. Dr. Redden also was one of the visitors to St. Louis attending the Red Cross conference. The St. Louis division comprises 17 middle Western states, San Francisco and Washington being headquarters for the remaining two divisions of the country.

The Victor X-Ray Corporation, 2642 Olive street, today dispatched an X-ray outfit by automobile to Murphysboro.

The St. Louis unit of the Salvation Army has dispatched three truck loads of bedding, medical supplies, tents and other necessities to West Frankfort, where the headquarters of the St. Louis unit will be. Twenty-five of the organization's officers already are there. Early this afternoon Col. William Andrews and 10 other Salvation Army officers left in automobiles for West Frankfort to aid in the relief work. The Chicago unit of the Army has established its headquarters at Murphysboro. GOV. SMALL CALLS FOR FUND TO AID STRICKEN TOWNS

Asks That Money Be Sent to Red Cross Here—Legislature Plans Appropriation of $500,000.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 19.—An appeal to the citizens of Illinois for the relief of the stricken in the town swept by the tornado has been issued by Gov. Len Small.

Early advice would indicate that an appalling disaster has been visited upon several communities in Jackson and Franklin counties in this State," said the Governor.

"Reports received by me are to the effect that many of our people have been killed and maimed, and hundreds, perhaps thousands made homeless from the effects of a tornado.

"The American Red Cross branch at St. Louis volunteered to act as the agency for the receipt and disbursement of emergency relief funds in aid of the suffering communities, and its offer has been accepted.

"Every means at the command of the executive for the amelioration of the distressing conditions in the devastated area will be employed and units of the National Guard of Illinois will be mobilized and moved where necessary as the need develops.

"I hereby appeal to our citizens for funds for the relief of these stricken peoples, and request that contributions be forwarded direct to William M. Baxter Jr., assistant to the vice chairman of the American Red Cross branch at St. Louis, Mo."

Gov. Len Small, accompanied by his son-in-law, Col. A. E. Ingles, and A. C. Bortz, of Kankakee, left shortly before noon today for the storm area.

A bill appropriating $500,000 for the relief of those in the tornado zone was introduced in the Senate today. The bill was decided upon at a conference attended by Gov. Small, Lieutenant-Governor Sterling and Senators Barr and Datter. The bill will be rushed through the House and Senate and the money will be available early next week.

Troops ordered to Murphysboro are Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, 120th Infantry, Carbondale; Company L, 120th Infantry, Hillsboro; medical detachment, 120th Infantry, Quincy; medical detachment, 166th Cavalry, Champaign.

Troops ordered to West Frankfort are Company K of Cairo and Company L, Salem, both of the 120th Infantry, and the medical detachment of the 120th Infantry, Ottawa.

Supplies ordered into the tornado zone from Chicago, in charge of Col. S. O. Trapp, were 1000 big army tents, 1000 stoves, 4000 cots, 4000 pillows, 4000 bed sacks, 12,000 blankets. They will be taken in 10 cars, which are being loaded this morning, to Carbondale.

Ten large hospital tents, 30 by 70 feet, have been sent from Springfield to Murphysboro.

90 KILLED, 150 HURT IN STORM AT GORHAM, ILL.

This Estimate Is Made by Illinois Central Officials—Doctor Injured While Attending Patient.

CAIRO, Ill., March 19.—The death toll at Gorham was estimated by railroad officials at 90, with 150 injured, late today.

If I were an Inspector

I WOULD carry a flashlight, you can bet on that. No matter what I had to "inspect," my flashlight would help me do a better, more thorough job.

Because there is no portable light to compare with a good flashlight. It throws a bright, white spot of light right where you want it. And there's no danger of fire.

Being an inspector, and having a critical eye, my best judgment would tell me to choose an Eveready Flashlight!

STORM VICTIMS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL IN CARBONDALE

Club Thrown Open and Pastors Turn Over Churches for Use in Emergency.
CARBONDALE, Ill., March 19.—Injured storm victims from Murphysboro, De Soto and surrounding country are being brought into Carbondale today by special train. An estimate this morning placed the number of persons in hospitals at 500.

The Carbondale hospital was filled during the night and extra beds pressed into service. Members of the Elks' Club turned over their hall as an emergency hospital and Carbondale pastors threw open the doors of several churches to care for tornado victims.

A special Illinois Central train brought scores of injured to Carbondale. Motor trucks were pressed into service at De Soto, the storm victims being loaded into trucks and made as comfortable as possible during the trip. Most of them were children.

More than 40 bodies were brought here early today, principally from De Soto.

Injured were being brought in hourly by automobile. At local hospitals and at the Elks' home, Carbondale doctors and practitioners from surrounding towns labored tirelessly throughout the night. Matters became so desperate that surgeons finally resorted to operations without administering anesthetics because there was no one to administer it.

DESCRIBES SCENE AT DE SOTO, ILL., AFTER THE STORM

Eyewitness Asserts Every Building in Village Was Destroyed—Flames Consume Wreckage.

TWO TOURISTS IN AUTOMOBILE KILLED

Garage in Which There Were Many Cars Blown Away—Debris Carried
for Many Miles.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TAMAROA, Ill., March 19.—It was hardly more than a rain cloud that hovered above De Soto yesterday afternoon. The population of nearly 1000 was unwarned of the tornado until it was upon them with all its fury. In less than five minutes after the storm struck nothing remained of the village except ruins, not a single building escaped the winds of destruction, and there is no more than three or four whose tottering skeletons are standing. Fire is still eating the piles of lumber and debris which fills the townsite.

Thousands of persons are at the scene, but hardly a resident of the town can be found among them.

Principal Identifies Dead Children.

When bodies were taken from the wrecked schoolhouse and laid out row after row, there was no
one to claim the lifeless forms.
The children's parents were either dead or on the way to hospitals.
The school principal, who escaped death, was called upon to identify the children. His clothes were torn and there were many marks
on his body to tell of his narrow escape. Apparently he was dazed as he stepped from one bundle to another in an effort to identify the dead.

In a field on the outskirts of the town two babies about seven months old were found. The bodies were crushed.

Two in Automobile Killed.

A tourist on the highway, was caught by the twister and his Ford
sedan was picked up and hurled against the railroad embankment 50 yards away and both occupants instantly killed. Box cars standing on the tracks were lifted from the wheels and trucks and carried away, leaving the wheels in place on the tracks.

One home near the school was flat on the ground and only a bird dog remained.

Surviving members of various families do not know the fate of the persons living under the same roof with them.

Survivors Without Clothing.

There was a spot swept clean with a lone smoke-blackened man standing on it. He turned his eyes skyward and exclaimed, "Here was my home, my wife, my mother and my baby—I wonder where they are."

Not even sufficient clothing is left to clothe the survivors. They may be seen picking up various articles of wearing apparel from the wrecks and from wire fences as they wander about in the cold bitting wind.

The State highway yesterday afternoon was alive with automobiles which tourists readily offered to take injured and dying to the hospitals at Duquoin and Carbondale.
All other traffic was held up by officers to give right-of-way to the cars of mercy. This traffic grew until there was a line of standing automobiles six miles in length. The license plates on these cars proved
they were from many states.

The Illinois Central Railroad Co.
rushed trains of coaches to the scene to care for the dead and injured. Officers of the company from Carbondale, together with employees, gave assistance.

Tires Blown From Auto's Wheels.
A large garage, in which there were many stored cars, was completely blown away. The cars were twisted into undecipherable shapes.
One car, standing on its wheels and the least damaged of the lot, was a new sedan. In some manner all four tires were torn from the wheels and were lying across the street.

A passing tourist's car was picked up and whirled against a railroad track. The driver and owner of the car was dumped out. The car, with others of his family were carried away.

High voltage wires were down
and tangled up in the wreckage,
which made rescue work a serious undertaking. Debris was carried for miles from the scene. In Elkhart, nine miles north of De Soto,
boards and bits of clothing fell for several minutes. Lighter articles fell in Duquoin and Tamaroa, the latter place, almost 25 miles from the demolished town. A strange happening was the fluttering to earth of a piece of paper in Tam-aroa, which contained the photograph and description of a cyclone in the 1917. The sheet was from a copy of the Literary Digest.

RISK IN HANDLING GASEOUS BEVERAGES ON MANUFACTURER

State Supreme Court Reverses Decision Handed Down in St.
Louis Circuit Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—
Bottled beverages containing explosive gases are transported and handled in the course of business
at the risk of the manufacturer, Division No. 2 of the State Supreme Court held today, in reversing a ruling of the St. Louis Circuit Court, which sustained a de-murrer in a damage suit brought by Mrs. Henry J. Stolle for injuries sustained in the explosion of a bottle of "near beer."

Suit was filed against the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co. by Henry J. Stolle, on behalf of his wife, seeking $10,000 damages for injuries she was alleged to have sustained when a bottle of "near beer" exploded. Her hands were cut by flying glass. The Circuit Court sustained a demurrer to the action, and Stolle appealed from the ruling to the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Commissioner Higbee, held that such bottled beverages, containing explosive gases, were placed on the market with the intention of being sold at a profit to the manufacturer. Obviously the transportation of these beverages, and their handling in the course of business, should be at the manufacturer's risk, he stated.

RICKARD TRIAL ENDS WITHOUT TESTIMONY BY THE DEFENSE

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., March 19.—
Both sides have rested in the trial of George L. (Tex) Rickard, internationally known prize-fight promoter, and five others, indicted by a Federal grand jury for alleged conspiracy to transport motion pictures of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight in July, 1921, throughout the country. The defense offered no testimony.

Indications are that the fate of the six defendants would be in the hands of the jury this afternoon.

Announcement that neither the defendants nor any other witnesses
would take the stand to combat the Government's case ended former Attorney-General Daugherty's stay in New Jersey's capital. He took the first train out of town
when he learned of the defendants' intentions. He had been here several days, at the request of the special prosecutor, Assistant United States Attorney-General Sager, who intended to call him to the stand

as a rebuttal witness.

Before leaving for his train,
Daugherty handed out thin sheets
of typewritten matter, the general
purport of which was that "The people of the country have been fed up on lies." That "It is too early even now to tell the whole inside story," and that "It will all come out in time."

ANNAPOLIS, MO., FIRST TOWN HIT, NEARLY WIPED OUT

Village 111 Miles South of
St. Louis and Leadanna, Mining Camp Nearby,
Devastated by Storm.

The tornado which swept through three states yesterday, working its greatest havoc in Southern Illinois, began in the Ozark hills of Southern Missouri and sweeping east, struck first at Annapolis, Mo., a village in Iron County, 111 miles south of St. Louis.

A Post-Dispatch reporter who arrived in Annapolis on the first relief train from St. Louis, at 10:30 o'clock last night, found Annapolis and the lead mining camp of Leadanna, two miles south, virtually destroyed. All but the stoutest buildings had been razed, two persons were dead, more than 100 injured, and nearly 1000 homeless.

Striking Annapolis and Leadanna simultaneously at 1:15 p. m. the storm swept northeastward through Iron, Madison, Bollinger and Cape Girardeau counties, and into Illinois—a distance of about 70 miles in Missouri.

Ten Known Dead

The tornado left Missouri at a point about 25 miles north of Cape Girardeau, leaving behind at least 10 persons dead, hundreds injured and many buildings destroyed. Ten persons are definitely known to be dead, while a dozen more fatalities have been reported from isolated communities.

At Perryville, north of Cape Girardeau, six persons are dead, half a dozen others are in critical condition, and about 75 suffered minor injuries.

One person was killed at Wittenburg, Mo., when the storm hit Wittenburg. Seventy-six and Neely's, according to a report to the Frisco offices here today.

Others Reported Dead

In the country north of Cape Girardeau, Mrs. Mary Kempf, a widow, died when her two-story house was demolished, and six children were badly hurt when a country school house was blown a quarter mile from its foundation. An unconfirmed report was that 10 persons were dead at Biehle, a hamlet in that vicinity.

One person was reported killed at Altonburg, near Annapolis.

The dead at Annapolis are Ozroe E. Kelley, 20 years old, power house engineer at the Annapolis Lead Co. mine, and Merle Stewart, a teamster employed by the State Highway Commission. Kelley's wife, Nellie, in critical condition; George Mayberry, a carpenter, and Walter White, a teamster, were brought to St. Louis last night, to St. Luke's Hospital, the first survivors of the catastrophe to reach here.

When the relief train arrived at Annapolis, the Post-Dispatch reporter found the less seriously injured huddled in the few remaining buildings—most of them sturdy brick structures. Local physicians and those rushed from nearby towns, including Poplar Bluff, 45 miles away, were in attendance.

200 Children Escape

Of the 400 buildings in Annapolis and Leadanna, not one escaped without at least severe damage. The brick schoolhouse withstood the tornado better than any other structure, and although part of it was torn away, the 200 children survived the storm unhurt. Three buildings were lifted from their foundations and carried away to be twisted to kindling. This morning the survivors were trying into the wreckage seeking property which might have escaped destruction.

At Leadanna, the mill, machinery and 21 houses owned by the lead company were demolished. W. M. Hosford, mill superintendent, estimated the company's loss at $200,000, while Vincent Sutton, cashier of the Bank of Annapolis, said other property damage would run to about the same figure.

The Missouri Pacific station at Annapolis was torn to pieces and W. C. Gutherie, the agent-operator, found himself sitting uninjured before his bay window when the storm had passed. He used his cash drawer to carry water to extinguish a fire which threatened the building. William Voyles, a storekeeper, crawled under a pile of bolt goods when the tornado came, and escaped unhurt although the building tumbled over him. The four walls of a restaurant were swept away leaving a traveling man seated in the open air at a table.

Relief Train Stormed
When the relief train of four coaches arrived it was stormed by a crowd of refugees seeking shelter. The immediate needs of the 1000 homeless persons were taken care of by Red Cross workers who erected canteens, kitchens and sleeping tents with cots and bedding.

While the tents were being erected, women and children were sheltered in the railroad cars. This morning many persons were found huddled for shelter in the half-dead buildings of the town. The school house served as shelter for more than a hundred survivors. The men for the most part passed the night about wood fires built in the streets, and discussed their misfortune.

Truckloads of food were arriving in the town this morning and all danger of starvation was removed. Neighboring towns supplied 12 physicians who were working in the town today, and a Citizens' Committee authorized C. W. Jackson of St. Louis, head of the Red Cross unit, to take complete charge of the town.

Annapolis was badly damaged by a tornado last spring, and its citizens, looking upon the damage of yesterday's storm, doubt now whether it will be rebuilt again.

Three of injured at Annapolis brought to St. Louis. The three injured persons who arrived in St. Louis from Annapolis are in a serious condition from their injuries and the long exposure to water and cold. They left Annapolis at 4 p. m. and did not reach St. Louis until after midnight.

Mrs. Nellie Kelley is suffering with severe lacerations of the scalp; George Mayberry, a fractured arm and lacerations, and Walter White, wrenched shoulders. Mrs. John Thomas, mother of Mrs. Kelley, who accompanied her daughter to St. Louis, told of the coming of the storm at Leadanna, where she was alone in her home. "It had been thundering and rumbling since noon and then suddenly a hail storm broke about 1 o'clock," she said. "I looked out the window and saw a black funnel-shaped cloud coming up from the southwest. Before I knew what had happened the wind had come. I heard the barn crash and a chicken house flew past my window. The house shook and I put a chair against the door, but the wind blew the door open and sent me sliding across the floor."

"In two minutes the wind was over and rain began to pour down for 15 minutes. Then I started down the road to the mine to find all ran to the cellar, where they remained while the mill was blown down over them. No one was hurt, and 65 miners 400 feet below the surface climbed out through an air shaft. The tippie was destroyed."

AGRICULTURE FIRE ON WOMEN

By The Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, March 19.—Dispatches from Puebla to El Universal today report that 30 armed agriculturians, fresh from an alleged drinking bout, fired upon Mrs. Valentina Azcue Bernot while she was riding in an automobile, accompanied by her two daughters on her ranch, El Batan, in the State of Puebla. Miss Jose Fina Bernot returned the fire with a revolver, defending her mother and sister. The agriculturians, adds the dispatch, accompanied by members of the local agriculturians commission, previously had taken possession of a part of the ranch and held a

"wet" celebration at which the attack was decided upon. Troops were immediately sent to the ranch to protect the Bernot family.

ABRAMOVITZ WANTS A RUSSIAN REPUBLIC

Anti-Bolshevist Tells St. Louis Audience Rule of Soviet Has Become Intolerable.

The lot of Russia under soviet rule is but little better than it was under the rule of the Czar, and it will take at least a generation for the country to right itself, R. Abramovitz, one of the leaders in the overthrow of the monarchy, declared in an interview here today.

Despite the fact that he believes the soviet rule unsatisfactory, however, Abramovitz is of the opinion that the other nations should recognize the present Russian government and allow the Russian people themselves to right conditions by peaceful methods.

Abramovitz delivered an address last night at Sheldon Memorial, 2648 Washington boulevard, to an audience of Russian-Americans whom he is seeking to interest in his party, the Social-Democratic Labor party. It was a organization under the leadership of such men as Kerensky that overthrew the Czar and set up a Republican form of government which functioned from March, 1917, to November of the same year.

Failure on the part of the Republican government to make peace in the World War in which Russia was then engaged gave strength to the minority party, which soon overthrew the Social-Democrats. The conquering party was the bolshevik, which ultimately set up the rule of the soviet.

Ruled With Iron Hand.
Sitting in his room at Hotel Statler, Abramovitz, who was exiled to Siberia by the Czar and still later imprisoned by the soviet, advocated a peaceful settlement of Russia's problem. A thin, slight man of less than medium height, Abramovitz is distinctly of the intellectual type with the high, broad forehead and deeply set eyes of the thinker. A small, well-trimmed beard, marks the firm small chin, characteristic of many of the new Russia's leaders.

"Russia is not ready for a socialistic, a communistic form of Government," he said. "Some day, perhaps, with education, we may reach the socialistic ideal, but not now. What we need for the time is a fine republican form of Government like the one you have here in America."

"Conditions under the soviet have become intolerable. The country which was once ruled by one man now bows to the will of five or six who rule with an iron hand. Elections are open—by raising the hand—and it means imprisonment and exile to vote against the expressed will of the Government."

Advocates Republic.
"Only 45 per cent of our prewar normal industry is functioning and out output of agricultural products is only 65 per cent of the normal output under the Czar. Foreign capital is unwilling to invest money in a country where there is no freedom for capital and Russian capital is equally backward in risking itself in industry."

"My party advocates a republican form of Government, holding that the application of soviet rule at present is wrong. We propose to arouse public sentiment to such a pitch that the republic will come naturally and peacefully."

"Some day," concluded Abramovitz, spreading his hands, "perhaps the country will be ready for Socialism. But now it is the republic that is needed, one like America's republic."

Because supporters of the soviet have caused trouble, when Abramovitz spoke in other cities a detail of uniformed police was on duty in the hall when he spoke last night, but there were no disturbances.

$436 SUIT OVER BILL FOR THEATER TICKETS AND DINNERS

A few little dinners and quite a few little theater parties are the subject of litigation whereby the Ritz-Carlton Hotel of New York is endeavoring in the court of Justice Grasmuck, 4163A Easton avenue, to collect a bill for $436.95 from W. G. Shelton, Jr., of the Garden Court Apartments.

The case was continued yesterday at the request of Joseph J. Ward, attorney for the hotel, who said he had written to his client for signed checks upon which the bill was based. Shelton, whose home is in New York and who is residing here temporarily, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he demurred at the bill only because he believed some of the checks had been signed with his or his wife's name by another person, and he would pay the amount of checks bearing valid signatures. The bill was from Jan. 13 to Aug. 12, 1934. Sample items were: "Theater tickets, $9.55," and "Two dinners, $21.65."

ONE WIRE IS RESTORED TO MURPHYSBORO

Work of Repairing Lines in Tornado Area Goes Forward.

Work of repairing damage to telephone and telegraph wires in the tornado areas was not completed at a late hour this afternoon.
The Western Union announced that it had restored service on one line

to Murphysboro and was also routing messages into the district by way of Carbondale and Cairo.

The Bell Telephone Co.'s wires to Murphysboro will not be working until tomorrow. The Postal Telegraph Co.'s line through Murphysboro to Memphis will be restored tomorrow also, it is expected. All three report great congestion due to the vast flood of traffic occasioned

by relatives anxious to learn word of sufferers in the various towns stricken.

Wire gangs sent out by the telephone company reported 117 poles
down on the St. Louis-Murphys-

110 PERSONS KILLED, 300 INJURED, AT WEST FRANKFORT, ILL.

milés around were littered with fabrics and household articles.

Relief Begins at Once.

As soon as the storm had passed the people at work in the business section and from the other residential districts of West Frankfort, which has a population of about 20,000, rushed to the scene of disaster and plunged into rescue work. Horrifying sights met their gaze, for mangled bodies were everywhere and from almost every pile of debris came cries for help.

All the doctors in town quickly organized bands of nurses from volunteer women and girls; every available automobile was pressed into ambulance service, and homes,
clubs, churches and business houses were thrown open to receive the dead and injured. Imvised hospitals were set up everywhere, and before an hour had elapsed the relief work was well under way. By nightfall West Frankfort was master of the situation, and more than 100 specially deputized policemen were patrolling the affected area, bringing order to a situation that a few hours before was all chaos.

The dead were taken to two understanding companies. The Union Undertaking Co. lay 47 bodies of men and women in a row, and opposite them the bodies of 18 little boys and girls. The bodies of 30 men, women and children were laid out at the Holland Undertaking Co.

Last night the United Mine Workers' Hospital had 122 of the more seriously injured. The Elks Club had 30, Masonic Hall 25, City Hall 12 and the hall of the Fraternal Order of Eagles 10. Secondarily injured were taken care of
in homes, business houses and churches, while still others were removed to Benton,
eight miles away.

The first relief train to arrive
was over the Illinois Central Railroad from Centralia, at 11:15 o'clock. As all wires were down in all directions the train had to feel its way. On this train was Dr.
O. O. Biehl, head surgeon of the railroad at Centralia, who brought a corps of doctors, nurses and hospital equipment. Dr. Biehl found the situation well in hand at West Frankfort and passed on to small towns outside West Frankfort where injured were reported in dire need of medical attention.

Another relief train over the same railroad came from Decatur
after midnight and also passed on to the smaller towns in Franklin County.

When night came on there were no lights and the city was without a great part of its water supply. Fires had broken out in three different outlying parts of the city, which added to the difficulties of the situation, but they were got under control by hundreds of men. A fire that had been smoldering in a pile of debris
and slack coal near a mine tipple
for months was fanned into a blaze
by the tornado, and burned all night, casting a red glare against the sky and adding a ghastly hue to the scene.

In the dark of the stricken area
hundreds of men with hand flashlights and lanterns continued the rescue work in mud ankle-deep among the demolished houses, and throughout the night the entire population was active in one phase or another of the relief.

A sunless dawn brought a welcome light by which to work, and it was estimated that 2000 persons were homeless. These were taken in by friendly townspeople and will be cared for in this way during the emergency.

With the rush work of caring for the injured well in hand, a more comprehensive inventory of the destruction was to be had today. The Third Baptist Church,
a frame structure, which was in the path of the storm, was lifted from its foundation and set down
almost intact on an adjoining lot.
A trestle over a creek on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad was blown off its piers, creating an impassable gap in the right of-way. The shaft and tipple of the New Orient Coal Mine, also in the path of the storm, was damaged to the extent of about $100,000, and everywhere could be seen twisted masses of steel that once had been automobiles.

Auto Saves Family.

J. H. Young, a miner, his wife and three children were probably saved from death by their automobile. They were in their home
when it collapsed under the storm.
The east wall fell on the car, which was parked in the side yard, and the car held the building off the occupants. They escaped, crawling out under the machine.

Becky Reed, infant daughter of a miner, was missing after the storm. A searcher saw a baby's shoe protruding from the debris of the Reed home and taking hold of it he extricated Becky from the debris. She was unhurt.

The 800 men at work in the New Orient mine heard the roar of the oncoming storm and felt a tremendous concussion in the pit. Their first thought was that there had been a disaster in the mine and all rushed to ladders in the air shafts, as the cages could not be operated owing to paralysis of the electric system by the storm.

Mine Employee Killed.

The men scrambled out of the pit to discover that a tornado had passed above them, in running back to an outbuilding for his coat

an employee of the mine was killed by flying debris. This was the only casualty reported at the mine.

The miners reported that the concussion was so great in the interior of the mine that doors were blown off, props collapsed in some places and considerable other damage was done.

Mine No. 18 of the Industrial Coal Co., at Caldwell, a few miles away, was reported to have suffered an estimated damage of $250,000. About 100 homes were reported damaged at Caldwell.

Countryside Swept Clean.

Except for experiencing a high wind, the business section of West Frankfort suffered no appreciable damage, but the countryside in the path of the storm beyond West Frankfort was swept clean and many farmhouses and barns were reported demolished.

Company K of the 130th Infantry, Illinois National Guard, arrived from Cairo under command of Capt. Bolen to take over guard work of the volunteer police. This morning they were joined by Company I from Salem, under Capt.
Bigelow, and later, Col. Culbertson, commander of the regiment, arrived to direct activities. He said two additional companies will be sent here, as well as more medical units and supplies.

The duty of the troops was mainly guarding the wrecked property
and keeping an open highway
through the main street of West Frankfort to Benton. Guards were stationed to bar sightseers from this road, and the passing machines

bore improvised signs stating the nature of their mission.

200 Tents Asked For.

An additional relief train of 20
doctors and 10 nurses arrived from Chicago this morning and a call was sent out for 200 tents, 500 cots, 1000 blankets and 200 stoves. Cooperation between the many military and civilian organizations at work was in evidence and according to Col. Culbertson, martial law is unnecessary. American Legion men and Boy Scouts donned their uniforms today and aided the troops in directing traffic and keeping order.

The undertaking establishments
where the bodies of the dead are lying were visited by hundreds of men and women seeking to identify the dead. About 25 children whose parents have not been identified are being cared for in private homes.

Mint with Magnesia Speeds the Action

New form milk of magnesia is MINTRATED.
Stops "Gas" in 10 minutes or less. A joy to take

HERE is the new kind of milk
of magnesia that doctors
now are urging in place of old kinds, for children.

It's minty, cool and inviting;
none of that chalky after-taste.
Children take it without a murmur.

But of greatest scientific importance, it expels stomach gases
as well as relieving acidity, indigestion, constipation, headaches, etc. That doubles its effects, for ordinary magnesia failed in that gas expulsion. Worst cases of stomach gas now go in 15 minutes. You'll call it wonderful.

It's called MINTRATED
CREAM OF MAGNESIA. A world-famed laboratory makes it.
Great physicians are employing
it. To the children it will mean much. Druggists have it.

Mrs. Morrachini had occupied

Blaze Started in Upper Floor of Breakers, a Frame Building and a Swept Structure.

COTTAGES AND SHOPS BURNED

Millionaire Guests of Hotels Spend Night on Rugs and Draperies Spread on Golf Links.

By the Associated Press.
PALM BEACH, Fla., March 19.
—Seven million dollars worth of property lay in ruins here today after the fire of last night which swept through the Breakers and Palm Beach hotels, destroyed several shops and cottages, and for a time threatened the destruction of an entire section of the city. Estimate of the loss was made by Fire Chief Schultz.

A checkup of hotel registers, almost completed, had failed to reveal that any lives were lost in the fire.

The city presented an unusual scene in the early morning light, as groups paused in the dull glow of the embers to discuss the fire, or made an effort to recover valuables
that had been flung from windows
during the fire.

Millionaires Sleep on Golf Links.
Further away on the golf links,
groups of millionaires slept upon expensive rugs and draperies torn from the floors and walls of the burning buildings, unmindful of the brant tramp of soldiers, patrolling the bridge between Palm Beach and West Palm Beach.

Others of the several thousand persons made homeless by the fire were quartered in other hotels and private homes.

Twenty-three persons, most of them negroes, were arrested on charges of looting after the fire.
Thousands of dollars in jewels,
money and clothing, alleged to have been stolen, was being guarded by police. Authorities continued to investigate rumors that the Breakers Hotel, the first building to burn, was set as part of a plot to loot the hotel rooms.

The estimated damage included
the property of guests of the hotels, furnishings of the structures and the hotels themselves. The Breakers building alone represented a loss of $1,000,000. H. E. Bemis, general manager of the East Coast
Hotel Co.'s properties here, said
and the Palm Beach hotel sustained an estimated loss of one-fourth of that amount.

The cause of the fire has not been ascertained. It was variously said to have originated from a carelessly thrown cigarette, a plumber's torch and an electrical appliance in the hands of a woman guest.

Starts in Upper Floor.
The fire started late in the afternoon in an upper floor of the south wing of the Breakers Hotel, which had nearly 900 rooms and provided accommodation for nearly 2000 persons.

Flames broke through the roof
and smoke almost immediately spread throughout the hotel. Guests hurriedly left the burning structure,
many not waiting to save their belongings. The hotel, constructed of pine wood, burned rapidly.

Officials of the hotel, sensing the imminent danger, summoned the entire equipment of the Palm Beach fire department and that of West Palm Beach across the lake
as well as Lakewood, seven miles away.

In spite of the efforts of the firemen the flames soon spread to the main section of the hotel and then to the north wing. In the meantime the Palm Beach Hotel, a 250-room structure, was burning and although the fire fighting forces was at once divided and a portion diverted to the second hotel, it was seen to be doomed from the outset.
Adjacent buildings, however, were saved.

All Palm Beach fire apparatus was summoned to the scene while calls were sounded for that of West Palm Beach and Lakewood, and a general alarm summoned equipment from other cities in the neighborhood.

The roof of the Royal Poinciana
Hotel was hit by flaming embers, but was not badly damaged. However guests were ordered to leave the structure.

Discovery of Fire.
Discovery of the fire that collapsed the Breakers here last night came with shocking surprise to the guests of the great hotel. John McDonald, driver of the children's rattam car between the Breakers and the Royal Poinciana, said he and Ground Superintendent Brannon probably were the first to discover the fire.

McDonald said he noticed a burst of smoke from a south door of the Breakers and called to Bran-
non that the hotel was on fire.
Guests reclining in porch chairs on the veranda had not noticed anything.

The Palm Beach Hotel, several blocks from the Breakers, was ignited almost without warning. A sudden shift of the wind sent brads flying over the village business section to the roof of the Palm Beach Hotel.

During the fire the two bridges
leading to the island of Palm Beach were closed, the crowds
having grown so dense the firemen were being blocked in their efforts.
This was also regarded as a precaution against possible activities of marauders.

The Avenue of Palms, leading from the Royal Poinciana to the beach was a row of beacon lights
as the trees caught and burned.

The Breakers was about 20 years old and succeeded the Palm Beach Inn built by Henry Flagler in 1892
and destroyed by fire.

Warns Middle-Aged Women to Check High Blood Pressure

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in danger of high blood pressure. It is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs. This forces the heart to do more work and raises blood pressure.

The symptoms are dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness or sleeplessness. High blood pressure must be treated and stopped, for everyone knows it brings on Bright's disease, apoplexy and often sudden death. It is too dangerous and quick acting to go without heeding its symptoms.

Norma is a doctor's prescription for high blood pressure that has been used with great success. It is a purely vegetable medicine. It contains no habit forming drugs, is harmless, and works in a way that it drives out waste matter, lessens the duty of the over-taxed heart and reduces blood pressure safely and surely. Often one bottle brings great relief. Get a bottle of Norma today and free yourself of life shortening high blood pressure. Better Than Calomel

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't irritate the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dizziness" and that lary feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. "Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets" when you feel "icky" and "lousy." They clear clouded brain and "wake up" the appetite. See and 20c.

KILLED MOTHER AND 2 OTHERS WITH ARSENIC

Ohio Woman's Confession Also Clears Up Illness of 14 Other Relatives.

By the Associated Press.
MEDINA, O., March 19.—The mystery surrounding the death of John Glenke, his wife Lillian, and his sister, Mrs. Sophie Hazel, was solved with the alleged confession of Mrs. Martha Wise, daughter of Mrs. Hazel, that she poisoned her relatives.

Fourteen other members of their families were made ill.

Mrs. Wise, the mother of four small children, admitted in a signed statement that she administered arsenic in the drinking water of the families, which resulted in the death of her mother Dec. 13; Mrs. Glenke, Jan. 4, and Glenke, Feb. 8. She was unable to give a reason for her action.

DESERTER FROM 3 ARMIES CLAIMS ST. LOUIS AS HOME

Jack Davis, Awaiting Courtmartial, Claims Consul Promised Him Immunity.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 19.—Jack Davis, deserter from three armies, was arrested as he arrived from Germany on the Berengaria. He will be tried by courtmartial at Governor's Island. Davis was surprised because, he said, an American Consul at Hamburg had virtually guaranteed immunity.

When the war began, in 1914, Davis, who says his home is in St. Louis, Mo., joined the British army and fought three years in France. Then he became bored, he said, and when the United States entered the hostilities he came back here and enlisted. While acting as an instructor at Fort Slocum Davis walked off and married Miss Edith C. Dawson of Ossining, taking his bride to Toronto, Ontario.

He then joined the Canadian army and fought at Ypres and Amiens. After the armistice he walked off again, going to Germany to study medicine.

The home land called and the Consul seemed to think that byones would now be forgiven, so Jack came back. But the Consul had notified the army officials here.

WOMAN MUST SERVE TWO YEARS FOR BEATING CHILD

Mrs. F. D. Evans of Kansas City Loses Appeal of Sentence for Mistreating Girl.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 19.—After more than a year's delay, the State Supreme Court has ruled that Mrs. F. D. Evans must serve a two-year-sentence for the beatings she administered to 12-year-old Marceline Grace. The Court yesterday affirmed the verdict returned by a jury in 1923, and Mrs. Evans is confined in the county jail awaiting her trip to Jefferson City.

Terribly beaten, the 12-year-old girl was taken to the General Hospital Sept. 19, 1923, for treatment. Failure to feed the children satisfactorily, failure to sweep the floors clean, failure to wash the dishes properly—these were the reasons ascribed for the many whippings.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Grace. The parents advertised for a home for Marceline. The father was leaving the city to procure work. Mrs. Grace was employed. Mrs. Evans answered the advertisement and the girl was sent to her home.

The Latest Balloon Tire Development—The New U.S. "LOW-PRESSURE TREAD" and How Its Flat Contour Prevents Early and Uneven Tread Wear

The First Tread Ever Designed to Properly Meet the Requirements of a Balloon Tire

Operating at the Low-Inflation necessary for Real Balloon Cushioning

IT IS the result of an exhaustive study by U. S. Tire engineers into the causes of early and uneven tread wear on Balloon Tires.

This study demonstrated very clearly that the round tread as used on most high pressure tires is impractical for Balloon Tires.

Due to the peculiar shape a round-tread Balloon Tire takes when under load and moving, and to the consequent working of those parts of the tread on which the weight is concentrated, the tread wears in two bands, one on each side of the center of the tire. (Note Tire A.) This makes the tread wear unevenly and quickly.

The new Flat "Low-Pressure Tread" cures all this. Due to its flat contour and the larger area of road contact, the weight carried per square inch of tread is greatly reduced.

Because of this better load distribution there is much less tread distortion and tread movement—two factors which add to early tread wear in round-tread Balloon Tires.

Because of the greater road contact there is better traction.

There is also better non-skid protection because the flexible outer row of tread blocks is in full contact with the road.

Steering, too, is easier with the new Flat "Low-Pressure Tread."

But above all, the new Flat "Low-Pressure Tread" permits running the tire on the low inflation necessary to give real Balloon Tire cushioning—without causing early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear. This is of great importance because a few pounds increase, even four or five pounds, in air pressure in a Balloon Tire will greatly affect its riding quality and comfort.

Why U. S. Royal Balloon Cords present "The Balloon Tire principle at its Best"

Here is the tire that combines more exclusive points of superiority than any other tire you ever used or heard of: Sprayed Rubber—pure rubber derived direct from the Latex without acids or smoke.

Latex-treated Web-Cord—the only cord construction in which the individual cords are webbed together with pure rubber Latex, without injurious chemicals.

This Latex-treated Web-Cord is not only strong but extremely flexible. It permits the tire to flex freely without injury even at extremely low air pressures.

Flat Band Method of Building—insuring uniform position and tension of all the cords in the tire. Each cord does its full proportionate share of the work.

The New, Flat "Low-Pressure Tread"—adding 22 per cent more tractive surface on the road, doing away with uneven wear, and giving you many more miles out of your tire investment.

BOTH of these tires have run approximately the same number of miles, under the same load, and with the same inflation.

Tire A has the old round tread. Look how it has worn down on each side.

Tire B has the new U. S. Flat "Low-Pressure Tread". Note the slight and even wear over the whole tread, although it has gone over a 1000 miles more than Tire A.

10,000 MADE REFUGEES BY FIRE THAT SWEEPS TOKIO

Northeastern Section of City Suffers Heaviest Loss—Total Damage Is $2,500,000.

By The Associated Press.
TOKIO, March 19.—The hand of horror and devastation gripped Tokyo today as the result of fire that swept over the northeastern section of the city and left thousands of homeless in its wake.

Starting in a factory at Kappori Junction the blaze burned its way like wild fire in a southwesterly direction. When the flames were reported controlled late last night, 200 houses had been destroyed, 300 persons were reported injured, and 10,000 refugees were depending upon the aid of other sections of Tokyo for shelter. The burned buildings were small homes, small factories, schools and temples. Roughly the loss is estimated at 5,000,000 yen ($2,500,000).

ATTEMPTED SWINDLE
LANDS ACTOR IN JAIL

Kansas City Police Arrest "Cousin" Who Telegraphed Woman Here for $100.

"Wire me hundred bucks quick. Will explain later. Important." It was very strange to Mrs. James E. Wals of 4105 Flad avenue, this telegram from her cousin, C. C. Carter, sent from Kansas City. In the first place, Carter is a well-paid traveling man for a Cairo (Ill.) lumber firm. In the second place, he has many wealthier and more intimate friends and relatives who he could appeal to. In the third place, he had written that he wasn't going to Kansas City at all as he had stated in a previous letter when he asked the name of a mutual friend.

Mrs. Wals' husband, a salesman for the Corn Products Refining Co., telephoned "C. C. Carter" at the Muehlbach Hotel.

"What is your wife's first name?" asked Wals, "Anna," replied "Carter" after a slight delay. Which was not exactly correct inasmuch as the real Mrs. Carter's first name is "Helen."

Further telephoning and "Carter" was arrested. He said his real name was Untheogrove Carroll, movie actor, recently of Hollywood, whose specialty was minor roles in mob scenes and "guests at the party stuff." A letter from Mrs. Wals to Carter, with a return address, was accidentally handed to him at the hotel and he impulsively decided to profit by it, he said. Yesterday he pleaded guilty to operating a swindle and was sentenced to 100 days on the Municipal Farm.

COURT ASKED TO DECIDE WHO IS COUNTY COUNSELOR

Wilfred Jones Wants to Know Whether He or John A. Nolan Is Entitled to Job.

Wilfred Jones, former Assistant Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County and a defeated candidate for Sheriff, yesterday petitioned the Circuit Court to determine whether he is counselor to the County Court, or whether John A. Nolan holds that job, which carries a $3000 annual salary and no great pressure of work.

Jones was appointed counselor last December when the court consisted of Presiding Judge Smiley and Judges Steffan and Sheerin. A month later Judges Preiss and Booring took office in the place of Steffan and Sheerin and they at once appointed Nolan over objection by Smiley, who remains in office. Two weeks ago yesterday came around. Nolan collected. The certiorari petition, filed yesterday, is the result.

Ever since the office of Counselor, or, formerly, obviated by gratis assistance of the Prosecuting Attorney, was filled in 1922, there has been some doubt about who had the job. The question first arose between Edwin Rosenthal and C. C. Wolff, who was appointed upon the accession to office of the court which at the close of its term, appointed Jones. That time the Supreme Court decided in favor of Wolff.

NEGRO WAR VETERAN WHO SHOT DOCTOR GETS 6 MONTHS

Says He Was "Out of His Head" at Veterans' Bureau Where He Went to Complaint of Rating.

Joshua Haughton, negro war veteran, who shot Dr. Joseph Ebel in the offices of the United States Veterans' Bureau, 4030 Chouteau avenue, Jan. 21, because he was dissatisfied with his rating as a disabled soldier, was given a six-months' jail sentence by a jury which found him guilty of assault to kill in Circuit Judge Taylor's court yesterday.

Haughton made a tearful plea in his own defense declaring he was "out of his head" and didn't know what he was doing" when he began shooting wildly with a revolver in the Veterans' Bureau office.

Dr. Ebel, who was shot in the arm, has recovered and testified yesterday as to the circumstances of the assault. The testimony was that Haughton came to the office to complain of his rating and had been directed to a chair by a clerk who was looking for papers in the case. Suddenly the negro arose and fired several shots, one of which hit Dr. Ebel.

Haughton said he brought the weapon with him "to kill himself if he didn't get a higher rating." He declared he could not remember just what had happened.

The liquid was ignited when Woodson attempted to light a cigarette. He was taken to the city hospital.

She neglected her gums

A dentist would have told him

4 out of 5 are marked

Vain regrets won't restore lost beauty

There's no way to get around it. Dental statistics show that four out of every five over 40—and thousands younger, too—are victims of Pyorrhea. Do you want to avoid this dread disease?

Prevent tooth decay below the gum-line

As the soil nourishes the tree roots, the gums nourish the teeth. And as the tree decays if you bare the roots, so do the teeth decay when gum shrinkage starts in.

This condition—one of the first stages of Pyorrhea—is very common and something that ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to prevent. If not checked promptly it will lead to loss of teeth and serious organic diseases.

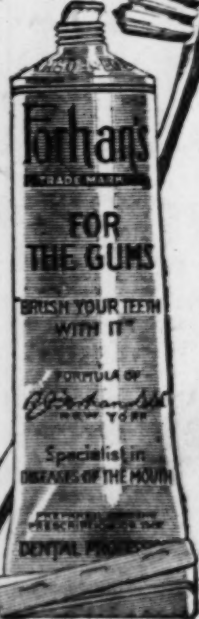

Forhan's Checkmates Pyorrhea

If used in time and used consistently twice a day, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. It will preserve the gums in their pink, normal, healthy condition, safeguard your health and keep your mouth clean, fresh and wholesome.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

'Millionaire Orphan' May

SHEPHERD DENIED
FREEDOM ON BAIL

McClintock Heir Occupies Same County Jail Cell in Which Young Leopold Awaited Trial.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 19.—William D. Shepherd, foster father of William McClintock, "millionaire orphan," today occupied the same County Jail cell in which Nathan Leopold Jr. awaited trial nine months ago for killing Robert Franks, while prosecutors investigated a theory that the typhoid germs he is accused of giving McClintock to kill him may have come from the City Health Department.

They established a connection between two Health Department employees and the National University of Sciences, whose head, Charles C. Falman, named with Shepherd in the indictment charging McClintock's murder, said he gave the germs to Shepherd for administering to McClintock. Stationery of the school contained names of members of the faculty the names of Winfield S. Hoeger, a Health Inspector, and Dr. Harry Rand, formerly in the board of diphtheria control.

Until a month ago, prosecutors said, Hoeger's duties had been to receive typhoid and other germ cultures at the City Laboratory. He denied being a faculty member of Falman's school and said he was only a student there. Rand was listed as the medical director of Falman's school.

Denied Release on Bail.
Temporarily denied freedom on bail, Shepherd was taken to the County Jail yesterday afternoon, when a petition for a writ of habeas corpus was dismissed after the indictment against him was returned. It was agreed to go thoroughly into matters of motions and bail at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, when Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, said he would have present Falman and four others whose testimony before the grand jury resulted in the indictment.

In their attempts to free Shepherd, his attorneys challenged the State to establish "corpus delicti" or proof of a crime. The confession of Falman, they contended, could not establish this proof, and, they said, there must be independent proof. "If Falman were put before a jury that jury would not send a dog to the dog pound upon what he may have to say," said William Scott Stewart, noted trial lawyer, representing Shepherd.

Possible exhumation not only of the body of young McClintock, but also those of Mrs. Emma Nelson, who died in 1924, and Dr. Oscar Olson, friend of the family and brother of Harry Olson, Chief Justice of the Municipal Court and instigator of the McClintock death inquiry, was indicated by State's authorities.

Insurance Official Questioned.
Sheriff Hoffman, after a conference with Crowe, during which a man described as a prominent insurance company official was questioned, said other persons would be drawn into the investigation and the other bodies probably would be exhumed.

Falman, although indicted, has not been formally arrested, but is held in custody of the State's Attorney. Meanwhile, he is being further questioned regarding his story that he furnished the germs for a promised $100,000 and instructed Shepherd in methods to introduce them into the body of McClintock. Employees of downtown hotels, where Falman said he and Shepherd frequently met to make their plans, have been interrogated by prosecutors in an effort to find persons who might have seen them together. Miss Etta Hauser, a hotel cashier, said she had seen them apart but never together.

Hearing on the contest of the purported will of young McClintock, which left the bulk of his estate of $1,000,000 to Shepherd, was continued yesterday to May 1.

Attorneys for Miss Isabelle Pope, now in Los Angeles, who was left an $8000 annuity in the will and who waited with a marriage license at McClintock's death bed, said she would remain in the West. Through them, Miss Pope expressed a willingness to aid the prosecution in any possible way, and it was expected she would be one of the principal witnesses for the State.

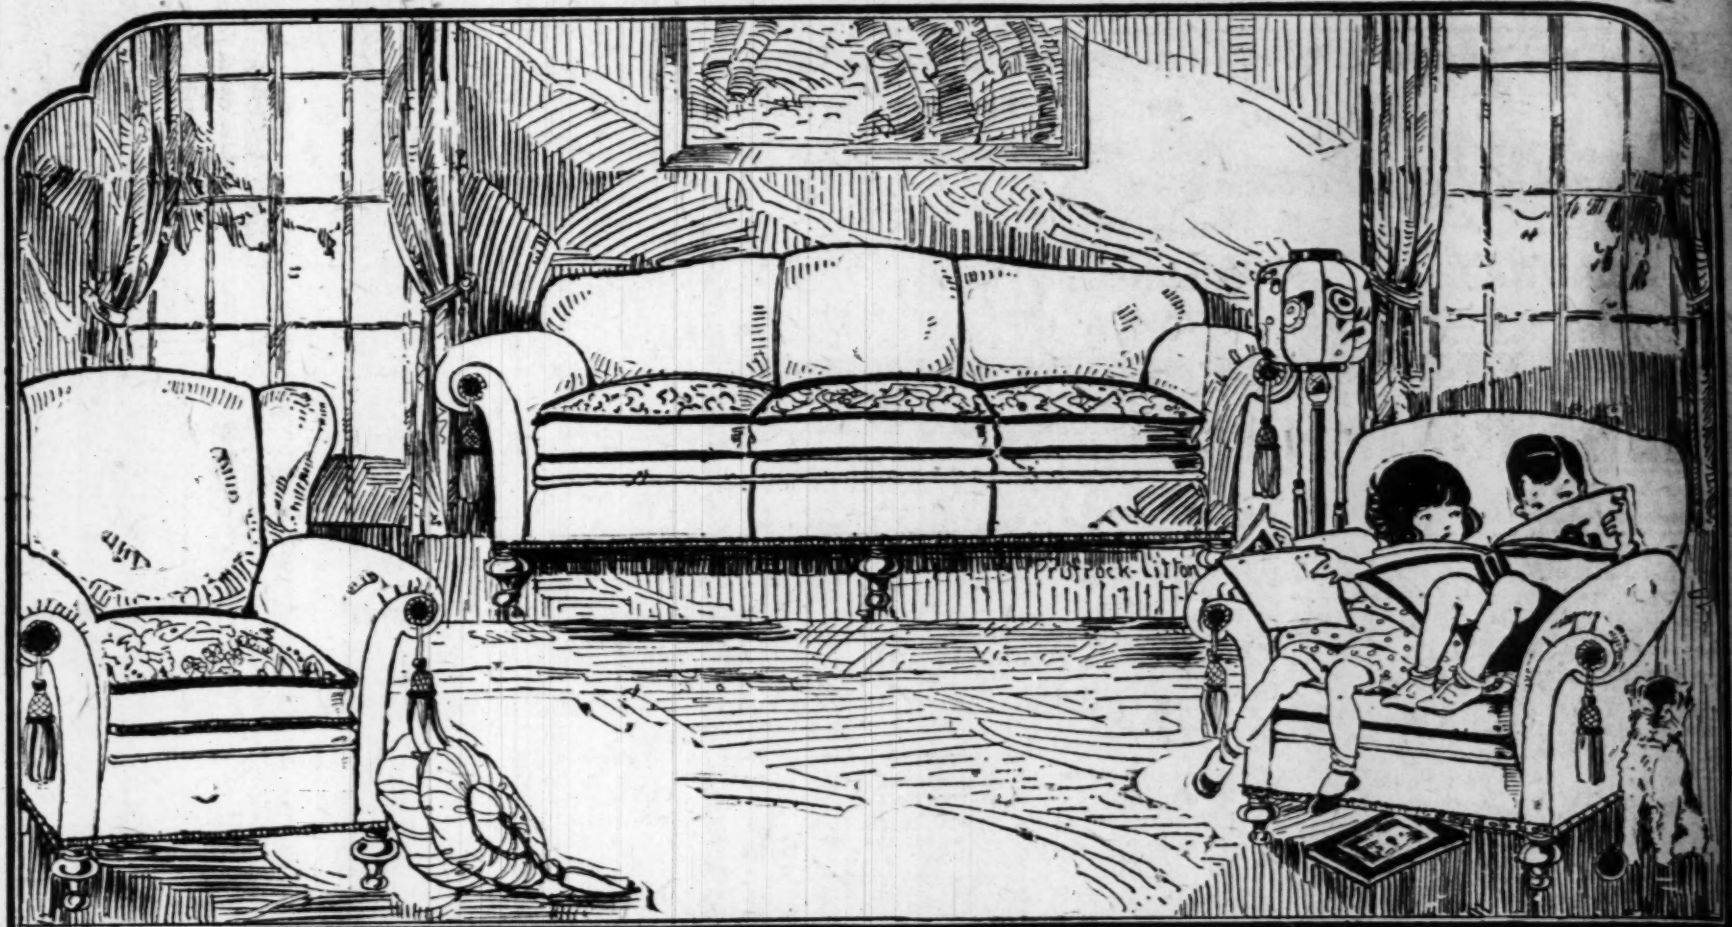

Denies Embassy Was Attacked.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Peruvian embassy was authorized in an official cable last night from Lima to "deny emphatically" that the American embassy there had been attacked during demonstrations against President Coolidge's award in the Tacna-Arica dispute with Chile. Reports to this effect, said the message, were "absolutely untrue."

By Associated Press.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 12.—The leasing of Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair was deliberately concealed from Congress and the public, according to testimony read at the naval oil lease annulment suit here today from the deposition of Rear Admiral J. K. Robison, chief of Navy engineering.

"We concealed what was being done in the Wyoming reserve because we wanted to get it done," Robison said on cross-examination conducted by Owen J. Roberts of Government counsel.

In reply to another question, the Admiral denied that Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, had said to him in effect that they would go ahead with the leasing plans. "And then let Congress hold."

Robison also admitted concealing some of the facts concerning the lease negotiations when asked for them by former Representative P. S. Kelley of Michigan.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 12.—With a brief commentary on "wild charges," and "cheap attempts to make reputations by defamatory attacks," Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, has taken his departure from the scene of the Teapot Dome trial.

It was his first utterance since his indictment. He did not take the witness stand, however, but departed, saying he would maintain until what I consider to be the proper time that silence which I have adhered to up to the present.

"I have made no statement," he said, "concerning the pending case for the cancellation of the Mammoth Oil lease nor about any other case, criminal or civil, concerning naval oil matters since the cases were filed or the indictments found, except that I was gratified to know that the cases were finally in court where rights of parties and witnesses would be respected and protected without regard to wild charges or cheap attempts to make reputations by defamatory attacks."

At the same time, Harry F. Sinclair's chief counsel, Martin W. Littleton, was opening the case for the defense with a broadside to the effect that the courtroom was a "sanctuary after being haunted through the fetid tropical jungles of Senatorial scandals and chased across the plains of presidential politics."

"We hear the cry of the pack more," he declared, "in launching into a summary of the defense. The $25,000 in Liberty bonds were part of a retainer for services in going to England and Russia, but the money was not used. Sinclair would base his defense, Littleton said, on the testimony of Admiral John K. Robison, who was chief of the Bureau of Engineering; H. Foster Bain, chief of the Bureau of Mines; and A. W. Ammons, formerly petroleum expert in the bureau. From this testimony, he said, the defense would argue that the Teapot Dome lease was entered into after full discussion and with no taint of fraud, conspiracy or bribery.

Edward H. Chandler, counsel for the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co., followed, with an argument that the Government's complaint was a "suborned bill" fired at random in hope of hitting somewhere. Hereafter Littleton took the witness stand, and substituting for Sinclair's personal attorney, Col. J. Zevely, read the answers Zevely gave during the Senate investigation as to the $25,000 in Liberty bonds Sinclair lent to Fall in 1922. George P. Hoover, another of defense counsel, played the role of Senator Walsh, reading the questionary, while Littleton read Zevely's replies. Later in the day, Littleton played the role of Admiral Robison, reading Robison's answers contained in a deposition ready put in evidence in the California civil case against Edward Doherty.

WITH BROTHER, HITS PLAN FOR DEMOCRATIC HARMONYDeclares No Program That Wins East Will Satisfy West and South—Bryans Entertain Dawes and Wheeler.Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Bryan brothers, William J. and Charles W., arrived in Washington yesterday and hurled a detonating bomb into the Democratic harmony program of Franklin D.
Roosevelt. The paper, on the alliance between the West and South for the control of the Government; held out an invitation to the third party advocates to join the rejuvenated Democratic party, and proposed a modified brand of Government ownership.William Jennings Bryan was silent throughout the exposition of this ambitious program. He is in Washington as a member of the Presbyterian Church Council and the discussion of politics was left to the late Democratic vice-presidential candidate. There was a suspicion abroad, however, that while it was the voice of Gov. Bryan it was the thought of William J.
The brothers called on President Coolidge and then divided for the performance of their respective tasks.Gov. Bryan evaded direct reference to the Franklin D. Roosevelt program of Democratic harmony, which has been endorsed by such men as John W. Davis, Senator Walsh of Montana and others. Indirectly, however, Gov. Bryan gave the harmony convention program a back-handed slap by saying:
"I see no plan or program which will give the Democratic party the support of a majority of votes in the Eastern section without setting
it up against the desires of the voters in the West and South.""West and South Can Elect." Then he added this:
"I do not believe the Democrats can outbid or should attempt to outbid the Republican party forthe high finance and high tariff votes of the East. Those elements are out of our reach. The Democratic party, if it sticks to the principle of equal rights for all established by Jefferson, is the party of the people.""I have no hesitancy in saying that the Democratic party is the only party through which the great agricultural vote of the country can find an outlet through which to accomplish its ends. The South and the West, when acting together politically, as they are now learning to do, through co-operative marketing and the introduction of scientific methods, can elect a President and a Congress in accord with their general views.""The people of the West are more interested in issues than parties. Though the Western states are normally Republican and are carried by Democrats only when they offer more progressive issues
than the Republicans, so independent has the voting become that one might almost say there are no political parties in the West."Dawes at Birthday Dinner.
The two Bryans were hosts jointly at a dinner last night. From the viewpoint of Charles W., it was a birthday party in honor of W. J., who is 65 years old today, while W.
J. looked upon it as a dinner in honor of Charles W. Several Democratic Senators and Representatives attended.Vice-President Dawes was a guest, as was Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice-presidential candidate last fall on the La Follette ticket. The Vice-President was the target of jocular attack from nearly every speaker for what was termed his "activity and inactivity" in the Senate. Dawes took the chiding good naturedly, insisting they were making friends for him.AMERICANS LEAVE

Roast-Pigs in Glee.Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1925.
NUEVA GERONA, Isle of Pines, March 19.—During the transition from temporary control to actual ownership of Cuba, the Isle of Pines
has been the scene of picturesque fiestas by the dark-skinned natives, and manifestations of bitterness by the "enslaved" Americans whom the United States Senate by approving the Isle of Pines treaty places under the jurisdiction of Cuban politicians who, they fear, will make playthings out of their liberty and property.With two exceptions the American flag has disappeared from the Isle of Pines while from every staff Cuban colors flutter. One of the exceptions is the flying of the Stars and Stripes draped in mourning.
This is a small flag placed in the hands of a statuette of Uncle Sam
in the main street of the window
of the American-owned newspaper, the Appeal. That paper was forced to suspend publication because all the matters set for this week's issue were seditious under the new conditions. Uncle Sam's hat and the pedestal of his statue, draped with crepe, attracted much attention as the crowd of 200 marched from the dock to the city hall plaza
for a feast on 30 roast pigs sacrificed on the altar of territorial expansion and eaten at a table a block long by standing diners, many of whom trooped in from the palin-thatched huts of the interior, some riding lean ponies and others coming in wagons beating tom-toms and blowing horns. The affair was orderly except for occasional jeering by Americans who had led the 24-hour fight for the right to take the island United States territory.Boycotted by Americans.
The second American flag was discussible in the Santa Rita Hotel in the town of Santa Fe. It was displayed alongside an equally large Cuban flag. The hotel is owned by Robert I. Wall, Chicago
realtor. The hotel manager, Mr.
Cambell, is said to be the only American on the island favoring surrender to Cuba. He went to Washington recently to plead for the adoption of the treaty as a representative American. It is reported that the Cubans financed his expedition. For that and the fact that he has only been here
six months and does not own a foot of island land, the American producers have boycotted the hotel,
refusing even to supply vegetables,
milk or other articles of food.The exodus of Americans began on Monday with the departure of the first steamer for Batabano
since this action of the Senate.
The first to book passage was Aaron Koritzky, the only Jewish resident on the Isle of Pines. He came here 25 years ago. He has acquired stores and property owning valued at $50,000. Now he is selling out for whatever he can get
and is going to surrender his American citizenship and become a Chilean. His departure will probably be followed by that of many others.Grapefruit Grower Leaves.
Deeper significance is attached to the departure of Frederick C.
Sweetland, head of the largest enterprise on the island, with grapefruit groves and a packing plant representing an investment of $1-000,000. He gave orders on Friday last to put an additional force of 25 men to work on Monday.
day. When the news of the action on the treaty came he countermanded the order and left with his wife and two sons for his home in Cleveland, O., expressing utter amusement and disgust with the action of the Senate.
"Congress reduced the import duty on citrus fruit from the island," said Sweetland. "The grapefruit industry cannot survive and without that the island itself cannot survive commercially. Under Cuban control and without American direction it will revert soon to the pasture it was before our pioneers began its development."SENATE ENDS EXTRA SESSION;

Yorker for L. C. C. Not Even Considered.By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Senate adjourned sine die yesterday, bringing to an end the stormy special session which began March 14. The close saw no abatement of the intensity and feeling that characterized the entire session resulting in a breach with the White House.President Coolidge continued to the very last to challenge senatorial opinion on his nominations to office by resubmitting the name of Thomas F. Woodlock of New York to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which the Senate failed to confirm at the last session.As in the case of Charles E.
Warren to be Attorney-General,
the Senate accepted the issue with the President by refusing again to give its approval to the Woodlock nomination. It was not even considered by the Interstate Commerce Committee to which it was referred. Friends of the President believe he will give Woodlock a renewed appointment.

and Woodlock nominations, the

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Sec-

called upon for a ruling on the "gagging" of Count Michael Karolyi, first President of Hungary,
now in the United States.Petitioners representing the American Civil Liberties Union put the case directly to the Secretary of State yesterday and asked for a decision. The "gag" upon Count Karolyi was placed there during the regime of Secretary of State Hughes as condition to the Count's
admission into the United States.
This was described to Secretary
Kellogg as a violation of the long-established precedent of giving asylum and granting free speech to foreign visitors.The movement which resulted in the representations made to Kellogg originated at a luncheon of the American Civil Liberties Union
in New York on March 7. Among those who appeared before Kellogg
were Norman Hapgood and Morris Ernst of New York, Herbert Quick,
author of Berkeley Springs, W.
Va.; Gilson Gardner, the Rev. John
A. Ryan, William H. Johnston,
Mrs. George Odell, David Thompson and Miss Isabelle Kendig of Washington.Gardner, as chairman of the delegation, urged the removal of all restrictions on Karolyi, pointing out that the act on which the State Department had based its position was a holdover of wartime legislation and that the country would welcome a return to the liberal traditions on which the nation was founded.Gardner instanced the different reception accorded nearly 100 years ago to another Hungarian patriot, Kossuth, for whom a battleship was sent to transport him to the United States, and who was honored by the President and by Daniel Webster, then Secretary of State.
"We have done an unprecedented thing," said Gardner, "to deny to Count Karolyi the freedom we according Kossuth, and which we have accorded to the spokesmen

GENEVA, March 19.—Recu-descence of disorders on the Lithuanian-Polish frontiers have been brought to the attention of the League of Nations in appeal by Karnekius, Lithuanian Foreign Minister, which is regarded here as a result of the Pope recognizing Poland's right to Vilna and his appointment of a Polish Bishop.
The protest from Lithuania declares that 300 Polish border guards defeated the Lithuanians
March 16 at Szervinty, between Kovno and Vilna. The next day
the Lithuanians counter-attacked, driving back the Poles, but losing three prisoners.The situation is tense. The Lithuanians ask that the League demand release of the prisoners and a guarantee against further aggression. The Lithuanians and the Poles were most cordial during the council last week, when minorities were discussed.
General sentiment is against the Poles, who are regarded as the greatest trouble makers in Middle Europe.It is pointed out that the affair shows the instability of the Eastern Europe status quo. A special session of the council may be convened if the crisis becomes acute.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—
John Garibaldi Sargent, the new Attorney-General, arrived in Washington yesterday afternoon from Ludlow, Vt.He put his belongings in the home of Justice Harlan F. Stone, his predecessor, took the oath of office before the chief clerk of the Department of Justice, telegraphed
the home folks of his safe arrival,
had a 45-minute talk with the President, returned to the Department of Justice to get acquainted and finally anchored at Justice
Stone's, which will be his home until he finds a residence of his own.He looked 7 feet tall, though he admits only 6 feet 3, the added inches being attributable to a broad, fawn-colored hat of near wild west architecture. He brought only a suitcase and his rubbers in a paper bag. He was met at the train by Assistant Attorney-General Holland and Col. Ed Starling of the White House secret service,
both six-footers.Starling became well acquainted with the new Cabinet member during the President's vacation at Plymouth. They did some trout fishing together."Judge," said Starling—every lawyer for many years is a "Judge"
in New England—I want you to meet Judge Holland."They piloted Sargent to a White House automobile, tarrying on the way to give the news photographers a chance. Finally he said:
"Good Lord! Haven't you got pretty nearly enough pictures?"His is the most weather-beaten face in the national capital, covered with fine wrinkles, as is frequently the case with men who spend all the time they can in the open air. He said he felt "like a cat in a strange garret," and said his opposition to the prohibition amendment: "I think that question can be better answered by my neighbors who know me and my record."The appointment of Sargent caught the Antislavery League off its guard. There was nothing for Wayne Wheeler to say but that he had no doubt the new Attorney-General would enforce all the laws.
"I haven't made any real plans,"
said Sargent, "this whole thing came so unexpectedly. I shall do my duty, of course, and give the office all the ability I possess."He said the post was first offered by the President Tuesday
over the telephone.
But Senator Dale of Vermont,
who was not happy at the statement in some newspapers that the President had not consulted him about the appointment, said: "The political differences between representatives of the two parties are of no consequence. I mean to do all in my power to help make his administration successful. The President discussed him with me a week or 10 days ago."Shake-Up in Department.
There will be considerable of a shake-up in the Department of Justice. Solicitor-General Beck is expected to resign. He twice has been passed over when a vacancy
at the top made him acting Attorney-General. Col. William J.
Donovan moves up to assistant to the Attorney-General, a place vacated by A. T. Seymour of Ohio.William F. Martin, private secretary to both Harry M. Daugherty and Stone, is to have another assignment, while Mrs. Mabey Wil-brandt, who had charge of prohibition work and was reported to be on the eve of leaving is expected to remain.The changes eliminate most of the Daugherty personnel. Two new Assistant Attorneys-General were provided Monday, when the President sent to the Senate the names of Herman J. Galloway of Indiana and Ira L. Leath of Rhode Island.
The first matter of general public interest with which the new Attorney-General will have to deal is the case of Senator Wheeler.The grand jury, after hearing a lot of witnesses, including the Senator himself, took a recess without acting.

CAUSE OF TORNADES
EXPLAINED BY HAYESForecaster Says They Are Due
to Disturbance in Area of Low Barometric Pressure.A particularly violent disturbance in one quadrant of a center of low barometric pressure was the cause of the tornado which yesterday took hundreds of lives in Southern Missouri, Illinois, Northern Tennessee and Indiana, according to Montrose W. Hayes, official Government forecaster.Every day, he explained, a center of low pressure, or a "low," is traveling across the United States to the accompaniment of rain, snow
and more or less severe storms, but it is only when an unknown factor comes in that a tornado results."Hundreds of 'lows' pass without tornadoes," Hayes said. "And we are unable definitely to state just what produces the violent tornado effect. The 'low' traveling across the country we know as a cyclone or cyclonic area. It is a general circular disturbance in the atmosphere which could be likened to the effect produced when the stopper is pulled out of a wash basin and the water begins to whirl out."The "low" which produced the tornado yesterday was in New Mexico Tuesday morning. Yesterday morning it was in Northwestern Arkansas. Today it is in Western New York. Some factor, unknown to us, caused particular violence in the southeastern quadrant of the "low" as it passed south of St. Louis yesterday.St. Louis was on the northern border of the "low" yesterday and suffered the usual rain. Today, with the "low" gone by, St. Louis is in a "high" and has fine weather. The highest wind velocity recorded here yesterday was 38 miles an hour about 4 p. m. while the tornado was traveling across Southern Illinois.JARDINE ORDERS RECORDS OF

tioned During Interview.Victor J. Miller, Republican nominee for Mayor by grace of intense personal organization, yesterday stepped into the office of the Mayor—but only for a conference with its 12-year occupant, Mayor Kiel. Miller hopes to succeed him on April 7, municipal election day,
and in furtherance of that desire is busy consulting the political factions he defeated in the primary.
"Hello, Vic, what can I do for you?" asked the Mayor of the nominee, as he has said to thousands of others in the last 12 years.Miller replied that he merely wanted to see him to get his advice about the party platform which is to be adopted tomorrow afternoon
at a meeting of Republican nominees for Mayor, Comptroller and 14 members of the Board of Aldermen at Republican City Committee headquarters, in the Platters Building. Democrats will adopt a platform at the "Igoe-for-Mayor"
headquarters, in the Commercial Building, at the same time, and the Socialists also will draft their document.Miller's Attitude Changed.
"Miller had stated in broad-
while he was trying to break machine control of the city" that the first thing he would do would be to call upon the Mayor and say
"Henry, where are the traps and the pitfalls which beset an administration? Where are those creaky back stairs in the city hall
I want to know, so I can have them removed."Yesterday Miller overlooked these questions in his intense interest in the platform.
It was Miller's second visit to the City Hall since his nomination. On the previous occasion he had also discussed the party platform, but with Comptroller Nolte and William T. Findlay, secretary to the Mayor. The "City Hall boys" have been fulsome in their expressions of loyalty and the strained feeling which existed between the factions after Miller's primary victory is slowly giving place to a new alliance. Miller is trying to make Miller Republicans out of Aloe Republicans and Grimm Republicans.The Election Board recount of the Republican primary vote gave Miller a plurality of 13,871, six votes more than the unofficial statistics, it was announced yesterday. Miller received 57,570; Louis
P. Aloe, 44,409; former Circuit
Judge J. Hugo Grimm, 27,511; Circuit Judge Robert W. Hall, $891, and George E. Dieckmann, Comptroller Nolte, unopposed, received 138,383 votes.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 19.—Kansas, the last of the States without an official flag, is now ready to add its standard to the collection on display at the Postoffice Department in Washington. After a controversy extending over 10 years, the State Legislature has adopted a design
proffered by the Women's Relief Corps.The new State banner is of solid blue, bearing at its center a sunflower, whose petals enclose and surround the State seal. Above the sunflower is the word Kansas.Thus was the sunflower given official approval as the State flower along with the State banner, and this year, too, the meadow lark was elected State bird by the school children of Kansas. Wheat and the sunflower vied with each other for the honor when the Legislators debated the adoption of the flag, but the House of Representatives upheld the name of the Sunflower
State despite the popularity of Kansas' motto: "Kansas Grows the Best Wheat in the World."Selection of a flag design has been a controversial issue in every Legislature for a decade.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT- FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

An Appeal to Independent Voters.

OUR admirable editorial on party politics and party allegiance, appearing on the 16th instance, meets my unqualified approval.

Here you touch, with your usual strength of utterance, the most important matter for the consideration of the voter. This standing by the party policy is the destruction of good political ideals in every election and particularly is that the case in the coming election when the only important and vital question is how to elect the best man for the office of Mayor. In my opinion Mr. Igoe is that man.

Here at last we have a strong and a good man of the record and proved courage who offers himself for Mayor. Mr. Igoe is unchallenged and in every way fitted for the task he seeks. Vote for the best man regardless of party is your advice and that it is good advice and sound must be evident to even the most stubborn party man.

Your editorial is a classic on this whole question of party allegiance—so much boasted of by the illiterate voter and the narrow politician. I thank you for it and beg you to continue the campaign along exactly this important line.

Will Higher Fares Mean Better Service?

THE account in Thursday evening's issue, given out by Rolla Wells, in which he says it is necessary to increase the rate of fare or have the U. R. taxes reduced, is amusing.

If it comes to increasing the rate of fare, does the U. R. assure and guarantee that each and every passenger will have a seat, which the bus company does not? This is one of the main reasons why so many people patronize the bus company. They have service and comfort.

Why should the U. R. taxes be reduced? Are they a privileged corporation? Why not enlighten the public on this matter? A LOYAL ST. LOUISAN.

Prefers Igoe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

VICTOR MILLER is the worst and weakest candidate ever nominated in St. Louis. Your recent editorials certainly gave the facts. It is surprising how people vote. I have been a Republican and always voted the ticket for 25 years. On election day myself, as well as four in the family, will vote for the first time for a Democrat—Mr. Igoe, who has the qualifications to make a good Mayor. He will receive the votes of thousands of Republicans, and has a splendid chance for being elected.

Night and Day Bank Muddle.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I READ an article in your paper March 16, where the House rejects a bill to repay the Rosa shortage. Being one of the depositors of the defunct Night and Day Bank, I would like to ask these gentlemen who in the wide world is going to pay this shortage? Mr. Rosa, just like the rest, has been fighting the case for the last two years, with whose money? Therefore, let the State pay the difference. If I am not mistaken the First National Bank was willing to take the whole affair in their hands and pay the depositors 90c on every dollar. Why did this fail? What has become of the depositors' committee? Don't you gentlemen think it is about time to call another meeting and make the State come clean?

JOSEPH RUZICKA.

"Our" Civic Organizations.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN Mr. C. T. Treadway's letter on March 16, he speaks scornfully of "your Chamber of Commerce." If Mr. Treadway is a St. Louisan, the tenor of his letter is significant of the few knickers we still have in our city.

We, the citizens of St. Louis, should not speak of "your Chamber of Commerce" or "your Junior Chamber of Commerce" but of "our" civic organizations. I would even take a step further to suggest that we all become members of these civic organizations and be able to say "my" Chamber of Commerce.

All of these organizations are groups of able and competent men banded together for the sole purpose of advancing the interests of St. Louis. Each has done much to make possible the strides St. Louis has taken within the past 10 years. Who is responsible for the $37,000,000 bond issue?

We have no room in our city for knickers. We are all progressives. Our community is our life. By all joining hands to help we can assure for our city the place it rightfully deserves.

A JUNIOR CHAMBER MEMBER.

CHAMBERLAIN'S PEACE METHOD.

The substance of the security and arbitration protocol of the League of Nations has not been permanently abandoned on account of the British objections voiced by Lord Chamberlain before the Council of the League. The Council, by resolution, has referred the protocol, together with expressions by Great Britain and other Governments, to the next meeting of the Assembly in September.

The Chamberlain objections were mellowed by a manifest sincerity and sympathy with the purposes of the arbitration pact or protocol. Their character stands out in clear contrast with that of the partisan harangues made in this country against the League of Nations. From such constructive criticisms and objections as those offered by Chamberlain the peace of the world has nothing to lose. Rather it has something to gain by criticism which would strengthen the safeguards of peace.

The national interest represented by Chamberlain became apparent in his remarks about economic sanctions provided in the protocol. If simultaneously directed by the world, he said, against a state which was not economically self-sufficient, these sanctions, or penalties, would be a weapon of incalculable power. England, of course, is one of the Powers not economically self-sufficient. Another objection, according to Chamberlain, applies to the prohibition against war preparation while the differences of states are being arbitrated. An aggressor nation, he said, could arm itself completely before picking an intended quarrel, while the peaceful nation would be held powerless to defend itself if attacked after the failure of arbitration.

Lord Chamberlain declared his allegiance to the principles and purposes of the protocol, but suggested their application in special defensive arrangements framed in the spirit of the covenant and operating under the guidance of the League of Nations. "These objects," said Britain's spokesman, "can best be attained by knitting together the nations most immediately concerned, and whose differences might lead to a renewal of strife, by means of treaties framed with the sole object of maintaining, as between themselves, an unbroken peace."

Surely this expression cannot be interpreted as advocating a renewal of the inflammable "balance of power" system. It may be interpreted rather as espousing special arrangements of arbitration and security between nations whose contiguity of territory or overlapping of interests expose them to a liability of friction. The Chamberlain view, moreover, embodies the broad principle that peace is best preserved not by an automatic machinery embodied in law, but by special and continuing attention to the problem of maintaining harmony through justice and the arbitration of differences.

LET'S HAVE A MOTORBUS LAW.

The inveterate tendency of persons and organizations in considering proposed legislation deemed to touch property interests is to view with alarm. This probably explains why desperate appeals are being sent to members of the State Legislature by neighborhood organizations in St. Louis to have the motorbus regulation bill, which has now passed the Senate, killed or emasculated by amendment.

The burden of many, if not most, of these appeals and protests is that the McCawley bill in its present form would drive the independent motorbus business out of St. Louis.

No legislation is going to drive regular motorbus service out of St. Louis any more than it could drive the dry goods business or the coal business out of St. Louis. Motorbus transportation is a settled institution that has come to stay. Public opinion would not brook prescriptive laws. If a law, on application, proved to be of this character it would be amended or repealed.

The essential thing for St. Louis street car and bus riders right now is to get all transportation service under a common control so that one service may not exercise undue advantage over another. Necessarily, in order to apply such control, a certain degree of discretion must be left to the controlling body—the State Public Service Commission. The "Paragraph G" which has drawn objection from the motorbus partisans falls under this head. It leaves to the discretion of the commission the matter of permitting the street car company to establish certain bus lines in conjunction with its rail service.

Amendment may improve the measure. We do not pretend to say that it would not. We only hope that a control will be established which will maintain all services and protect low fares in St. Louis. Such fares cannot withstand uncontrolled competition indefinitely. Legislators should not be stampeded by the alarmist fears of constituents to kill all legislation whatsoever on the subject of motorbus regulation.

WHAT'S IN JOHN G. SARGENT'S NAME.

John Garibaldi Sargent—there's a name to delight the imagination. In it is the suggestion of Vermont's granite hills, of generations of cool Yankee blood. In it also is the flaming color of Italy, an Italy under the spell of a heroic personality whose symbol was a red shirt. Names sometimes throb with meaning. That of the new Attorney-General, possessing elements as foreign to each other as Montpelier is to Padua, has an unusually rich connotation.

For the Yankee parents of John Garibaldi Sargent, who was born on Oct. 13, 1860, to go that far afield to name their Yankee son means that one or both of them was profoundly influenced by the brilliant career of Giuseppe Garibaldi, the Italian patriot. Just a month before the child was born Garibaldi entered Naples as its liberator, while the city went mad with joy. The winning of Naples for Italy was the high point in Garibaldi's career.

So that, just when little John Garibaldi Sargent looked wonderingly upon the world for the first time, that world was vibrating with admiration for a man in a red shirt. Before and after 1860, Giuseppe Garibaldi dealt mighty strokes for liberty. But in 1860, meeting large enemy forces with a small band of followers, he seemed like some huge Titan, with a breath of fire and a hand of steel, against whom nothing could prevail.

Surely, with such a name as his, John Garibaldi Sargent must feel something of Giuseppe Garibaldi's passion for liberty. No doubt, as a child, he listened wide-eyed on his father's knee to tales of the marvelous Italian for whom he is named. No doubt, as a man, this early influence has developed into a trait of character. It would be most disillusioning if a man named John Garibaldi Sargent did not hold liberty as something dear and precious, if his blood did not quicken for the same cause to which Giuseppe Garibaldi offered his life a thousand times.

REASSURING LEGISLATIVE PROSPECTS.

The statement of Democratic State Senators of their plan of handling the financial problem of the State is reassuring. Signed by all Democratic Senators at the capital, it declares that no tax increase measures will be considered until both houses are practically agreed on appropriations necessary to the maintenance of the State government and its institutions, but that if, after "a careful review and estimate of the revenue available to meet these appropriations," there remains "serious doubt as to the sufficiency of the revenue . . . we will not adjourn the General Assembly until after such is fairly and fully considered."

If this be in fact and in truth what shall come to pass it appears that the Democratic dictators of the upper chamber have been enjoying a quiet joke on those who have permitted themselves to be unduly exercised over the prospect. Nothing could be more logical than a full and fair consideration of the sufficiency of revenue after needed appropriations had been finally agreed upon.

It is to be assumed, of course, that the Senators have already given the subject such study and consideration as will enable them to act with authoritative knowledge when the restricted time for action arrives. It is the result that counts. If that is satisfactory the method is immaterial. The real significance of the senatorial statement is its assumption of responsibility. It affords the assurance that the Legislature will not adjourn leaving the fiscal affairs of the State in a wreck, with each party gaily loading the responsibility on the other.

MOTHER GOOSE IS A WOLF.

Fe, fi, fo, fum, an inquisition of kindergarten teachers is after the blood of old Mother Goose. Led by a Mrs. Stoner, who has written "Substitutes for Mother Goose Rhymes," they would banish little Johnny Green and Tom, Tom, the Piper's Son from the realms of childhood. Master Green put a pussy down a well, and Tom, Tom stole a pig. They were bad children. Fired by their example, good little girls and boys might be led astray. So argue Mrs. Stoner and other experts.

Of course, that settles it. Farewell, Mother Goose! She was a wolf in Granny's bed, after all. Her tales were bloody, ugly and vicious. Who spent delightful minutes wondering who killed Cock Robin; who went breathless to bed lest a chopper to chop off our heads appear; who smelled the blood of an Englishman, have made out as best we could with such a lurid past. Our children will not have this temptation to rapine and murder. They must be content with Mother Stoner's substitutes.

A final sigh. She was not all bad, poor Mother Goose. Surely "Jack and Jill" are above reproach and Bobby Shaftoe's trip to sea a high-minded adventure. Yet Mother Goose did preach bigness, the wretch, with her tale of going to St. Ives and meeting a man who had seven wives. Perhaps Mother Stoner and her followers are right. But we cannot resist the fond remembrance of "Ride-A-Cock Horse to Banbury Cross." No. We insist. Mother Goose was not all bad.

INCONSISTENT FANATICS.

In the argument on the Oregon school law before the United States Supreme Court, former United States Senator George E. Chamberlain, speaking for the proponents of the law, said that "religious instruction was obtained, not in the schools, but at the mother's knee." The law in question would close all religious schools and compel all children up to the age of 16 to attend only the public schools.

The argument that children should learn religion at their mother's knee must mean that no reading of the Bible will be permitted in the Oregon public schools, because Bible reading is a form of religious teaching.

But the same element which caused the passage of the Oregon school law is doing its utmost to obtain the passage of laws in other states compelling teachers in public schools to read a part of the Bible daily to the children, under a penalty.

The inconsistency is obvious. It is not a question of children getting religious teaching but of furthering the cause of that un-American bigotry fostered by the Ku Klux Klan. In either case, religious liberty is trampled upon. Compulsory Bible reading in one State, the closing of certain religious schools in another. That is the aim of these throwbacks to medieval intolerance.

THE BARBERS TALK IT OVER.

Charles F. Willoughby, a member of the Master Barbers' Association, is an ingenious man—and a dangerous one. He discusses the rise of the barber's social status from those days, never to be recalled, when a haircut cost a quarter and a shave could be had for a dime. At such paltry prices, Mr. Willoughby says, the barber was very low in the social scale. No one received him, and his name was a jest and an byword in the comic papers. When the inspired scissors artists raised the prices to 35 cents and 15, barbers were treated with more respect. It became a privilege to call the man at the head chair by his first name, and a bowing acquaintance with the latest recruit at the other end was not to be despised.

So runs Mr. Willoughby's argument. When the price was raised to 50 cents for a haircut and 25 for a shave, barbering took another leap toward social eminence. The shops became resplendent in white tile. Various terrible devices, electrically controlled, made their appearance. The winsome manœuvre, as sympathetic as she is beautiful, came to stay. Menials appeared to prevent anyone from shucking a collar without assistance. The barber shop became a brilliantly lighted salon, with the barbers themselves as men who converse expertly and have the utmost savoir faire.

But Mr. Willoughby is worried about the future. Must the barber be content with what he has? No. Says this Danton of tonsorial revolution. Let the price of haircuts go to $1 and "we should be considered on the same plane as, say, the dentists." There is danger in this suggestion, and the decision of the association is awaited with fear and trembling. For this giddy scheme may not end here. The barber of tomorrow, not content with being on a new and throat specialist. Finally he might decide that the only plane for him is that of a retired capitalist.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

Socrates: No doubt you young men read about the contest between the President and the Senate?

Glaucou: Yes, Socrates.

Socrates: Perhaps you got some impression from it.

Glaucou: If so, we have said nothing about it.

Socrates: Of course not. I dare say nothing would have been said about it anywhere had it not been that we were talking of the incident at the agora. Critics remarked that popular sympathy seemed to be with the Senate, which was rather odd considering the majority the President got in the recent election.

Thrasymachus: That was surprising, wouldn't you say?

Socrates: I will tell you what I did say. All of us at times disagree with the Senate, but nevertheless it does represent what remains of the national conscience. Let us go back to the old scandal. No one in the executive branch of the Government saw anything reprehensible about the way in which the naval oil reserves were being dissipated. It was all O. K. at the White House. The Navy Department acquiesced. The Interior Department was actually leading the raid. It was only when the Senate heard about it that anybody was shocked.

Polemarchus: Jove, yes!

Socrates: Would you say that when the country heard of it the indignation of the Senate was shared by the people?

Glaucou: No.

Socrates: Not if we may judge by what happened in the ensuing presidential election. The Republicans thought they were whipped, but they flattered us. They judged us by the Senate.

Thrasymachus: Quite so.

Socrates: Very well. Now we come to Warrenus. The President saw nothing bad in his record and nominated him to be Attorney-General. The Senate was shocked. It twice rejected him. Once more we discovered in the Senate what remains of the national conscience.

Polemarchus: Good for the Senate!

Socrates: You may well say so. We have there our single sense of outrage against invasion of the popular right. It is something that exists in neither the White House nor the United States Supreme Court—not even among ourselves. They were somewhat shocked at the agora when I made that point, but no one attempted to deny it. It is undeniable.

Glaucou: It is, truly. You are a wonder, Socrates. Here you have made us discover virtue in the Senate.

Socrates: It is time we did so. Now let us listen to yon robin's song.

The old method of putting hay on street car floors to keep the feet warm may have had its disadvantages, but unlike the system of today, it can't be said that it was a one-sided affair.

Apologues "What Price Glory," there is the price of intellectual honesty. What it is a Chicago reviewer tells us here:

Carlyle was a bookman. His reading was enormous. To books he went to discover the key to the universe. Yet he never lost his Scotch practicality. He was a universe within himself. His mental activities partook of the nature of thunder and lightning. His writings were oracles. He was devastatingly honest. Jeffrey tried to tone him down, and at last was alienated by Carlyle's increasing social radicalism. He could not stomach it. There was no market for sincerity. Magazine editors tabooed him. He got things published with difficulty. When Fraser's Magazine was printing "Sartor" there was a furor of protests from the subscribers. But Carlyle plowed on. He was rarely disconcerted. Some one must begin to be sincere; why not he? He began to hear of disciples; he always thrived for disciples. He was not so much a literary man as a prophet. Emerson and Mill and John Sterling came to him. But it was a hard life, and he tried to escape it. He applied for several positions in the universities. Nothing came of his applications. He contemplated becoming a civil servant. But he worked on. The first volume of "The French Revolution" was burned by accident. He accepted from the careless borrower only enough money to support himself while he rewrote it.

Yet you can find Carlyle's name in relief upon the frieze or the parapet of any Carnegie library; which is grim humor enough, wouldn't you say?

We don't know what better qualifications a Legislator could have in these piping times than to be grounded in scripture and the classics. During a debate on the motorbus bill this week a Missouri Senator said:

Well, I had rather be the spokesman here of a New York lawyer protecting widows and orphans who are holding the bonds of the bankrupt United Railways Co. than to be a Janus face with the hand of Esau and the voice of Jacob.

We can't see why a man like that shouldn't advance in the public service.

Having reduced life in Nebraska to the colorlessness of an unpainted fence, Mr. Bryan has taken up his residence in Florida, where life is as colorful as the poinsettia, where a ferry takes the thrifty across to the Bahamas, where horse racing and gambling are permitted, and where most of the prominent people you ever heard of spend the winter. Not that Mr. Bryan cares for those things—but why shouldn't the wower stick to its nest?

THE "SERVILE PRESS."

ANSON W. BELDING in McNaughton's

azine.

MY eye happened to scan the Tribune first, and I had not looked before I let out an exclamation of surprise and delight. The occasion for my emotion was the headline of a story on the upper left corner of the Herald-Tribune front page, surely no very obscure position. The headline stated that a "Mrs. H. H. Head" had been caught trying to smuggle $50,000 worth of precious trinkets into the country without the formality of duties thereon. That was interesting. But my eye arose from reading, right up there in the headline, to the words: "Wife of Dependent Head." To gods, was I dreaming? "Dependent Head" was I dreaming? I turned hopefully to the headline of the daily press to see if I had been right.

Next business was to examine what the Tribune Times and the World had had to say about the story. Each had given it the same position. The Times made no mention in the headline to the first paragraph of the account itself that the lady was a partner in Bloomingdale, N. Y., a well-known jewelry store. Each had given it the same position. The Times made no mention in the headline to the first paragraph of the account itself that the lady was a partner in Bloomingdale, N. MACY DEFEATS 21 LOCAL CHESS EXPERTS

Hungarian Champion Wins
Simultaneous Games With Apparent Ease.

Mac might have found 21 models for his statue of "The Thinker" if he had dropped in upon the meeting of the Missouri Pacific St. Louis Chess Club at the Claridge Hotel last night.

Gesa Maroczy, Hungarian champion, was playing those 21 persons simultaneously, and his quick moves gave them lots of food for thought.

The "master" walked from one board to another inside a hollow square of tables on which were 26 of the chess boards. Another was hidden from him by a column at one side, and he played "blindfold" against this local expert, Roland K. Alpiers. Moves were reported by a courier between Alpiers and Maroczy, and the champion had to visualize the whole game of this opponent from memory.

Four of the players against Maroczy were "chess fiends" from the City Club. The others were the shock troops of the consolidated Missouri Pacific and the 75-year-old St. Louis chess clubs. They were the best chess players in town. And the champion defeated them all—even Alpiers.

About 8:30 the first one started and looked at his board in an aggrieved fashion as Maroczy smiled and passed on. The champion had done him wrong—had penetrated his defense and left him not one move. He resigned.

An hour earlier Maroczy had stepped to the player at one corner and made his first move, swiftly, like a trick of sleight-of-hand. His opponent replied as swiftly, and before his hand was off the board Maroczy had made another move and opened his attack on the second player, leaving the first to think it over, somewhat remorsefully, judging from his expression.

As he opened play against the first three or four, he called his attention against Alpiers and replied to Alpiers' defense moves absent-mindedly, as though his real interest was in the games in front of him. He gave Alpiers food for protracted thought and passed on around the board, thereafter completing the circuit of the 26 other players before asking Alpiers to reply to his moves and moving himself, immediately.

When he completed the first round everybody at the tables, including two wives who were not playing but were concentrating with their contestant husbands, was looking like "The Thinker."

Mac the first one fell the slaughter steady as a method, one by one. In little more than an hour Alpiers was out and the last of the 11 players was defeated before 11 p. m.

Maroczy is fresh from a European tour on which he won 505 games, lost 4 and drew 70 in simultaneous group playing. The effort of the local player against such a wizard generally is to build a strong defense and score a draw. The St. Louis club which brought him here has about 90 members in St. Louis, corresponding members throughout the United States and Europe, and publishes a monthly magazine which goes as far off as India.

WAGNY DEFEATS 21 SOCIAL CHESS EXPERTS

Simultaneous Games With Apparent Ease.

Wagny might have found 21 models for the statue of "The Thinker" if he had dropped in upon the meeting of the Missouri Pacific Chess Club at the Claridge Hotel last night.

Gena Maroczy, Hungarian champion, was playing those 21 persons simultaneously, and his quick, sure moves gave them lots of food for thought.

The "master" walked from one board to another inside a hollow square of tables on which were 20 of the chess boards. Another was hidden from him by a column at one side, and he played "blind" against this local expert, Ronald K. Alpiers. Moves were relayed by a courier between Alpiers and Maroczy, and the champion had to visualize the whole game of this opponent from memory.

Four of the players against Maroczy were "chess fiends" from the City Club. The others were the stock troops of the consolidated Missouri Pacific and the 75-year-old St. Louis chess clubs. They were the best chess players in the city, and the champion defeated them all—even Alpiers.

About 8:30 the first one started and looked at his board in an agitated fashion as Maroczy smiled and passed on. The champion had done him wrong—he had penetrated his defense and left him not one move. He resigned.

An hour earlier Maroczy had stepped to the player at one corner and made his first move, swiftly, like a trick of sleight-of-hand. His opponent replied as swiftly, and before his hand was off the board Maroczy had made another move and opened his attack on the second player, leaving the first to think it over, somewhat remorsefully, judging from his expression.

As he opened play against the first three or four, he called his opening move against Alpiers and moved to Alpiers' defense moves almost mindlessly, as though his real interest was in the games in front of him. He gave Alpiers food for protracted thought and passed on around the board, thereafter completing the circuit of the 20 other players before asking Alpiers to reply to his moves and moving himself, immediately.

'GRANDMA' BANISTER 108 YEARS OLD TODAY

Centenarian Passes Another
Pleasant, Uneventful Year—
Big Birthday Cake.

"Grandma" Banister, one of the most interesting persons in St. Louis because of her great age, has lived another pleasant and uneventful year since the Post-Dispatch last told of her longevity, on March 19, 1924. That was 12 years ago today, when she was 96 years old; today she is 108 and again is celebrating with a reception to many friends.

Pleasant, the last year has been, because "Grandma," as Mrs. Miriam Sparks Banister is affectionately known, takes life tranquilly and it is kind to her. Unpleasant, because life's course has not been shaken for her. Indeed, for fear of neuralgia caused by drafts, she has not stirred outside her home, 5141 Waterman avenue, since Christmas, 1922.

Enjoys Radio Set.
But this little lady is gay and interested in the world. Time has made her eyes useless, but has not taken her hearing. She enjoys the radio set and has been listening to the news of the day as read by her daughter.

The strong radio set replaced a simpler, crystal outfit last summer. Cheerfully "Grandma" posed for her annual photograph by the Post-Dispatch yesterday and said she was glad to hold a pose as long as required. For years she has attributed her longevity to simple living and she has not changed her rules—still she eats three substantial meals a day, with no snacks in between, and sleeps from 10 p. m. to 7 a. m., with no day-time naps. Frequent visits of friends entertain her.

A Big Birthday Cake.
Since this super-centenarian passed the one-hundredth year mark her birthday parties have always been jolly affairs, with 60 to 80 friends calling, including some comparative strangers who explain that they cannot forego the honor of shaking her hand. Today there was tea and a big, white cake, bearing the frosted number "108" and sugar roses.

This time, when a reporter called, "Grandma" departing from her usual custom of chatting on current topics, chanced to hear back to her voyage to America from her native England with her husband, in 1864. Her husband, who died in 1878, had wanted to try his luck in distant Australia, but she feared the three-months' ocean sail. However, she consented to take the 14-day trip across the Atlantic in the Great Western.

"Grandma" Banister resides with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Mann. She has two sons, Edward W. and Fred A. Banister.

The contest is open to boys and girls to be graduated from high or preparatory schools this or next year, and is not limited to residents of St. Louis.

The guests include five of her classmates of Lindenwood College—Misses Aline Moran, Aloyse Nelson, Mildred Gulesenger, Jane Knight, Mathilde Hicks and Miss Wilma Swidler of Washington University.

Miss Frances Shackelford McConnell will return home today from Smith College to spend the spring vacation with her mother, Mrs. Guthrie McConnell, 4748 Westminster place.

Members of Crew of Battleship Mississippi Cited for Conduct Following Explosion.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Secretary Wilbur today commended three members of the crew of the battleship Mississippi for courageous action at the time of the turret explosion on the ship, last June, off the Pacific Coast.

The three men are: Jacob Morgenstein, seaman, whose father lives in New York City; Alfred J. McBride, boatswain's mate, whose next of kin is his sister, Mrs. Isabelle Greene of Newark, N. J.; and Aloysius J. Ignowski, coxswain, whose father lives in Chicago.

Morgenstein was commended for remaining at his station in the handling room beneath the turret even after the order to evacuate it had been given, and McBride for promptness with which he operated the sprinkling system in the upper handling room, preventing the spread of the fire.

Ignowski, although dazed by the explosion and by being struck by men jumping from the turret gun platform, "seized the first shellman whose clothes were in flames and pushed him through the shell deck and then on through to the electric deck, being forced to render the man insensible due to

SEED GROWTH STARTS WITH CHANGE OF STARCH CONTENT

Scientists Declare Story of Germination of Seeds From Tombs of Egypt a Myth.

Each tiny seed is a little factory in itself wherein various processes go on busily and when completed the seed is ready to function. Once completed, the seed must be sown or it loses its vitality. In each live seed these processes go on even when stored in bins and granaries.

One of the active agents in this work inside the seed is known as an enzyme, a sort of ferment which changes the starchy stored food into sugar. This activity tends toward lowering the vitality of the seed. Then, too, the vitality of seed is largely dependent upon the harvesting. If seed is harvested before it is completely ripened, its vitality is lower than if it is ripe. Seed harvested in wet weather is believed to be of lower vitality than that harvested in dry weather.

There is a large percentage of loss to the seedsmen in grain seeds whose period of vitality is short and which does not last over one season. If he cannot sell it, he must face the loss and fresh seed must be secured each year, as old seed soon tells its tale in lack of germination when sown. Some seed has much longer life than others, some being better in germinating quality the second year than the first.

Grain seeds which lose their vitality comparatively quickly are corn, wheat, rye, oats and bluegrass. Clover and alfalfa are long-lived seeds. Clover seed has been known to germinate after 35 years of burial in the earth. However, the story of seeds from tombs of the ancient Pharaohs germinating are declared fakes by scientists who have investigated. No seed lives for centuries. It would be welcome news to seedsmen if this were true.

ALFRED CLARK 'SPONSORED HOFMANN'S MUSIC CAREER'

Pianist Names Late New York Man as Benefactor Instead of Elbridge T. Gerry.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 19.—The New York Times says that the late Alfred Corning Clark, a former New York man of large wealth, was the donor of a $50,000 fund to provide for the musical education of Joseph Hofmann, pianist and composer. A statement issued Monday by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children named Elbridge T. Gerry, its former president, as the benefactor. The Times says that its information was furnished through the medium of the Children's Society and in a positive statement made by Hofmann in Philadelphia.

"While he lived," Hofmann said, "Mr. Clark insisted that his name not be known; but now that he is dead I feel it is right to disclose it. I was only one of many he aided to careers in the arts."

"When I was 10 years old and at the time the Children's Society interfered with my appearance Mr. Clark offered to provide for my education. Six years later, when I made my first public appearance in England, he was in the audience. When the concert was over he gave me a beautiful diamond ring which I regard as one of my cherished possessions."

AMERICAN MERCHANT
MARINE MAKES GAIN

Advances in Percentage of the $4,590,000,000 Exports Transported to Foreign Lands.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON.—The United States, in 1924, materially reduced the $73,000,000 spent in 1923 for foreign shipping services.
Figures compiled by the Department of Commerce disclose that during the past year the American merchant marine made a big advance in the percentage of the $4-590,000,000 exports transported to foreign countries.

Ships with a total capacity of $8,823,000 tons cleared American ports in 1924; vessels under American registry represented 30,033,000 tons, compared with 38,790,000 tons
for foreign shipping.

The year before foreign vessels
moved approximately 33,692,000 tons of exports, compared to 27-922,000 tons for American shipping, disclosing that almost the entire gain in foreign trade clearing American ports in 1924 was absorbed by ships of this country.

The Government considers money paid for foreign shipping an "invisible export," entered on the debit side of the international trade balance ledger. As this invisible export is forced down the commercial position of the nation rises.

The New York customs district maintained first position in port activity, according to the department. That district cleared 19-243,000 tons, of which 6,425,000
were American and 12,818,000 tons foreign. Figures show that the European steamship lines continue to handle the bulk of heavy American exports to that continent.

Great Britain's merchant fleet, of course, being far in the lead.
Washington ports were second on the list, clearing 5,150,000 tons.
New Orleans came third with 4-921,000 tons, followed by Ohio, Galveston, Virginia, Rochester, Massachusetts, Los Angeles, Michigan, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Florida, Duluth, Maryland, Sabine and Buffalo in order.

Los Angeles, the department said, registered the largest tonnage gain of any United States customs district for the year, increasing from a total tonnage of 1,750,000 in 1923 to 2,320,000 in 1924.

Florida surpassed all customs districts in the percentage of foreign shipping under the American flag, ships of this country having accounted for 1,831,000 tons of a total tonnage of 1,992,000 cleared from that district.

Idle Steamers.
Idle steam shipping in ports of the world declined over 900,000
gross tons in 1924, most of the decrease having occurred in the first half of the year. American idle tonnage showed a small decline in both halves of 1924, which was marked by unusual commercial activity.

The surplus of tonnage over trade requirements, however, is still too large for an increase in the volume of trade to result in rising rates," the transportation division of the department declared.

Merchant shipping constructed in the world during 1924 totaled 2,248,000 gross tons, an increase of 605,000 tons over 1923. The increased output of the British yards
in 1924 was 794,000 tons, a result attributed to disastrous strikes in 1923 and a comparative absence of them the following year.

Tonnage under construction at the end of 1924 was slightly larger than at the beginning of the year, aggregating 2,470,000 gross tons as compared with 2,440,000 gross tons.
Ship Building.

The significant change in ship building during the year was the great increase in motor ship tonnage from 624,000 tons on Dec. 31, 1923, to 924,000 tons on Dec. 31,
1924," the department said.

"Few sales of vessels between 5000 and 10,000 deadweight tons and not over five years old were made in the last half of 1924.
Three such vessels brought an average of $38 a ton, compared with $27 for eight vessels in the first half of the year. These prices are not to be taken as conclusive,
since in such a small number unusual factors in one or two sales throw the average out of line."

Information on seaboard trade for 1924 still is lacking, according to officials, but it was stated that the French and British trade was somewhat larger in volume than in 1923, whereas that of the United States was smaller. It was evident, however, they explained, that the volume of world trade, as a whole must have increased, judging from the decline in idle tonnage.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., March 19.—
A revival of the Gen. John A.
Logan memorial project, started in Murphysboro in 1914, has been started by the Murphysboro Chamber of Commerce, which is planning a Logan centennial for next year. Logan was born at Murphysboro Feb. 9, 1826.

Murphysboro started a Logan memorial project and on Logan day, Aug.
2, thousands of persons, including men high in state and nation, garthered here. The old Fourth Regiment of the Illinois National Guard,
now the 13th, with the regimental band from Decatur, spent two days here, camping in Logan Park, and parading. The movement was giving a good start, but two or three days before Logan day Germany had started into Belgium, and the Logan memorial was dropped.

as Governor. His fourth term in the Senate completed his political career, for while he sought nomination again in 1922, he failed to survive the primaries.

Although he never lost his grip on Senate affairs, he was incapacitated through a stroke suffered in 1909, when he was the minority leader. The condition, due to a nervous disorder, was partly relieved in 1913, and as a member of the Finance Committee Culbertson took a prominent part in the anti-trust legislation of that period. His health again broke down and his nervous trouble developed into palsy, following which he gradually transferred his activities from the Capitol to his private suite in the

BOY, 9, TAKEN HOME AFTER HIS THIRTEENTH RUNAWAY

Howard Osbourne of Alton Found Crying in East St. Louis With Bundle of Clothes.

Howard Osbourne, 9 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Osbourne of Alton, Ill., was returned to Alton police yesterday by James K. Ewing, humane officer at East St. Louis, after having run away from home his thirteenth time in the last three years, Ewing said.

He was found in front of 303 South Fourth street, crying, with a bundle of clothes under his arm.

Senate office building. He was somewhat sensitive regarding his physical condition, associates said, and hesitated to appear frequently in public.

He continued, however, to participate generally in committee work, in which he always had been active, and played a prominent part in framing the espionage act of 1917 as well as numerous other war measures. He also served as chairman of the Appropriations Committee from 1913 to 1919.

Educated in Virginia.
Culbertson was born in Dadeville, Tallapoosa County, Ala., Oct. 10, 1855, the son of David B. and Eugenia Culbertson. When 3 years of age he was taken to Texas, where his father became prominent in public life, serving as an Adjutant-General in the Confederate Army, a member of the State Legislature and a Representative in Congress.

Culbertson was sent to the Virginia Military Institute when he had completed his studies in the grade schools, and upon his graduation in 1874 spent two years studying law in the University of Virginia, where he became a judge of the student law court and editor of the Jefferson Literary Society, both exceptional honors.

He was admitted to the bar in 1877. In 1882, while practicing in Marion County, Tex., he won fame through his brilliant defense of a man convicted of murder under the Ku Klux law of Texas. The Culbertson took hold of the case, appealed it to the Circuit Court, and obtained a reversal of the verdict, with a declaration of the unconstitutionality of the Ku Klux law.

In 1880, when 25 years of age, he was elected County Attorney of Marion. After a short incumbency he resigned to engage once more in his private practice, which had grown to such proportions that it caused him to decline a nomination to the State Legislature, offered in 1882.

Attorney-General and Governor.
In 1888 he moved to Dallas and established the law firm of Bookhout & Culbertson, wherein he continued active until 1890, when he was nominated for Attorney-General. He was elected by a large majority and served until 1894, when he was nominated for Governor and elected. His administration of the office brought him a second nomination in 1896, and despite the opposition of a powerful fusion ticket, growing out of the financial issues, he was again elected by an overwhelming majority.

At least twice during the political activities of that period he stood before the international spotlight—once in 1896 when the whole world was watching his correspondence with Prince Bismarck on the subject of bimetalism, and again when he issued an executive order prohibiting the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, which was to be held in Texas in 1895.

Preventing Prize Fight.
As soon as announcement was made that the fight would be staged at Dallas, Culbertson said he would prevent it. It was pointed out to him that there was no law in Texas against boxing, but Culbertson proceeded to one of the busiest corners of Dallas and mounting upon a box soon had a crowd gathered around him. The burden of his speech was something like this: "Do you mean of Texas propose to allow a prize fight to be held in our State? Are you willing to let these men from New York and California say that the law won't let them fight at home, but they can come down to the rowdy State of Texas and pull off a ring battle? Do you want to have our State disgraced before the whole civilized world?"

Someone in the crowd called out that there was no law against it.

"No," replied Culbertson, "but there soon will be."

Culbertson called a special session of the Legislature, directing attention to the lack of law on the subject and declaring that every legislator with a decent regard for the opinion of mankind should hasten to enact a proper statute. The anti-prize fight law was passed.

He was elected to the United States Senate in 1899; re-elected in 1905, again in 1911, and for the fourth time in 1918. He was unopposed for his seat in the latter campaign.

Toward the end of his senatorial service Culbertson confined his appearance in the chamber to the brief periods necessary to record his vote, or to listen to various discussions. His condition was aggravated during the spring of 1922, those close to him said, by the notoriety attending the charges of a former British soldier that he was being railroaded out of the United States because of the attachment between himself and Mr. Culbertson's only daughter.

TESTIMONY IN BRIGGS' LICENSE CASE CONCLUDED

Arguments of Counsel to Be Heard by the State Board of Health Tomorrow Morning.

DECISION TO FOLLOW IN EXECUTIVE SESSION

Head of P. and S. College in Cross-Examination Denies Hampering Investigation of the School.

The hearing of the testimony by the State Board of Health on charges directed at revocation of the medical practice license of Dr. Waldo M. Briggs, dean and president of the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, was concluded today. Arguments will be made tomorrow morning by counsel and the board will then consider its decision in executive session.

Dr. Joseph R. Sintzel, former secretary of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, was the complaining witness in the inquiry, but was not called to the stand to support his accusations of bad moral character.

He charges that Briggs, trafficked in fraudulent medical diplomas and credentials, sold degrees and was an associate of Dr. Robert Adcox, now under two-year penitentiary sentence for his part in the operations of the medical diploma ring.

Another hearing began. After the Briggs hearing had closed this morning, Edward E. Butler, attorney for Dr. Walter Lyle Kelley, announced he was ready to proceed with the hearing of charges against his client, who is one of 60 physicians cited to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked because of alleged fraud in obtaining them.

The hearing began a short time later and will be concluded today. Briggs was on the stand in his own defense most of this morning, concluding testimony which he began yesterday afternoon. Under questioning by Assistant Attorney-General Caruthers, he answered questions readily, interjecting a crisp bit of irony into his remarks now and then.

Tells of Permitting Inspection. Telling of the inspection tour of the Board of Health to his school some years ago, Briggs said he admitted the board advised him not to let the board into the school and had counseled him to have them arrested if necessary to keep them out.

"In fact," Briggs remarked, smiling at Dr. Emmett P. North, president of the board, who is conducting the hearing, "I came near having the board arrested several times." The witness was cross-examined about the visit of Dr. P. C. Walte, special investigator of the board, who was retained to make a survey of medical schools in Missouri. Dr. Walte had testified that Briggs had been discourteous and had not assisted him as he should in his efforts to determine the status of the school. Briggs denied that he had been discourteous to Dr. Walte.

Helped Walte, He Says. "I did everything I could to help him," Briggs said. "His brain must have been oscillating." But, he insisted, Caruthers didn't "Dr. Walte" Briggs interrupted caustically, "he's no doctor."

"He's a doctor of philosophy," Caruthers replied. "Doctor of philosophy, huh?" was Briggs' comment.

Dr. Walte is professor of histology microscopic anatomy, at Western Reserve University, Cleveland. General Denial He Ever Sold Diplomas Made By Dr. Briggs.

A general denial that he had ever sold diplomas, had participated in the operations of the diploma ring or had associated with Dr. Adcox, was made by Dr. Briggs yesterday afternoon when he took the witness stand.

One of the first topics of examination was the nature of checks totaling more than $4000 which were seized in a raid on Adcox's home in October, 1925. The checks were drawn by the "Bio-Chemical Co. R. Adcox, president," and were indorsed by Briggs.

Checks for Tuition, Briggs Says. The witness declared that many of the checks given him by Adcox were for tuition of pupils but did not explain why Adcox was paying their tuition at the college. Briggs explained that tuition was $150 in 1921-22 and $200 in 1922-23, and checks for these amounts had been identified as tuition payments without hesitation. There was one check for $435 and another for $10 the nature of which Briggs said he could not recall. Another check for $500 he said, "might have been for the tuition of two students."

Calmly chewing tobacco as the examination proceeded, Dr. Briggs traced the history of his school of which he has been dean for 25 years and president, treasurer, and virtual owner since 1922. The col-

Disastrous Middle-Western Storms Often Strike in Spring

THE disastrous storms in the "tornado belt" in the Middle-Western and South-Western states usually have occurred in the spring and summer. Following are some of the worst tornadoes in that section in recent years:

June 28, 1924—Lorain and Sandusky, O., and nearby territory. More than 100 killed, 3000 injured, 4000 made homeless. Property destruction approximately $25,000,000.

May 1, 1925—St. Louis and East St. Louis, at least 250 killed, several thousand injured; property destruction many millions.

Feb. 18, 1884—Six hundred killed by tornadoes which swept Southern States.

April 24, 1908—Nearly 500 killed in wind storms in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama.

May 11, 1905— Snyder, Ok.; 150 killed and the town virtually destroyed.

June 13, 1899—More than 100 killed in Nebraska and Wisconsin; every building but two in the town of Herman, Neb., destroyed.

April 27, 1899—Kirkville and Newton, Mo.; nearly 100 killed and large sections of both cities destroyed.

April 25, 1925—Nearly 100 killed in several towns and villages in Oklahoma.

Sept. 29, 1894—Seventy-five killed in the path of a tornado through sections of Iowa and Minnesota.

May 31, 1917—Sixty-seven killed and 200 injured in South-east Missouri and Southern Illinois towns.

July, 1925—Sixty-three killed in Pomeroy, Ia.

June 23, 1919—Fergus Falls, Minn., 60 killed, more than 400 buildings demolished.

June 14, 1922—Fifty killed in a tornado which swept across five counties in Minnesota.

April 2, 1922—Forty killed in the path of a tornado through several Kansas towns.

May 18, 1898—Forty killed and $1,000,000 property damage in Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin in a storm which swept north-eastward from Muscatine, Ia.

May 5, 1905—Marquette, Kan., 50 killed.

June 5, 1908—Twenty-seven killed in Northern Kansas and Southern Nebraska.

March 1, 1906—Meridian, Miss., 100 killed.

March 27, 1924—Twenty-four killed in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Ohio.

June 20, 1893—Sixteen killed in the Kansas River Valley.

March 10, 1891—Three-fourths of the town of Chandler, Ok., destroyed.

March 13, 1913—Heavy damages and loss of life in Peoria, Ill., Vincennes, Ind., and towns in Tennessee and Louisiana.

During the spring and summer of 1924 the South was visited by two devastating storms. On April 30, 105 persons met death in Alabama, South Carolina and Georgia. On May 26 and 27 40 persons were killed in Mississippi and Alabama.

legis was incorporated in 1897. That there had been irregularities at the school Briggs readily admitted, but he ascribed them to the machinations of Sintzel and other persons who took advantage of him. He recalled, for example, that in 1924 after the diploma ring had been exposed and the complicity of his school had been suspected, he had examined three of the seniors whom he named as Mellilo, Boras and Granger.

"I found they were not competent," Briggs said. "Mellilo's record showed he had been at the school four years, but he finally admitted he had been there only one year. Boras had an A. B. degree which he admitted was no good, and Granger admitted he had not been at the school for four years. So I dropped them all."

Point Not Explained. Briggs did not explain how the three students managed to get into the small senior class at the school and without his knowledge claimed credit for three previous years although they had not been in the student body for that time. In fact, he ascribed conditions to Sintzel and other secretaries saying that it was their duty to supervise the student body.

Briggs was emphatic in his denial that he had ever sold a diploma but, he explained, "a diploma is a license to practice, anyhow. It doesn't mean anything except that it's something to hang on the wall. The more people have the better they like it."

ST. CLAIR CO. HERDS TESTED FOR TUBERCULAR CATTLE

Veterinarian and East St. Louis Health Commissioner in Charge of Inspection.

A test of St. Clair County dairy herds for tubercular cattle is being made by Dr. D. B. Michaels of Belleville, who was recently appointed County Veterinarian. John Connors, Health Commissioner of East St. Louis, announced yesterday.

Small herds owned by dairymen doing a neighborhood delivery business as well as the herds of large producers will be tested. In one herd 20 out of 32 cattle were found to be infected. Connors said, but that the general average was about three out of 20.

Cows that are found to be afflicted by the County Veterinarian are then tested again by Federal inspectors to eliminate chances of error. If the second test proves the first the diseased cattle are killed.

Take Haley's Magnesia-Oil—milk of magnesia and mineral oil combined

There is a cause for disordered stomach. And that cause will most often be found in the lower bowel, the seat of what is called "stomach trouble." Acids from fermenting, accumulating waste matter must be neutralized and waste matter eliminated. Two things are necessary—both are done at one time with Haley's Magnesia-Oil (milk of magnesia combined with mineral oil).

Both oil and magnesia work together as they should. The oil carries the magnesia straight to the lower bowel, where it is needed. Acids are neutralized, clogged tracts are lubricated. Action is prompt but devoid of griping or diarrhea.

DR. W. J. VOSS HELD IN AN OIL DEAL

Woman, 86, Says She Mortgaged Home to Give Him $875 to Invest.

Mrs. Eliza Tressler, 86 years old, has been living in a tiny cottage with her widowed daughter at 6800 Olive Street road, St. Louis County, for some years, and in the long hours of each afternoon gave vent to her rage by ranting and raving against the two small mortgages which hung threateningly over a pair of lots she owned.

The arrest today of Dr. William J. Voss, 4130 Maryland avenue, disclosed that she had decided to "plunge in oil" to pay off the mortgages. Like so many others, she failed and Voss is in the St. Louis County Jail at Clayton charged with having obtained $875 from the aged woman under false pretenses.

Her attorney told a Post-Dispatch reporter that acting upon the suggestion of Dr. Voss, she had further mortgaged the tiny cottage and turned over $875 to Dr. Voss in February, 1924, in order that he might invest it in oil lands which he had promised to buy.

Dr. Voss said today that he had intended to negotiate with six men in Arkansas for leases but that obstacles had constantly beset his path. He admitted having received the money from Mrs. Tressler, but said he had not yet been able to find a third mortgage. The physician had told her, her attorney said, that the oil was "about ready to blow" when he took the money and advised her not to tell her daughter or her lawyer.

The Government's star witness was James Overstreet, alias Ripley, now serving a sentence in the Oklahoma State Prison at McAlester for bank robbery. He admitted taking part in the Salem robbery and the witness stand, and implicated the five defendants.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindsey pronounced sentence.

Alertness on the part of the pilots and an exhibition of superb airmanship prevented a head-on collision. The wings interlocked when the machines met at a height of about 600 feet and one of the wing sections on Lieut. Litch's plane was broken. He glided safely to the ground.

Six shots were fired by detectives chasing Hubert Dalrymple, 22 years old, yesterday afternoon before he stumbled and was captured in an alley west of Clara avenue and north of Delmar boulevard.

The detectives, seeking to arrest Dalrymple for leaving his home, for county authorities, were told he was not at home. They parked their automobile near the house and waited. In 30 minutes Dalrymple came out, looked around and went back in. Three women came from the house and got in an automobile. As it started Dalrymple ran out and swung on the running-board and the chase began.

BELIEF 34 MEN IN MINE ARE DEAD

Fire in Part of Shaft at Fairmont, W. Va.,—Investigation Into Story of Bomb.

By the Associated Press. FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 19.—Rescue workers continued their struggle today to reach the 34 miners entombed by a terrific explosion that Tuesday night wrecked mine No. 41 of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation at Barrackville, three miles from here. The mine has been penetrated more than 400 feet. No bodies had been found nor were there any indications that any of the men in the workings were alive.

Hope that some of the entombed men may be rescued has not been abandoned, but it is the belief of experienced mining men that those in the property at the time of the explosion have perished.

M. Lambie, chief of the West Virginia Department of Mines, announced last night after a trip into the mine with a rescue crew that fire was burning in the right heading. He said the flames probably would be confined to a small area.

Twenty-two men are believed to have been trapped in this heading and 12 in the left heading.

Three Arrests in Inquiry.

An investigation into the cause of the explosion has resulted in the arrest of three men—W. D. Emonds, Clarence Whetzel and A. G. Kendall. They were taken into custody by State police who were assigned to investigate a report of a possibility that the mine may have been bombed. The report was circulated a short time after the blast occurred, but was scouted by Lambie.

The mine had been operating on a nonunion basis since last October, but no serious labor disturbance had occurred. Members of the rescue crews expressed the opinion that the explosion resulted from accidental causes, probably the ignition of gases.

No Charge Against Men.

Van A. B. Charge international representative of the United Mine Workers of America in Northern West Virginia, characterized the bombing story as "the most preposterous explanation of a mine disaster that I have ever heard."

His statement added that the Federal Bureau of Mines and other experts who are on the ground will determine the real cause of the explosion.

The three men arrested were committed to the county jail and are being held pending an investigation. Both the State police and mine officials declined to state the reason for their arrest and no specific charge has been filed against them.

UFLAND WAS BOSS, WOMAN JUST SIGNED CHECKS

Mrs. Virginia Rayhill, "Straw" Secretary of Defunct Firm, Pleads Ignorance at Hearing.

DIDN'T QUESTION HIS VISITS TO BANK

Admits She Spent $450 He Mailed Her After Flight, Although Her Salary Had Been Paid.

The checks which Mrs. Virginia Rayhill signed while she was nominal secretary-treasurer of the now defunct National Jewelry Co., some of them for amounts as high as $500 and payable to herself, were targets that drew a steady fire from Referee in Bankruptcy Charles B. Thomas in a hearing yesterday in which she was grilled for almost three hours about the affairs of the company and Jacob Ufland, its owner, who has been missing since Nov. 12, owing approximately $600,000.

The tale of scrambled finances which she told, bit by bit, in answer to questions, threw new light upon several phases of Ufland's person as a diamond jobber, but left other points so obscure that Referee Thomas frequently moved to exasperation. Although the witness sat through the three-hour examination calmly and in a ready, frank manner, it was clear that she and her part in the company's flight into high finance still remained a puzzle to the interrogator after the session had ended.

For instance, there was the matter of a $5000 check made payable to her and endorsed over to Ufland. The canceled check was among the exhibits of the National Jewelry Co. Board of directors, which is pressing the inquiry. What was that check for?

Just signed checks.

The witness didn't know, Ufland had just ordered her to make it out that way and she complied without question. She never had questioned Ufland's motive. He was the boss and she knew nothing about the fine points of business. From the time she was made "straw" secretary of the company in the Broad Building up to Ufland's disappearance with most of the stock, she had signed checks at Ufland's direction. Ufland signed no checks for the company.

"Do you mean to say," inquired Referee Thomas, "that you signed a check for $5000 payable to yourself and then endorsed it over to somebody else without questioning the purpose of it?"

"Yes, that's what I did. I realized now that it was very stupid of me, but you see I was inexperienced in such matters. I did as was told and Mr. Ufland was boss. It never occurred to me there might be something crooked about it."

That plea of stupidity, of inexperience was invariably her port of refuge when the examination threatened to involve her in difficulties. The trouble was in connecting Referee Thomas with most of the stock, she had signed checks at Ufland's direction. Ufland signed no checks for the company.

"You see, I was just stupid and didn't know any better," she added.

The musical program, which will be presented by an adult chorus of 300 voices and a children's chorus of 1200 voices, will be presented in nine numbers. Mrs. Charles Pretzman Jr. will direct the children's chorus.

More than 5000 persons attended the initial performance last year and the event was accorded favorable publicity in all sections of the United States, being a departure from ordinary community activities.

Congressional Committee to Inquire Into Matters Handled by Referee Thomas, Since Resigned.

In its investigation of Federal Judge George W. English of East St. Louis, to determine if there is ground for impeachment, the congressional committee meeting here next Monday will delve, among other things, into the administration of bankrupt estates by Charles B. Thomas, who resigned as Referee in Bankruptcy in Judge English's district when he learned that his official acts were under Federal inquiry.

Judge English, in the final settlement of bankrupt estates, necessarily had to approve or reject the findings of his referee.

A striking illustration of the handling of bankrupt estates in Judge English's district is the case of the Illinois-Missouri Co-Operative Milk Producers' Association. In the winding up of this case $31,275.96 was disbursed, as follows:

To creditors, $3226.22.

To the bankrupt company, $20.27.

To officials of the Bankruptcy Court, for fees and administration expenses, $28,029.47.

Officials, stockholders and customers of the milk company have denounced the handling of the case.

G. Edwin Popkewitz, editor and publisher of the Dairyman's Journal, official organ of the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association, said that many dairymen interested in the company had complained to him of the excessive fees and expenses, and at one time had sought to have United States Senator Brookhart make an issue of the case in the Senate.

Formed Four Years Ago.

The Illinois-Missouri Co-Operative Milk Producers' Association was organized four years ago as a wholesale marketing company by which dairymen of the St. Louis district hoped to receive better prices for their milk. It had an authorized capital of $500,000, of which $261,000 of stock was sold, mostly to farmers and dairymen.

The St. Louis distributing company opposed the enterprise by refusing to take the product of the marketing company and had their milk shipped to St. Louis from other districts.

After 16 months of this opposition the marketing company was thrown into receivership or liquidation with unpaid claims for milk. They were represented by John C. Robertson of the law firm of Sheridan, Sheridan and Robertson of St. Louis and East St. Louis, which has had considerable business with former Referee Thomas.

The company had assets of $125,000, consisting of $45,000 in real estate, $20,000 in notes, $45,000 in accounts receivable and $10,000 due from a subsidiary concern. Its liabilities were $155,000, of which $125,000 consisted of claims by dairymen who had shipped in milk and had not been paid for their product. The only other large liability was a $17,000 mortgage on the East St. Louis receiving plant.

The day following filing of the petition, O. K. Allen of Coffey, Ill., and Harry Kerr of East St. Louis were appointed receivers by Judge English. Three days later Herman P. Frizzell, United States Commissioner in Judge English's district, was appointed by Judge English as attorney for the receivers.

CARPENTER DIES AS RESULT OF STEPPING ON RUSTY NAIL

Use of Thousands of Units of Antitoxin Fails to Halt Attack

Louis F. Osiek, 28 years old, a carpenter, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville yesterday afternoon from an attack of tetanus caused by stepping on a rusty nail two weeks ago.

Thousands of units of antitoxin were used in an effort to save the man's life. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hulda Osiek; his parents, and a number of brothers and sisters. The body will be shipped to Louisville and the interment will be Friday afternoon.

Evidence will be given at the hearing to show that Kerr and United States Commissioner Frizzell had been the recipients of numerous lucrative appointments at the hands of Referee Thomas and Judge English in receivership of bankruptcies cases.

During the trial between Dec. 12, 1922, and Jan. 15, 1923, there was a contest over the sufficiency of the receivership petition. A jury trial was had and resulted in an adjudication in bankruptcy. The referees then were referred to the referees in Bankruptcy, Thomas, and he at once called a meeting of the creditors for the following day, Jan. 19.

This meeting was continued to Jan. 20, when an election was held to select a trustee. The action in having the appointment of a trustee was a direct violation of the bankruptcy act. At this meeting only two attorneys were present voting claims.

Trustee P. Schaeffer of Champaign, Ill. voted 1229 claims amounting to $37,450.63, for T. S. Morgan, and J. C. Robertson of St. Louis voted 252 claims amounting to $19,889.34, for O. K. Allen.

The election normally would have gone to Morgan, but some objection was interposed, and no appointment was made. Again the meeting was continued, this time to Feb. 1, and on that date Referee Thomas was appointed as trustee.

E. V. Mayberry, a clerk in the court of Referee Thomas.

Then began a series of transactions, all costly to the troubled company. Although the law provides that upon the appointment of a trustee the receivers shall turn over all property to him, the receivers remained in office for seven months after the appointment of the trustee.

Reference of Report.

Another transaction was the reference by Judge English of the receivers' report to Referee Thomas as special master. It is the duty of the entire administration to take over the entire administration and handle as referee all reports of receivers appointed by the court prior to the original reference.

In the receivers' report was a bill for $2500 from Commissioner Frizzell and Robertson as attorneys. The order appointing counsel for the receivers named only Commissioner Frizzell, and how Robertson came into the case for this fee is not shown in the report.

In the report of the special master (Referee Thomas), dealing with the report of the receivers, $3000 was allowed for the services of the receivers. The law provides an allowance of $240 on the first $10,000 of assets turned over and 1 per cent on the value of all other assets. Thus, to justify an allowance of $3000, there should be an estate valued at $250,000.

The maximum valuation on which the receivers in this case could base their claim was $117,381.30, upon which the legal allowance would amount to $1213.51, and not $3000, which was approved by Judge English.

Distribution of Fees.

Actual fees, paid to Referee Thomas, attorneys and receivers and trustees amounted to $16,246.88, distributed as follows:

John C. Robertson, attorney for creditors, $5,000.00

C. B. Thomas, special master, $1,637.28

P. P. Schaeffer, attorney for trustee, $1,000.00

H. P. Frizzell, attorney for trustee, $1,000.00

H. P. Frizzell, attorney for receiver, $1,500.00

McGlynn & McGlynn, attorney for bankrupt, $1,500.00

O. K. Allen, receiver, $1,500.00

Harry Kerr, receiver, $1,500.00

E. V. Mayberry, trustee, $703.80

Robertson was also allowed $520 for expenses, bringing his total allowances to $6520. It was he who filed the original petition in bankruptcy and also the petition for a receiver, both actions taking place on the same day. He also conducted the trial that resulted in the adjudication in bankruptcy.

Policewoman Appears Against Mrs. Gasoway, "Temple of Truth" Pastor.

When Policewoman Thory called on Mrs. Elizabeth Gasoway, spiritualist, interpreter of the infinite and pastor of the "Temple of Truth," Policewoman Thory didn't tell Mrs. Gasoway she was a policewoman. And so Mrs. Gasoway related occurrences of the past and prophesied things of the future, and when Mrs. Gasoway got through she took the policewoman's dollar and then the policewoman took Mrs. Gasoway to the "brig."

So today the spiritualist appeared in Police Judge Homer's court and so did the policewoman. And Mrs. Gasoway, while receiving advice about what was going to happen in the future, entirely failed to get any information relative to police courts from her ethereal advisers.

According to Policewoman Thory, Mrs. Gasoway greeted her kindly and ectoplasmically, put a record on the phonograph and then departed, to return a few seconds later swathed in long robe and a spiritual countenance.

"I see a woman," murmured Mrs. Gasoway, in a celestial tone. "She tells me she is your mother." Patrolman Thory thought this was wholly unnecessary, as she didn't ask for her dollar. She gave it to her mother; she could see her at home, and expected to that very evening, not to mention a warm and tasty supper she expected prepared by her mother.

A symbolic child. Then Mrs. Gasoway told about seeing a child, and the policewoman began to think that was a little too much, but she remembered her official position, and didn't say anything.

"All I meant by the child," Mrs. Gasoway told the Judge, "was symbolic. I wasn't fortune telling. The policewoman asked for spiritual advice and I gave it to her. I didn't ask for her dollar. She gave it to me. Here, your Honor, read the 'Progressive Thinker.' It will help you. No, your Honor, all that I tell, all that I say, I see through my psychic eye."

Whereupon Judge Matthews blinked his legal eye and fined Mrs. Gasoway $100.

It was he who filed the original petition in bankruptcy and also the petition for a receiver, both actions taking place on the same day. He also conducted the trial that resulted in the adjudication in bankruptcy.

Other Expenses Added.

Other administration expenses added to the above listed fees bring the total expenses of this administration to $28,029.40. The expenses other than the fees consist of disbursements made by the trustee and receivers, and the record of disbursements allowed for various services to several men and women attached to the Referee's office or who had been employed in other cases.

At the time he resigned as Referee in Bankruptcy, Thomas resigned as a Post-Dispatch reporter that his income was in excess of $50,000 a year, which he lost when he resigned as referee, as receiver in five cases and as attorney for receivers in two other cases. In almost every case where large interests were involved Referee Thomas was appointed by Judge English either the receiver or attorney for receiver, while Commissioner Frizzell, Kerr and others frequently were appointed receiver, trustee or attorney for receiver or trustee in the smaller cases.

Unfavorable Comment.

Most of the criticism of Judge English has come from acts of himself and his former Referee in Bankruptcy, Thomas, in receivership and bankruptcy cases. Many of these cases were administered to the profit of Thomas and members of an alleged "bankruptcy ring" whose conduct was such as to cause unfavorable comment among lawyers and litigants in the Eastern Illinois Judicial District, in which Judge English is the senior Federal Judge.

The hearing, most of which will be held in the Federal Building here, probably will be started with cases bearing on alleged acts of tyranny by Judge English. These consist of the disbarment of certain attorneys, the threatened disbarment of others, the arbitrary summoning and exorbitating of county officials and police, and the use of intemperate and sometimes profane language from the bench.

The striking of receivership and bankruptcy cases, an inquiry into which by the Post-Dispatch preceded the resignation of Referee Thomas as Referee and as receiver in five remunerative cases, probably will be reached early in the hearings. This probe will lead to the financial and other interests of Judge English in banks that he had designated as official depositors for bankruptcy funds. Then will follow testimony in which Conviction of Louis Muloney, St. Louis, Affirmed by Supreme Court.—Roy Tipton Loses.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH. JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—The conviction of Louis Muloney of St. Louis on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, and his sentence of two years in the penitentiary, was affirmed by division No. 2 of the Supreme Court in a decision handed down today.

City detectives who arrested Muloney in an automobile testified they found a pistol lying in the cushions of the car, which had been concealed from view by Muloney's body. The defense contended this did not properly constitute a concealed weapon. The Supreme Court, in the opinion by Commissioner Higbee, held that it was not necessary that the pistol be in Muloney's pocket to constitute a concealed weapon, so long as the weapon was concealed from view.

Conviction and the two-year sentence of Roy Tipton on a charge of burglary, was affirmed in an opinion by Commissioner Riley. Tipton was convicted of stealing 95 revolvers, 32 automatic pistols and 14 shotguns from the White Hardware Co. on March 4, 1923.

Leona and Mrs. Whalen had been talking over the situation between the girl and a drummer in a moving picture theater orchestra, who had discontinued his attentions to her and asked her father to stop her writing to him.

The report of the Department of Justice investigation of the official acts of Referee Thomas has been submitted to the criminal division of the Department for further action. The result will be a grand jury investigation.

QUARRELS RAGE ON ICE
LINKS AT ST. MORITZ

An Old One Is Whether to Waltz to English Quick Tempo or Continental Fast.

Special Correspondence of the Post Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 7.—If you come to St. Moritz to skate for pleasure, beware. For when you fall, on any of the dozen rinks, you fall in the presence of a champion.

This has a serious effect on the character. It makes you vain. You have sat in the presence of the greater Miss Loughran, or the famous Mr. Niles. It is a sort of initiation to the club—that international skating masonry which becomes an obsession like synthetic gin or psychanalysis. You become ambitious to fall in the presence of all the great. You begin to study their style from the vantage point of an unreserved seat. You compare their performance, point them out to your friends on the street, and stroll slowly past their tables in the dining room, seeking to eavesdrop on their conversation.

Then you begin to take up skating seriously—and you are lost. You take up "outside forward to inside forward" and proceed thence to "outside back to inside back." From there you fall gracefully into the (we use only technical language now) Three Lift T bo—R do T fi, and cannot resist the Double Three Rho T fi T bo—Lbo T fi T bo.

A "Sedentary Sport."
Beginners in this "sedentary sport" are not content long merely to watch champions and exclaim, "Oh, aren't they graceful, and they are just like fairies dancing on the snow." Beginners soon become earnest and intense. They do each ring systematically from morn to sunset, note each Lfio and let no faulty Lfio pass without contemptuous comment. Within a week they are waiting and dreaming of winning the cup year after next. And one soon finds oneself taking sides in the bitter quarrels which rage in the skating brother and sisterhood. There is the lady, holder of a high place in the Olympic doubles contest, who refused to compete this year because another lady with her expenses paid by her club came to St. Moritz to compete. That is not an amateur status, says the first lady, who has a fond father willing to pay all her expenses. Before you can progress in skating you must make up your mind on this vital point. Then there is the old quarrel about the English versus the continental waltz. For at St. Moritz, skating is one of the few sports for which the English do not set the rules. The English, in England, wait to quick tempo; the Americans and continental waltz slow. Which shall be the official waltz for international competition?

Fancy Dress Balls on Ice.
For years the English at St. Moritz sought to bore from within. But, according to an official report, "the complications of the war years reflected great difficulties and the St. Moritz Skating Association found it exceedingly difficult to control two such diametrically opposed schools of skaters. The result, which was long foreshadowed, came, and the English seceded and formed a sort of third international of their own. The central position of St. Moritz, the relative certainty of good ice through a long season and the presence of sports-lovers from all over the world have made it the accepted center for international skating contests of all sorts. And its fancy dress balls on the ice, with myriad colors blending like a fantastic pastel beneath the Japanese lanterns, are among the social events of the winter season. And for mere lovers of skating there is a gracious code of friendliness on the ice that obtains in few other winter sports. In the rink one naturally falls into conversation. It is quite within the code to be "ice friends" without more introduction than a common interest in skating offers, while in the hotel one acknowledges the acquaintanceship not at all, or with the merest formal bow. Unless—who knows? You may have mutual friends. Duke and merchant may become warm friends on skates. Ice is the great leveler.

LEGAL FREEDOM FOR DOGS
May Change Masters As They Please According to London Law.
Correspondence of the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 3.—The old understanding in law that "finding is keeping" may be superseded by "following is keeping" in the eyes of the London Sessions, which interpreted the code recently to mean that if a dog follows a man home, the person followed was not bound to communicate the fact to the dog's owner. The owner, however, it was decided, may prosecute the person for stealing the dog's collar, if it happens to be wearing such an article, but he cannot go into court and prosecute for stealing the dog. In other words, if a dog desires to select a new owner, he may do so at his leisure.

'MARRIAGE PORTRAYED IN FICTION MISLEADING'

Dr. Henry Neuman Says Authors Find No Dramatic Worth in Normal Wedlock.

The unhappy marriages portrayed in the novels and plays of the day are not true portrayals of average, normal married life, declared Dr. Henry Neumann, leader of the Brooklyn Ethical Society, speaking on "The Finer Ideals of Sex," before the Missouri Social Hygiene Association and affiliated organizations at the Washington University medical school last night.

"The books and plays give a misleading idea of married life because unhappy marriages and infidelities lead themselves well to dramatic treatment," he said. "Most writers fall when they try to present successful married life with the same artistry they portray the unsuccessful. They seek out the elements of conflict and write of marriages which are shipwrecked or verge on failure.

"People are misled about marriage as they are misled by newspaper stories of crime. Crime stories are printed because they are exceptional; but the majority of the people were bad, the newspapers would tell of unusual deeds of good. Likewise, the successful marriage is a quiet, undramatic thing—a normal thing which the writer finds not worth writing about, because it is not unusual.

"Marriage is mankind's chief training school in loyalty to obligation. Many people fail to live up to this ideal of marriage. But should conduct be patterned after the example of those who fail? Many men are dishonest in business. Does that mean their poorer standards should be accepted as right?"

"The air is full of demands today for liberty and self-expression. But the best kind of self-expression is that which results from self-discipline. The musical artist must train and discipline his fingers. So must the average man express his better self through keeping down the impetuous, capricious, hurtful tendencies in his makeup."

DROPS IN TO TELL WIFE BODY JUST BURIED WASN'T HIS

By the Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—The family of Frank Miller Sr. reported to the police yesterday that they were mourning his death after having buried what they thought was his body Monday when he walked into his home. Hardly had that mystery been settled when the coroner announced that a body recovered from the Mississippi River and identified by one man as his father and by a wife as her husband was really that of a woman.

Frank Miller Sr., 56 years old, had been married to his wife for some five years and when the body of a man about his age and bearing papers with the name of "Frank Miller" was discovered Sunday in a gas-filled room, Miller's son and wife identified it as his father. Miller read of the funeral in the newspapers and went home to tell his family he was still alive. The mystery of "Frank Miller" identity remains unsolved except that the rooming house keeper said she had heard him say he was from California.

The other body, which apparently had been in the water for months, was found floating in the river here late yesterday. Charles W. Burdette Jr., whose father, according to police records, jumped into the river here May 27, 1924, identified by a belt buckle and false teeth, Mrs. John Fisher visited the morgue later in the day and said it was the body of her husband, who disappeared Jan. 25 last. Then Dr. E. J. De Bergeau, Assistant Coroner, and a physician for an insurance company, discovered the body was that of a woman. The police have no record of any woman disappearing here.

RESIDENTS TO DESERT ISLAND, WELSH BARDS' LAST RETREAT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARNARYON, Wales.—Bardey Island, the last retreat of the Welsh bards and the supposed resting place of 20,000 saints, is to be evacuated by its inhabitants because of the difficulty of securing regular food supplies from the mainland.

Situated two miles off the coast of North Wales, the island is two miles long by one mile wide, and it is ruled by its own King, who possesses an iron crown. Thirty years ago Bardey Island had a population of 100, but in recent years it has dwindled to 45 persons, who have been eking out a precarious living. King Love Prichard, the present monarch, was crowned in 1911 and is now 53 years old. His predecessor abdicated and died in a Welsh poorhouse.

The decision to abandon the island was made by the inhabitants after several long periods of starvation from the mainland, during which they were on the verge of starvation. Very strong currents and tides make the journey to the mainland a hazardous even in the calmest weather.

Alabama Killed in Tornado. TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 19.—Rescue parties from Tusculum and Russellville are aiding the stricken families at Littleville, this county, where a tornado yesterday killed one person and injured several others.

Some of William Green was demolished by the wind. Green was killed and his wife and 5-year-old daughter badly injured. The latter two were brought to a hospital here. An infant in the Green family escaped injury. Four stores and a number of residences were blown down in the village.

DUTY SITS LIGHTLY ON OLD HEADS AT OXFORD

They Are Never Called Upon to Teach or Lecture in College Classes.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
OXFORD, England, March 3.—The twentieth century fashion of raising young men to high places has as yet found no champions in Oxford. The average age of the present heads of colleges is just under 70 years, despite a number of recent elections. A master once lived to somewhat over 100, and several heads who are now well on in the eighties are ambitious of bettering his record.

The duties of an Oxford College head are neither onerous nor agitating. He personally admits all new undergraduates into his college, invites them to breakfast once a year, and besides that sees very little of them. Heads of colleges are not called upon to teach or to lecture, they do not speak at Rotary Club lunches, or indulge in frenzied financing campaigns.

Curiously enough, these men who have so little to do in managing their respective colleges, have everything to do in the administration of the university. While they dispute with the university and deny its powers and authority and object to its schemes, the fact remains that they are, for all practical purposes, the university themselves. Meeting in solemn and heavy conclave called convocation, they transact university business, choose the university proctors and elect one another in turn to the office of vice chancellor, an annually created office analogous to the presidency of a great American university.

Convocation meets with much ceremony in a room where no artificial light is permitted, and its meditations cease with the coming of darkness.

The headship of a college is a life job, regulated only by the statutes. Here a life job is a long job, some of the present heads having held their places for nearly 40 years. The average age of the present heads at the time of their selection was a little over 50 years. Older and older men are being selected, most of the recently elected heads having passed 60 years of age.

COUNTY TEACHERS WELCOME COLLEGE LECTURES BY RADIO

75 Students Are Enrolled for Extension Courses Offered by Iowa University.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
IOWA CITY, Iowa, March 19.—A lone Texan in a cabin many miles from a railroad glances at his clock at 7:30 Monday or Wednesday nights, kicks a stool over to a table, mobilizes pencil and paper and tunes his radio receiving set to 484 meters to attend class at the University of Iowa.

He is only one of 75 from Ohio to California, in age from 18 to 50, from busy cities to outlying points of civilization, who will search the air for WSUI, the university's station, and prepare to earn university credits without moving from the hearth.

As a method of taking education to the people, University of Iowa officials believe the radio holds unusual possibilities. Test papers sent in by the regularly registered radio students indicate that the pupils have grasped the radio lectures readily. The only two students who have had difficulty were "towns, and attributed their trouble to their sets.

To those students who experience difficulty in receiving the lectures, the university extension department mails copies of the talk.

According to Miss Helen Williams, director of the correspondence study division, a great many of the registered radio students are teachers. In some cases a school superintendent and his teachers have formed a class so they can hear from the same loud speaker and use the same text books.

"The value of the radio as an educational medium," Miss Williams said, "is touchingly demonstrated in several cases where the students are invalids, often times bedfast." At least one of these students will be able to receive a bachelor of arts degree from the university in June, thanks to the radio courses. This student was forced to take to his bed when he needed but three credits to graduate.

RABBIT NUISANCE IN FRANCE

By the Associated Press.
PARIS—Protection against the ravages of wild rabbits is another phase of the security problem which recently has occupied the attention of the French Parliament.

A bill declaring the rabbit "a nuisance and a noxious animal," signed by Premier Herriot, Minister of Agriculture Queuille and Minister of Justice Renoult has been introduced. It is couched in similar language to that aimed at the wild boars infesting Normandy and Auvergne, passed by the chamber some weeks ago. It gives authority "to any one, at any time and anywhere, to destroy rabbits by any and all means."

Reward Up for Missing Pama Boy.
A reward is advertised by Mr. and Mrs. Orville H. Metcalf of Pama, Ill., for news of their son, C. Wayne Metcalf, 15 years old, a high school student, who disappeared from his home last Monday. The boy is 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs 125 pounds and has dark brown hair and eyes. He is believed to have carried two extra pairs of shoes and an ax.

HOUSE UNSEATS
DEMOCRATIC MEMBER

Republican, Who Has Missed 70 Days of Legislature, Will Get $431 Back Pay.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—The Republican majority in the House late yesterday voted to unseat Representative Charles Goodnight (Dem.) of Jefferson County, whose election had been contested by Jesse Sargent (Rep.). The majority had waited until 70 days of the session of the Legislature had elapsed. The vote was 77 to 56, one more than the constitutional majority of the House.

A report by the Republican majority to the Elections Committee, addressed to Goodnight, had been prepared for weeks, but was not brought in until yesterday, because the Republicans had not been able to muster enough of their members at one time to adopt it. A minority report by Democrats on the committee, recommending a recount of the vote in Jefferson County, was rejected.

Get Back Pay.
Sargent was declared elected and was sworn in. He will receive $431 in pay and allowances for the period of the session that elapsed, although he did not serve during that time. Goodnight received pay for his services thus far. The House also allowed $247 in election contest expenses to Goodnight and $289 to Sargent.

Goodnight had been declared elected by one vote, on the face of returns from Jefferson County. The majority in the House Elections Committee threw out as illegal 31 of the votes cast for him, although it was stated only 14 votes had been contested, and threw out nine votes cast for Sargent.

Goodnight charged there had been extensive irregularities in one ward in De Soto, his home town, and produced testimony of one Republican election judge that in one precinct nine votes cast for Goodnight had been taken off by election judges and six added to the vote for Sargent. The committee did not accept that evidence.

Representative Flaver (Dem.), declared Gov. Baker had stated he was opposed to any Democratic being unseated by the Republican majority, and charged the unseat-

ing of Goodnight was a political move by the Republicans.

Republicans Lock Doors.
"In discussing bills here some of you have wanted a law to hang bank robbers," Flaver said. "You are unseating this man simply to give the contestant a measly $200 or so. When you come in on the floor and act as bank robbers, you should be hung as high as Gilroy's kite."

Representative Baldwin, a Democratic member of the Election Committee, charged the majority with playing "peanut politics" and with unseating Goodnight for partisan purposes.

There was no debate from the Republican side, the Republicans being content to remain silent with the required number of votes, bound by a caucus agreement, present for the roll call. The door on the Republican side of the House was locked during the roll call, and guarded by Speaker Parker to prevent any majority members walking out.

One Democrat, Representative Frye of Dade County, voted with the Republicans to unseat Goodnight, who is his seat mate. A contest instituted against Frye in Dade County was dropped before reaching the Legislature, but Frye still has a claim for $129 for the contest expenses pending in the Republican-controlled Committee on Accounts. Thus far the committee has not acted on the claim.

Show Frills and Ruffles.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 19.—Feminine fashions are returning to the feminine, and the era of masculine dominance, boyish bobs, sternly-tailored suits, mannish silhouettes and straight lines is about to close, according to modistes exhibiting styles in the fashion show of the Fashion Art League of America here.

A distinct waist line, graceful curves, frills and ruffles and flowing lines formed the dominant note of the exhibits. Designs described as in vogue included corduroys and rust-colored watersides in abundance on capes, coats and sport attire, with fur trimming on capes and coats.

Woman Swallows Poison.
Mrs. Mamie Whitaker, 23 years old, of 807A North Fifteenth street, was taken to city hospital at 9 p. m. yesterday after she had swallowed poison at her home. Her husband William told the police his wife had been in ill health and under the care of doctors for more than a year.

The new good Maxwell has won such hearty approval here and everywhere, its popularity is a matter of comment. There can be no question that the car offers advantages never before found in a four.

There are logical reasons for this advance over conventional results.

First, the determination of Maxwell-Chrysler engineers to develop the four-cylinder principle to its fullest extent.

Next, the marked and recognized advantage in experience and resources of one of the largest and strongest quality manufacturing organizations in the industry.

Furthermore, the new good Maxwell is truly a "manufactured" car. The entire car, almost to the smallest detail, is built in the great Maxwell plants.

Naturally, with all these advantages the new good Maxwell offers higher quality and finer motoring at a surprisingly low cost.

The car's popularity means that the public has discovered this fact. To put the matter briefly, you have only to observe the growing number of new good Maxwells on the road to understand the wide-spread appreciation of Maxwell's higher quality and greater values. We are eager to prove it in a demonstration.

ECUADOR PROSPERS ON CACAO TRADE WITH U. S.

In Return That Country Freely Spends Her Chocolate Money
Here for Player-Pianos.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 19.—Ecuador is making a complete commercial comeback, the Foreign Trade Council reports, wholly because of the popularity in the United States of the chocolate-covered ice cream confections.

The sudden vogue here for ice cream served in a chocolate jacket,
the council says, placed chocolate overnight at a new premium the world over. This re-established the demand for Ecuador's staple agricultural product, cacao, from which the highest grade bitter chocolate comes, and lifted that country out of financial depression.

Trade Balance in Effect.
The chocolate boom, the council says, proved lucky for the United States as well as Ecuador, for it restored to the former one of its good customers of five years ago.
Commerce between countries being a simple matter of give and take, Ecuador is now spending its chocolate money treely here again,
notably for our player-pianos.

That Ecuador "plays" when, as
and if the United States "reads,"
does not constitute a comparison of tastes in the two countries, the council adds, so much as it reveals anew that foreign trade, after all,
is pretty human.

Confectioners in the United States prefer the Ecuador grade of bitter chocolate both for the flavor,
and because it takes a lot of sugar,
and thus enables them to market their sugar at the higher price of candy, according to the council.

Ecuador's Cacao the Best.

Ecuador's principal competitor
is the Congo, but the African cacao
is called milder and is said to run second with the candy trade. When the World War shut off deep sea
transportation the Congo's output was blocked, to the advantage of Ecuador, but it meanwhile piled up in such volume that when ocean communication was opened again
after the war it came in a flood and broke the market. Ecuador found its own cacao selling at a loss or not at all, and trade there was brought to a temporary stand still.

In 1920, before the break came figures show that Ecuador was selling its products in the United States at an annual rate of $12-244,000, which gave it the money to buy American products at a rate of $14,450,000. The mutual effect of the slump there was shown in figures for 1921, when Ecuador's exports to the United States fell almost 75 per cent to only $3,541,000, and its imports dropped more than 67 per cent, to $5,260,000.

THEATER OPENED IN ROME
TO DEVELOP NATIVE TALENT
Project of Luigi Pirandello, Italy's Famous Dramatist, Notable Event.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 28.—The opening
in Rome this month of the Teatro dell'Arte under the direction of Luigi Pirandello, who is known to American audiences by "Six Characters
in Search of an Author," "Henry IV," and several other productions,
is considered in theatrical circles
here an event of considerable importance for the Italian drama in general.

The announced plan of Signor Pirandello to give Rome a theatrical playhouse worthy of the best traditions of the capital of the Caesars, in which native talent will be fostered and foreign works of quality welcomed, is heartily commended here in artistic circles.

While scores of theaters and many artistic and experimental companies are busy in Paris, Berlin, Prague, Budapest, Bucharest, Vienna and London, the Italian capital has been approximately 10 playhouses, and of these only a few devote themselves to important native talent.

The Romans have been fed international fare. At one playhouse
a Viennese light opera has had a long run and is still playing. At several other theaters translations of light French plays have held the boards, while at another a famous French company has just closed an engagement.

The most active company is directed by a Russian actress who has produced with varying success pieces by Wilde, Shaw, Chekhov, Pierle Louys, W. Somerset Maugham and works by other foreigners.

PLANTERS EXPERIMENT WITH TEA-GROWING IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, March 19.—
An attempt to compete with Brazil, acknowledged to be the world's most important coffee source, for the world's trade in stimulating,
but not inebriating beverages, is seen in recent experiments in tea-growing in Argentina.

The seed has been brought from China and India by the Argentinian Department of Agriculture and distributed to a number of farmers in the territory of Missiones. In Northern Argentina.
With the seed was given instruction
in planting and cultivating, and inspection of the young plants will be made by representatives of the department. From reports it is believed that climatic conditions
favor the growing of the tea shrub;
the Argentinian climate, which differs essentially from that of Brazil,
is unsuited to coffee growing.

Stop Cold
Now

Hot Lemonade Will Do It

If you feel a cold coming on, stop it immediately
with an old-fashioned hot lemonade.

Don't wait until it is too late. As soon as the tell-tale sneezing starts or you feel
"chilly," take a warm bath
and get right into bed with plenty of warm covers.

Then drink a large glass of hot lemonade. Drink it as hot as you can stand it.
See how much better you feel in the morning.

The effectiveness of hot lemonade in the prevention or treatment of a cold is due to more than heat.

The influenza epidemic
proved to thousands the efficiency of this simple, pleasant method. You, too, will profit from this practice whenever you feel a cold coming on.

The time to act is when you first suspect a cold—
don't wait for chills and fever. Do it now. Just squeeze the juice of a lemon
in glass or cup of hot water.
Add sugar if you wish.

California lemons make the best lemonade. They are practically seedless, tart and heavy with acid juice. Buy them at any first-class store.
Try the "hot lemonade way"
tonight.

Goldberg Won Decision.
Goldberg was awarded the referee's decision in his last fight with Terry. Goldberg was defeated by his opponent in the first and second rounds. Goldberg's new job earned him a comfortable point margin in the first round.

Terry is a hard puncher and is generally regarded as one of the brightest pugilistic prospects in Louisiana. He has developed in recent months. He began his flistic career 13 months ago, losing on a point to Ray Middleton in his first fight. In a return engagement with Middleton he scored a decisive triumph. The defeat by Goldberg ear-old division of last year has been truly wonderful.

Two weeks ago Blakely told Terry and friends that he was appointed with Master Charlie's figure to respond to treatment and that the entry of the injured colt in the Derby be considered "doubtful." In order that no money be wagered in the winter months.

Preparations are now underway for ship Master Charlie and the place of the Daniel riders east, soon as the necessary facilities can be obtained. Blakely plans to ship to New York and to place George P. Bowie, where he intends to send Master Charlie for the rest in the Chesapeake

CHICAGO, Ill., March 19.—Duo Western Conference basketball teams met tonight in a game against postseason matches impossible for Illinois to win. The Hoosiers, coholder of the Big Ten basketball championship, defeated the Hoosiers, however, in a game that was a Hoosier matinee.

The last six years, under the guidance of Coach Prehn, the Hoosiers have met the Hoosiers.

Buffalo bowlers yesterday placed 16 scores among the 16 leaders. A 16-100 by Dr. Chester Cott and Walter Schneederger for fifth position in the two-man event and 148 score by Fred Steinhald being high in the individual competition.

Detroit and New York carried off the honors of the night in the five-man event. The Detroit team, led by city taking third place with a total of 2465 and the Dwyer Recreation team of New York with 2661 being fourth.

Tom Packa, promoter of wrestling bouts at the Coliseum, announced today that he has signed Vadalai, Italian heavyweight wrestler, for a bout with Dick Daviscourt, to be staged as the main event of a mat show on Thursday night, March 26. Articles of agreement were signed by both grapplers yesterday afternoon.
Under the terms of the contract made by Daviscourt he will forfeit his right to a share of the purse in the event that he is disqualified during his match with Vadalai for violation of the rules governing catch-as-catch-can game.

Goldberg Faces Terry Tonight In Amateur Bout

Bout With Alfano Awaits Winner of South Broadway Feature.

Eddie Goldberg meets Louis Terry in a return match featuring an amateur boxing tournament to night at the South Broadway A. C. The headliners are both rated as class A performers in Western A. U. competition and they are regarded as leading contenders for the district featherweight title now held by Ray Alfano, an East Side ringster, who also holds the national junior championship crown. Matchmakers Cook and Solari of the Business Men's A. C. plan to offer the winner of tonight's set to a special match with Alfano at the Coliseum arena on March 21. Illness prevented both Terry and Goldberg from competing in the recent Western A. U. championships in which Alfano captured the district title.

Goldberg Won Decision.
Goldberg was awarded the referee's decision in his last set with Terry. Goldberg was knocked down by his opponent in the first and second rounds. Goldberg's dazzling left jab earned him a comfortable point margin in the final round.

Terry is a hard puncher and is generally regarded as one of the brightest pugilistic prospects St. Louis has developed in recent years. He began his flistic career 15 months ago, losing on points to Ray Middleton in his first bout. In a return engagement with Middleton he scored a decisive point triumph. The defeat by Goldberg is the only other setback he has suffered in a total of 10 bouts, seven of which he won via the kayo route.

Another special event of tonight's program will feature Arthur Gamm and Harry Durso in a flyweight match. The preliminary card has attracted a field of 24 candidates.

ENTRIES FOLLOW:
FEATHERWEIGHT CLASS—Eddie Goldberg, National A. C. vs. Louis Terry, South Broadway A. C.
FLYWEIGHT CLASS—Arthur Gamm, South Broadway A. C. vs. Harry Durso, Business Men's A. C.
BANTAMWEIGHT CLASS—Joe Stein, Mulanby C. C. vs. Paul Lane, South Broadway A. C.

PRELIMINARY ENTRIES.
100-POUND CLASS—Charles Stahl and Joe Schicks, South Broadway A. C. vs. James Sargent, unattached.
105-POUND CLASS—Fred Buck, Tower A. C. vs. Joe Ghinoly, South Broadway A. C.
110-POUND CLASS—Max Sloop, Mulanby C. C. vs. Robert Oxall, South Broadway A. C.
115-POUND CLASS—Tom Derby, Tower A. C. vs. Joe Beard, Dan Dohm and Joe Doro, South Broadway A. C.; Irvan Grade, Sherman Park C. C.

Mat Title in Doubt.

By the Associated Press.
URBANA, Ill., March 19.—Due to a Western Conference ruling against post-season matches it will be impossible for Illinois to meet Indiana, coholder of the Big Ten wrestling championship. Coach Paul Prehn, however, is desirous to meet the Hoosier matmen next year.

In the last six years, under the regime of Coach Prehn, the Illinois and the Hoosiers have met only once.

How to Play B.I.L.L.I.A.R.D.S

By CHAS. C. PETERSON

(Copyright, 1925.)

(This is the fourth of a series of instructive articles on billiards written by Charles C. Peterson, famous fancy shot artist and America's greatest billiard instructor.)

ORTHODOX TRIPOD BRIDGE.

The bridge illustrated in the accompanying photograph forms the basis for the grip used by almost every professional player of note. There are variations in individual cases, usually due to a difference in the length of fingers, but the "tripod" effect can be recognized in almost every case.

No one thing is of greater importance in billiards than a firm bridge.

The central motive in this particular style of holding the cue is, as usual, a desire for firmness. The strong second or "middle" finger is curled under the thumb, providing a rest, and combines with the third and fourth fingers to form a tripod with a large base which securely fixes the hand. When a steady pressure (slight) is exerted upon the whole hand, this bridge becomes as firm as a part of the table itself.

Secure the Loose End.
The first finger should be wrapped completely around the cue and the tip held under the thumb, as shown in the illustration. Contact should be close.

Peterson's orthodox tripod bridge used in open table play and follow shots.

so that there will be no chance for the cue to "wobble" about. A common error is to permit this first finger to go "free," whereas the tip of the finger must be doubled under the thumb and held firmly.

The points of contact with the table are the heel of the hand, the entire length of the little finger, the tip of the third finger, the first joint of the "middle" finger and the tip of the thumb.

On open table shots, follow shots and almost all shots where a "center" ball is required, a variety of this bridge should be used.

A variation of the tripod bridge is used for draw shots where the object ball is to be driven around the table. This will be explained in a later article.

Cunningham and Kessler Defeat Handball Rivals

St. Louis Team Reaches Second Round of National Doubles, at Cleveland.

By I. N. Kessler.

Of the St. Louis Handball Team.

CLEVELAND, O., March 19.—Mike Cunningham and I. N. Kessler defeated their rivals in the first round of the National A. A. U. handball championship tournament at Cleveland today.

The St. Louis team, which was formed yesterday and that is why the St. Louis doubles entry in the National A. A. U. handball championship tournament survived the first-round play. As Cunningham's partner I gave my best, but it was Mike's bullet-like driving that defeated the Cleveland pair, Licht and Licht, by scores of 21-18, 21-12. We will play in the second round today.

In the fifth round singles yesterday Joe Goudreau, the young

Cleveland player, finally went down, losing to "Murder-Ball" Ranft, the California hard hitter, 21-12, 21-17. Young Goudreau is one of the sensations of the tourney and will likely win the title in the future.

Laswell Beats Lennon.

Another great game was the victory of the champion, Laswell, over Lennon of New York, 18-21, 21-19, 21-11. With the second game in Lennon missed a shot which cost him the game. Results of other singles matches:

Sackman, New York, won from Donovan, Frisco, 21-12, 12-21, 21-15.

Kemper, Cleveland, won from Bathey, Detroit, 21-18, 21-13, 21-18.

Brooklyn, Frisco, 21-18, 21-13, 21-7.

McMillan, Frisco, won from McGuire, New York, 21-18, 21-16, 21-16.

Schaufelberger, Detroit, won from Neenan, New York, 21-19, 21-4, 21-12.

Schard, Cleveland, won from Kamman, Detroit, 21-5, 21-7.

McMillan looks very good and may be the new champion. The Bathey plays well but lack of condition may beat him. The Coast boys have been training two months for this tournament and they look it.

New Movie Contract Forbids Jack Dempsey To Engage in Bouts

NEW YORK, March 19.—JACK DEMPSEY, world heavyweight boxing champion, cannot return to the ring for several months under a contract signed in Los Angeles Tuesday with motion picture producers, the exhibitors' office here announced today.

Dempsey's agreement, it was explained, stipulates that a certain time must elapse before he can fight again. The producers said that the champion will play opposite his wife, the former Estelle Taylor, in a story having to do with New York life.

Fifth round pairings today are: Laswell-Ranft, Sackman-Kemper, Bathey-McMillan and Schaufelberger-Selver.

Laswell is sure of going into semifinals. Ranft will forfeit to give him a chance to win the title two straight years. The tournament to date has been a big success. Capacity crowds all day long.

Nurmi Suffered Severe Strain

Doctor Expects to Give More Definite Estimate of Ailment Today.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Paavo Nurmi has not yet recovered fully from the seizure that forced his dramatic retirement from the 5000-meter run at Madison Square Garden on Tuesday night.

In fact, there is possibility of a complication in the form of a severe strain to the tissues and muscles of the stomach, a complication which may force the canceling or curtailing of the program still before him, and possibly shorten his stay in this country.

The wonder-runner of Finland, who had clearly demonstrated his mastery over Willie Ritola, before the enforced retirement, was feeling far from fit when he awakened yesterday and remained in bed all morning and until the arrival of his physician in the afternoon.

Charles Nyburn, Paavo's cousin, in whose Bronx apartment the Finn resides, stated the doctor found evidence of strain but was unable to state just how serious was the condition. He is to examine Paavo again today and expects to form a more definite estimate of the true character of the ailment.

Billiard Notes

Dr. L. P. Macklin received a scare from F. Johnson in the city championship billiard tournament at Peterson's last night. Johnson led at 44 to 41 but Dr. Macklin came from behind and scored seven points in the last five innings to win, 50 to 42. Tonight Zamzow meets Watkins.

CHICAGO.—Allen Hall broke even in two National Three-Cushion League matches with Johnny Layton of Minneapolis yesterday. The scores: Layton, 50-5-50; Hall, 42-5-49. Hall, 50-5-61; Layton, 47-5-61.

BOSTON.—Clarence Jackson of Buffalo took both Three-Cushion League games from Earl Lookabaugh yesterday. The scores were 50 to 45 in 89 innings and 50 to 23 in 35 innings. Jackson had a high run of 11.

His physician in the afternoon, Charles Nyburn, Paavo's cousin, in whose Bronx apartment the Finn resides, stated the doctor found evidence of strain but was unable to state just how serious was the condition. He is to examine Paavo again today and expects to form a more definite estimate of the true character of the ailment.

APPOINTMENT OF NEW PIKEWAY SWIMMING COACH TO BE DEFERRED

Appointment of a new swimming coach at Washington University to succeed Vincent Johnson will not be considered this semester. Dr. William P. Edmunds, director of athletics, said this morning. Johnson told his swimming team, after a meet Saturday night, that he had been dismissed because of failure to pay a board bill for his wife at Rockford, Ill. In 1923, Dr. Edmunds declined to comment on the case today, beyond stating that it was true that Johnson was leaving the university.

Johnson coached the Pikeway swimmers to championships in 1924 and again this year. He will remain at the university until his contract expires at the end of the present school term.

tomorrow afternoon and the finals Saturday morning.

The pairings:

Class A—Kansas Westport vs. Warrensburg; Clayton vs. Neosho; Columbia vs. Independence; Fayette vs. St. Joseph Central.

Class B—Kirkwood vs. Brookridge; Louisiana vs. Warsaw.

Class C—Ashland vs. Concordia; Russellville vs. Harrisburg; Hereford vs. Cowgill; Burlington Junction vs. Alma.

PRICES IN THE STOCK MARKET

Heavy Selling of Low-Priced Issues and Accumulation of High-Grade Shares Bring About Contrasting Movements.

Owing to telegraphic interruption, due to storm, the regular New York Evening Post financial review did not arrive in time for publication in this edition today.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 19.—Heavy selling of the low-priced issues and extensive accumulation of many high-grade shares brought about contrasting price movements in today's market. The St. Paul issues crumbled to new record lows, while many of the coppers, rubbers and Western rails sagged to their lowest prices of the year. Total sales approximated 1,700,000 shares.

Opening prices revealed a curious mixture of gains and losses, with the market falling to develop a definite trend. Short covering was evident in a number of high priced stocks, while liquidation was renewed in other quarters. Pan-American B responded to the bringing in of a large new well. U. S. Steel Iron Pipe, General Electric and Maxwell A moved up 1 to 2 1/2 points.

Despite isolated points of depression, marked by the establishment of 1925 low records by several steel and rail shares, the market generally worked higher as buying for both accounts expanded. U. S. Steel Iron Pipe mounted 7 points and Nash Motors four, while gains of 1 to 2 1/2 points were recorded by such influential stocks as U. S. Steel, American Can, Baldwin, American Car and Foundry, Sears-Roebuck, Mack Trucks and Utah Securities. Heavy spots included Crucible Steel, American Smelting, Worthington Pump and Northern Pacific, with the St. Paul issues easing fractionally. Foreign exchange opened, aided with sterling unchanged at $4.78.

The early rally again failed to hold. When the market discovered that speculators for the advance were not "following through" on the up swing, the selling pressure was renewed, many gains of one to two points being canceled. U. S. Steel Iron Pipe broke from 195 to 180, or 20 points below yesterday's high, and 70 points below the record peak established last month. American Car and Foundry slumped from 21 1/2 to 20 1/2. St. Paul common and preferred moved nearer the vanishing point, establishing new low records at 5 1/2 and 5 1/4, respectively. Union Pacific dropped two points, to a new low year, and heaviness also was noted in Reading, Lehigh Valley, Radiator Corporation, Gulf States Steel, Pullman and Federal Light and Traction. Some of the pivotal shares advanced briskly on short covering around midday. Call money remained at 2 1/2 per cent.

Although the list reflected a continuance of liquidation of some low priced industrial and dividend paying railroads, the main trend was strongly upward in the afternoon. Stocks in which there was a protecting short interest moved fast, with the gains in some of the high-priced shares substantial. Norfolk and Western went to a new record figure at 124 1/2. Nash Motors jumped nine, Commercial Solvents B. 8 1/4, and General Electric, 6 1/2 points.

The closing was irregular. Buying orders predominated in the late afternoon. Stocks in which there was a protecting short interest moved fast, with the gains in some of the high-priced shares substantial. Norfolk and Western went to a new record figure at 124 1/2. Nash Motors jumped nine, Commercial Solvents B. 8 1/4, and General Electric, 6 1/2 points.

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The stock market today closed with a fairly brisk rally after a series of intermediate fluctuations. U. S. Steel common left off around 121 after having sold below 120 and this was a cue to the entire trading list. The final changes favored the side of advance although for the most part they were small.

Money movements have not been swayed upon an influence in the stock market. This is because changes in money rates happen to fit in conveniently with the prevailing tendency in stocks. The best proof that the money market has not been a real factor has been afforded during the last week when the share list has gone down despite repeated evidence that money is lax.

A week ago call loans were renewing at 4 1/2 per cent. Today the quotation was 3 1/2. Last week the banks were trying to get 4 1/2 per cent on long term accommodations. Today they were glad to accept 3 1/2. The reasons for this change are quite apparent. First and more important has been the big fall in stock prices and the consequent reduction in the lay-in demand for higher prices. I. G. W. adjustments got below 70 and Seasonal Air Line 64 below 83. Local fractions were weak. Selling came into the Interborough obligations and losses of over a point were

L. P. DALEY LIKELY TO SUPPORT MILLER

Democratic Committeeman Offers to Wager Republican Nominee Will Be Elected.

Lawrence P. Daley, Democratic city committeeman from the Seventeenth Ward, is likely to support Victor J. Miller, Republican nominee for Mayor, in the election April 7, just as he did in the recent primary, when he said he ignored party lines and worked for Miller's nomination.

Daley entered the Democratic City Committee headquarters recently, offering to bet that Miller would be elected and asking the various committeemen to back with money their belief that they would carry their wards for William L. Igoe, Democratic nominee, over Miller.

"I am willing to bet my money on Miller," Daley said today. "That ought to be sufficient indication of what I will do in the election."

He declined to make the definite statement that he would support the Republican nominee over his own party's choice, but fell back upon his first statement that "I am standing on the betting I am willing to do."

Daley had a costly experience when he bet with committee members that James A. Reed would not be elected Senator in his last race, but is confident that he will win with Miller. Daley has long been at odds with his fellow committeemen, but his defection to Miller in the primary was his first open break.

Joseph J. Mestres, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, refused to comment.

RAILROAD GIVES FORESTRY DEMONSTRATION IN SOUTH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON.—To demonstrate the results that can be obtained by applying scientific forestry practices to timber lands in the South, the Southern Railway System has put an expert forester and three assistants in charge of approximately 12,000 acres of standing pine in Dorchester County, South Carolina, and will market the full grown timber while preserving the young trees for future growth. As the present loblolly stand is cut, slash pines will be planted so as to produce turpentine as well as timber in the future.

In explaining the purpose of the project, Lincoln Green, assistant to the president of the Southern, said: "The South has the opportunity to meet a national need with great profit to itself by preparing now to provide a permanent source of timber supply. The rapid depletion of our forests makes reforestation imperative. Timber can be produced in the South in half the time required in more northern latitudes and by introducing slash pine we can extend the novel stores industry into territory where it is now unknown."

AMUNDSEN TO TIME POLAR FLIGHT BY WEATHER REPORTS

Meteorological Station at Danish Island to Get Forecasts From Entire Upper Hemisphere.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
Copyright, 1935.
OSLO, March 12.—Roald Amundsen's preparations for his polar flight include weather forecasts from a great meteorological station which is being built on a Danish island for constant communication with all stations on the Northern Hemisphere.

Arrangements have been made to get special reports from Alaska, Canada and Northern Siberia. This network of forecasts from the whole polar region will enable the explorer to form a reliable basis for judging atmospheric conditions.

The final flight to the pole will depend on these forecasts. When the meteorologists find the weather is favorable their flight will start. Two of the machines will have instruments attached outside the pit for determining the air temperature and the air pressure.

Seeking Vain Glory

By Sophie Irene Loeb

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

A WOMAN broken in health and spirits is seeking solace back in the home of her birth, in a small town. Her days are numbered, and the shortening of her years of life has been due mainly to her pursuit of vain glory.

She wanted everybody to point to her as a so-called "celebrity," and she got what she wanted because she had money and ambition to shine—and she did so.

But the luster of it all has worn off, and she sees the very brief period of life left to her as a time in which real happiness can be found, for she never found it in the mad days of climbing and scheming and sparkling.

Its artificial glamour has worn off, and the things that are for her now are peace and quiet.

But the years gone by—the wasted energies—for what? Glory? Vain glory?

A leader in her set—parties in which to shine and outshine; even the little charitable things that she did for poor children—card parties given for their benefit, or the tableaux and other stunts, were usually gotten up with thought, not of how much the bachelors would be benefited, but how big she would appear—or how pretty she would look as she moved in the various activities that were carried on. There was no real thought of charity. It was only how far the publicity would carry her in the firmament of note.

And, saddest of all, she now has the example before her of her own sister—a sweet, lovely woman who remained in her home precinct—beloved by all. She has three children of her own and a splendid home.

She, too, did charitable work, but it was done from the heart in a personal interest, way and the very joy of it made her sweeter and finer and better. This sister has had time to cultivate a few friends and to learn to love them; has had time to read beautiful books; to wander through the woods in the summer time; to take care of a garden and to know about flowers; time to think; time to reflect; time to correct little wrongs; time to make others truly happy; in short, she has had time for repose, getting something of spiritual life, satisfying the soul.

And this woman—she who sought glory—is now in her sister's home. It seems strange to her, to get so much out of simple things; to enjoy reflecting; to recall memories; to be laughing—and feeling it sincerely; to look forward to some trifling thing. Ah, yes, she will look back and wish the years had not been wasted in the clamor for public approval, which in the end is so soon forgotten.

How many, many people there are in the same category as this woman whose existence is only measured by what some group or groups will think of them when they might have been sitting by the fire, quietly thinking beautiful thoughts, or to have sweet communion with one or two truly loved ones.

Tips for the Home Dressmaker

If you haven't one of those handy little appliances for threading the machine needle you will find the flashlight a great aid. This will enable you to center the light directly on the needle so you can clearly see the eye and thread the needle without difficulty.

Cretonne holds its own notwithstanding the attractive rivals that are appearing in the field of prints. A handsome dinner frock has embroidered cretonne motifs especially popular not only as trimmings but for dresses, blouses and all dress accessories.

The suspender dress, which is so universally becoming, is decidedly modish. It is one of the simplest modes to develop. Guimpes, simple or dressy, to wear with them, can be purchased and there are large assortments to select from, for the guimpe is a great help to the home dressmaker.

A Lenten Dish

A CORN SOUFFLE has good food value and is appealing. To one-half can of corn add yolks of three eggs, one cup of milk, one tablespoon of melted butter and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix thoroughly, then carefully fold in the beaten whites of the eggs. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish, set into a pan of hot (not boiling) water and bake until firm.

What the Paris Designers Are Offering for Spring

At the left is pictured an afternoon costume of gold lace and black satin. The tight bodice is of heavy gold lace, over black satin and the skirt and cape also are of black satin. Bindings are in magenta and jade green and a silver turban completes the costume.

Above is a trio of Spring millinery creations. A sport hat, of varicolor straw, with tassel atop; a turban model of black Canton crepe, with brocaded trim and a braided straw creation, with ribbon trimming on brim and veil dropping from sides.

At the right is an indication that the polka dot is back in the new Spring modes. For the very young maid this simple frock is offered. It is called the Peter Pan suit and is constructed of printed satin, in polka dot design and black satin charmeuse.

Home-Making Helps

By WANDA BARTON

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

The Charm of Period Furniture and Wall Coverings.

PEOPLE who own or fall heir to period furniture do not always appreciate it as they should, and they often yearn for the modern things, so they are willing to part from the old pieces for a moderate consideration. Those who do admire the things are always ready to buy, while decorators who are experts in adapting the old to the new order of things are scouring old homes, neighborhoods, shops and strays for a moderate consideration.

Should a Jacobean dresser, for instance, come in your direction, it can be refinished and used "as is" for a dresser, sideboard, the open shelves above the base being convenient for the display of new copper or brass antiques, or even modern silverware pieces. Or the entire top may be removed and hung against the wall, over a console table, for the resting place of rare china. In this case, the legs may be substituted, which will make it low. The three closets and the three drawers will make it a most useful dining room, piece, with a long, rectangular glass hung above it. A gate-leg table, with the same wood finish, and chairs of the period will make a charming set for a small dining room.

A Table to Admire. Again, there is no getting away from the simple charm of the Stuart refectory shaped table, with its twisted frames and bronze cane seat and back, the seats covered with thin cushions of softly colored and figured chintz invite one to rest. The sideboard that goes with the table and chairs is the long, narrow, box-like shape, with two high chests at the ends, and two low ones in the center, with two drawers above them, and the short legs like the base of those on the table and chairs. The fruit basket and all candles at either end, placed on a handsomely embroidered table linen runner, are the only ornaments permitted on this style of sideboard.

The rug should be chosen also in patterns that suggest the period in design and coloring, and the hangings follow in the straight, simple folds of the period. Of course, it is hard to stick to a harmonious whole if one is limited to finances, yet by getting things together slowly, piece by piece, it can be accomplished in time. The wall paper for period rooms must be most carefully selected. A neutral tan or deep, dull coloring may accomplish the right background for the things.

Batik Wall Coverings New. Batik wall coverings are very new and exclusive, for they must be made by the owner, as they are not to be purchased in the shops. In a charming room seen recently the woodwork was white, enameled with a high luster, and the walls were covered with black silk with white tiger motifs in border fashion. The tigers encircling the edge of the panels were marching single file and were about 12 inches tall. The white picture-rail framed the panels perfectly, and the ceiling was tinted orange at the rail, running to delicate yellow in the center like a lovely sunset. The black floor had black and white rugs scattered over it and the windows had orange crepe curtains with silver gauze. The furniture was of rattan, painted with black frames and white seats. Orange pillows were used on the daybed. On the mantelpiece at one end stood a black and white jar filled with yellow flowers; at the other end was a low, black clock. This was a most unusual room and very charming.

There are so many inexpensive materials that may be used for batik work that it is too bad not to use more in this way. It is not difficult to do and can be made in a division in design. It is worth the effort to get something unusual that cannot be had by anyone else. Period designs may be made to follow the selection of the furniture chosen.

Of all furniture, none is so pleasing as that found in American homes a hundred years ago. The wide, four-posted bed, with longish posts, towering above the feather bed, was most inviting. Then there was the marble top washstand, which later generations used for cooling candy.

The New Boutonniere. WATER LILIES are seen among the new flowers to wear, but quite the newest idea in boutonnières are those composed of very small flowers, such as a bunch of forget-me-nots; tiny daisies and roses form a charming cluster, and a bunch of small marigolds gives a real touch of spring to the costume. These tiny flowers bid fair to supersede the usual single blossom. At any rate they are a change.

Sunlight.

FAR down below the withered grass, below the fallen leaves away from sound of walling winds of Winter as he grieves, below the chill and barren earth where snow is drifted deep, below the frost's white messages the seeds lie fast asleep. But some bright morn when March begins to roar around the world and Spring comes from the southland where her flags are never furled, the sun's warm rays will send their heat deep down into the soil to wake the rose and violet, the pink and goldenrod. Sometimes man's soul is like a seed, asleep in some dim place and only needs, to quicken it, love's potent warm embrace. And when love beams, how swiftly then the magic work is done, how gladly does the soul bloom out, a primrose in the sun!

Left Over Mutton

AT the club the other day we were discussing the possibilities of mutton. I never knew there were so many ways of using left-over mutton; but for the first day, when the slices are good-sized, it is nice to serve dainty mutton for dinner.

You melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of red currant jelly in a pan, when it simmers put in evenly cut slices of cold mutton from which the surplus fat has been cut. Heat gradually, turning the meat several times during the process. Let the meat get very hot, but do not let it cook.

Arrange the slices on a hot platter, cover and set over hot water. To the gravy in the pan add three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, a little

For Baby's Comfort.

The baby visitor can be accommodated over night nicely by removing a bureau drawer, placing a folded blanket or flat pillow in the bottom of the drawer and then making up the little bed as usual. For the mother's convenience, the drawer may be placed on two chairs by her bed.

If unexpected company arrives and you have only one mince pie to divide among a number of people, buy a pint of ice cream at the corner store and serve a small amount of ice cream alongside of the smaller than usual cut of pie. Ode to Cross-Word Puzzles.

As the "Syns" I pore over,
My mind "gangs" agree;
As to whether the "Al"
Has two toes or three.

And that spring garden fancy
Now rife in each burg,
In cross-puzzle jargon
Is nothing but "Erg."

That river in Italy,
Known as the "Io,"
Is surely nonunion,
It's overworked so.

Now, "Asp" may be "Boa"
And "Boa" a muff;
Oh, these cross-word puzzles
Are surely hot stuff.

We find that a brother
Is only a "Fra,"
While the Sun-God of Egypt
Is poor Mr. Ra.

And that slippery fish (Its wiggles I feel),
Is, in parlance of puzzles,
An old fashioned "eel."

And when driving my auto,
I've found out, alas,
That "aeriform fluid"
Is nothing but "gas."

But the most abused critter
(It isn't the "Gnu")
Is that poor little bird,
The Australian "Emu."

To the "ogre" and "Insect,"
The "Ewe" and the "El,"
The "Ads" and the "Asses"
I'm bidding farewell.

TWO ROBBERS SLAIN, TWO WOUNDED AT STEELVILLE

Citizens' Posse, Given Tip on Plan to Loot Bank, Opens Fire After Four Enter Institution.

DRIVER OF CAR KILLED AT WHEEL

One of Holdup Men Escapes in Exchange of Shots in Which Two Bullets Hit a Resident.

By Long Distance Telephone to the Post-Dispatch.
STEELVILLE, Mo., March 20.—Two of five bank robbers were killed, two wounded and captured and a fifth escaped, in an attempted robbery of the Farmers' Bank of Steelville, this afternoon, when citizens engaged them in a fight. One citizen was wounded in the exchange of shots.

The robbers drove up to the bank about 1:20 p. m. and four of them entered, leaving the driver at the wheel. The robbers ordered the cashier and the bookkeeper, the only employees in the bank, into the bank vault, and one of them scooped up a sack containing $1000 and plunged through a plate glass window in the rear. He started running, but fell dead from bullets fired by citizens across the street.

The driver of the car started up, but had proceeded only a short distance, when he crumpled dead over the wheel from bullets fired across the street. The other robbers ran out of the bank, shooting as they ran, but two of them shortly fell wounded.

NEBRASKA "PINT OF LIQUOR LAW," SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Under It Possession of Small Quantity of Whisky Is Prima Facie Evidence of Bootlegging.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., March 20.—In 10 days, Nebraska will be drier than the "driest bone-dry" State in the Union, Federal prohibition officials predict today. The prediction was based on the effect of the celebrated "pint of liquor law," which, having passed the Nebraska Legislature, was signed by the Governor today.

Under provisions of the bill, possession of more than a pint of liquor will be prima facie evidence that its possessor is a bootlegger. For such an offense which is termed a misdemeanor, the bill provides a county jail sentence from 30 to 90 days and a $100 fine. The second offense, deemed a felony, is punishable by a fine of from $100 to $1000 and a prison term of from six months to two years.

19 TREATIES O. K.'D BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Nineteen treaties were ratified by the Senate today, Dec. 12 and also the adjournment Wednesday, establishing a record. It was declared yesterday by Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Since Borah assumed the committee chairmanship after the death of Senator Lodge, 18 treaties were reported favorably and ratified by the Senate. The committee calendar was cleared except for the Lusanne treaty, which went over until the next session. The Isle of Pines treaty, which also received favorable action by the Senate, was reported under the chairmanship of Senator Lodge.
